

Principal of P. W. C. Addresses School Improvement League

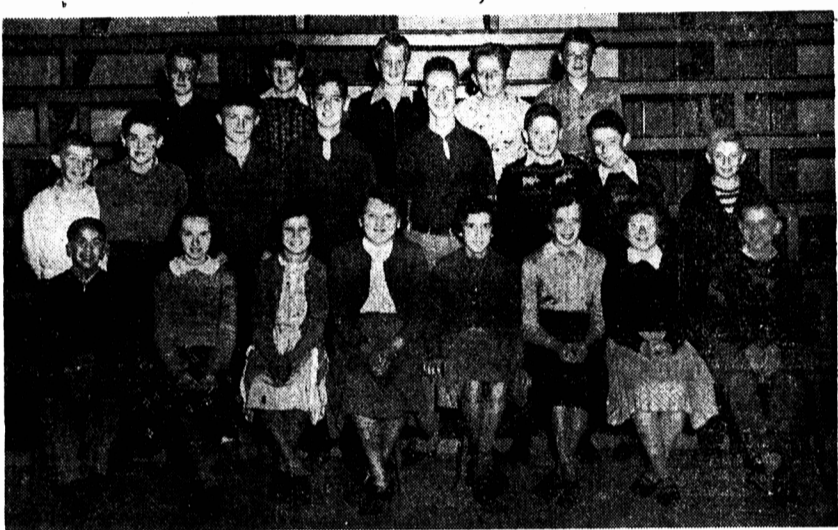

Prof. Frank MacKinnon was special speaker at the regular meeting of School Improvement League held at the home of Mrs. D. Campbell on Thursday, Nov. 17. He was introduced by the League president, Mrs. W. E. Scantlebury. Prof. MacKinnon spoke on the three levels of educational development, Primary, Secondary and College or University. He explained the functions of each level. In primary or kindergarten grades pupils must learn group conduct, small skills and sharing, co-operating with others. Primary teachers must provide basic knowledge of citizenship, train pupils to think as well as teach, and to do writing and arithmetic. The function of secondary grades is to train students for occupations or professions, as well as to train pupils to use mind and imagination. Several factors must be considered when training students for the future: (1) Different occupations need different requirements. (2) Practical knowledge is necessary. (3) Mental ability and physical requirements. (4) Availability of jobs. (5) Situation at home. (6) Wish for early marriage. (7) Rewards of various occupations. The function of University training is to have students (1) learn, (2) think and train to live with others. Prof. MacKinnon pointed out the necessity of basic subjects and stressed the fact that if fundamental skills are not mastered, the advanced work will be much harder. The work being done at Prince of Wales College and plans for expansion were noted. Prof. MacKinnon closed his address by expressing his appreciation for organizations such as School Improvement League and invited their support, suggestions or criticisms. Mrs. B. R. Hurst on behalf of the League moved a vote of thanks to the speaker. This was extended by the business period was conducted when representatives were appointed to C. A. C. meeting on Saturday, November 19. Correspondence was read and committee reports given. Several new members joined the League at this meeting.

McGaughey-Flood Nuptials

A very pretty autumn wedding was solemnized at St. Joseph's Church, Kelly's Cross on Oct. 16 when Sylvia Agnes, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Flood, South Melville, was united in marriage to Morgan O'Regan, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Pius McGaughey, Bonshaw. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. E.L. Murray, vicar of the bride, who also celebrated the Nuptial Mass, assisted by Rev. W.A. Keefe P.P. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white brocade satin, made with fitted bodice, trimmed with tiny covered buttons and had a deep bertha collar. It had a lace yoke and featured a high neckline with long lily point sleeves. The back of skirt had a large pin-wheel bustle bow and her fingertip veil was of embroidered net with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli and Dawn roses with maidenhair fern, and wore a strap of pearls, gift of the groom. Miss Marian Flood was bridesmaid for her sister and wore a floor length gown of pink moire with matching mitts and veil. She carried a nosegay of sweetpeas and "mums". Mr. Russell MacDonald, friend of the groom, was best man. The ushers were Messrs Joseph and Brendon Flood. The altar and chancel were decorated with vases and baskets of beautiful mixed flowers. The nuptial music was played by Mr. Albert Blanchard, Charlottetown. Mr. Ernest J. Ready, uncle of the bride was soloist and rendered Schubert's "Ave Maria", Mother at Your Feet is "Kneeling", "O Salutaris", and "Lord I am not Worthy". At the conclusion of the ceremony, a delicious breakfast was served at the Orient Hotel, Victoria. The table was decorated with large bowls of autumn flowers and centred with a three-tier wedding cake. The toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. E.L. Murray to which the groom fittingly responded. Complimentary remarks followed by Rev. W.A. Keefe and others. After the cutting and distributing of wedding cakes, a reception was held at the home of the bride. In the evening the happy couple left by plane on a honeymoon trip to Montreal, Ottawa, and other Canadian cities. For travelling the bride chose a steel grey gabardine suit with black and pink accessories. For her daughter's wedding the bride's mother wore a pencil stripe suit with wine accessories and corsage of pink roses, while the groom's mother chose a navy suit, silver fox cape and grey accessories with a corsage of pink carnations. Many beautiful gifts were received. Previous to her marriage, the bride was tendered a miscellaneous shower in Kelly's Cross hall where she was the recipient of many lovely gifts. The young couple will reside in Nova Scotia where the groom is employed by the Dominion Government, Department of Transport.

Drew Would Apply Sanctions Against Russia

OTTAWA, Nov. 17 — (CP) — George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, indicated in the Commons today that he believes sanctions should be applied against Russia until she agrees to give the people under her domination the opportunity of choosing their own form of government. The opposition leader said that by putting her signature to the United Nations charter Russia had agreed with other countries to give every nation the right to choose its own government. This right was being denied to all countries under Russian control. Speaking during debate on external affairs, Mr. Drew said the democracies should not contemplate aggressive acts of any kind because Russia was denying the franchise to some people. He added: "If the free nations of the west establish a position of such strength and certainty of purpose that Russia is in no doubt whatever about their determination to stand together to preserve their freedom, then we will have gone a long way towards the fulfillment of that ideal of the United Nations charter. "If the free nations of the West, the nations of the Atlantic community, stand firm and leave no doubt about their purpose the time may well come—and sooner than many of us hope today—when it will be possible to say to Russia: "Carry out the provisions of the Atlantic Charter. Free Poland; free Yugoslavia; free Bulgaria and Romania; free the Baltic States, free Czechoslovakia and China from your threat of power. Leave them free to make their own choice, in their own way." Other speakers in the debate included Alistair Stewart (CCF-Winnipeg North); H. A. Mackenzie (Lambton-Kent); Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto-Eglinton); Ralph Campney (L-Vancouver Centre); Charlie Gillis (CCF-Cape Breton South); Jean Francois Pouliot (L-Temisouata); Dr. Pierre Gauthier (L-Portneuf); and Howard Green (PC-Vancouver-Quadra).

Mid-Season Style Show At Paris

By Florence Mills PARIS, Nov. 17 — (AP) — Designer Pierre Balmain devoted half of his mid-season style show today to the 1950 spring look "la Paris." As his bid for next spring's fashion diet he showed the press short-skirted, navy-blue dresses with fussy sleeves, enlivened with a huge amount of white-blazed linen and lingerie trimming. His spring color scheme is mainly navy blue or navy blue and black combined with white trimmings. He uses effectively scarlet patent leather for shoes, handbags, belts and even hat trimmings on spring models. Many of his bodices are simple sleeveless affairs with necklines that plunge to show vests of velvet or filmy lace. Others are crossover types set with plain bone buttons or glazed

U. S. To Consider Action In Far East; Meeting Called

By J.M. ROBERTS, Jr. (Associated Press News Analyst) The United States has called a meeting of its representatives in the Far East as a prelude to ending the "wait and see" policy pursued since Nationalist China began to collapse. Dr. Philip C. Jessup, the State Department's top trouble shooter, will probably carry to the meeting some broad general ideas of what the United States would like to do. He will ask the on-the-ground men how best it can be accomplished in their respective areas. Some of the major questions involve specific action — negative or positive — in individual areas. For instance, the Communist threat toward Formosa is developing. The U.S. has said that no more military aid would go to Chiang Kai-Shek. But Chiang has made Formosa his hold-out base. And Formosa, lying across the southeastern shipping lanes from Japan and only a short hop from the Philippines, is in a vital strategic position. Should the United States go for Formosa what it did for Greece? Jessup, for his party, may receive first hand information about Far Eastern desires regarding a peace treaty for Japan. American actions in connection with this treaty will have an important bearing on the attitude of all Southeast Asia toward any anti-Communist front which the U.S. proposes. It seems logical, too, that the question of recognition in China should remain open until its political effects in Southeast Asia can be discussed at this session. The position of Southern Korea vis-a-vis the Communist-ruled northern section is another vital Asian question, involving American aid and the desire of the Southern Koreans to take drastic steps — perhaps even invasion — to secure unification of the country. There is also the delicate case of Hong Kong, and how far the United States should go in supporting the British position there despite the fact that, to many Asians besides the Chinese, it still represents a thorn of imperialist penetration. France, enjoying American support in Europe, is thereby enabled to spend $1,000,000 a day in an effort to preserve her position in Indo-China. This goes against the grain of growing Asiatic national-
