

$4,000 Raised in Alberta's Biggest Auction Event Described as Like a "Ten-Ringed Circus"

People of Calgary certainly know a good bargain when they see one, the Calgary Kinsmen Club decided, summing up results of the biggest auction ever held in the province, their mammoth sale in aid of the Queen's Canadian Fund and their own British war charity for victims of the war in Britain. And not only did the audience find bargains in plenty, but they also came through with around $4,000 for vital war charity work.

Every penny bid at the sale went to the cause, and the day closed with $3,300 in hand and several more hundreds of dollars still to be entered in the books. The big auction was so successful, in fact that the club is considering making it an annual event.

Every article was donated, every organizer and auctioneer gave his time and services, and every dollar went to the relief of war victims. From 2 p.m. until 5.30, and again from 7.30 till 10 p.m., fifteen of Alberta's leading auctioneers were on the jump conducting a veritable ten-ringed circus to dispose of the mountains of new and used articles donated by citizens and firms of the province. At the end of the sale A. P. Mitchell, of Milet, veteran Alberta auctioneer, told the club that never in 40 years of auctioneering in the province had he seen a more successful community sale.

ENDLESS VARIETY

An eye-witness of the event was carried away by the endless variety of goods to come up before the bidders. The Kinsmen had thought of everything, a livestock ring where some 30 animals came under the auctioneer's hammer. Automobiles donated for sale by local supporters, counters advertising clothing, foodstuffs, sports goods, pictures, antiques, hardware, and all manner of merchandise. As an advance notice of the sale had proclaimed, "Do you need a radio, phonograph, an odd piece of furniture, cutlery, an electric clock, a sewing machine, an oil stove or an overcoat? If you do, you'll find it at the Kinsmen Club auction in aid of the Queen's Canadian Fund and the Kinsmen's Milk for Britain Fund."

There were invalid chairs, washing machines, snow shoes and golf clubs; there were cream separators, ploughs, grain pickers, buffalo robes, a sectional book-case, a set of welding nozzles, and a canvas rowboat. More than 3,000 articles came up for sale, and with more than that number of persons attending the event, competitions followed in eight separate rings. The grand-daddy of all photographs was three too. Finished in mahogany and evidently the most elegant thing of its day, the machine played steel records, punctured somewhat after the manner of player-piano rolls. Some records went with it. The machine required no needles, and it even had a tone control.

By way of opening the sale, the auctioneer framed off the first offering, a framed picture of the King and Queen. It fetched $20 from an enthusiastic bidder and was promptly returned for resale. Auctioned again and again after that, it finally realized $150.

The city crowd enjoyed the tricks and gags of the auctioneers, as they demonstrated how they keep the big country sale crowds happy and in buying mood. In no time at all the spirits of the gathering were at high level, and the pavilion soon resembled a carnival scene, with lights blazing, barkers trying to outdo each other, and most of the crowd wandering round, clutching lamps, mirrors, fern-stands, axes, garden rakes or saucepans. Eight hours of selling by 15 auctioneers was not without its effect on the appearance of the sale ground. When selling stopped at 10 p.m., the place was bare. Three thousand articles had come under the hammer, some $4,000 had been gladly given to help the war victims of Britain through the Queen's Canadian Fund and the Kinsmen's Milk for Britain Fund, and the results of a good job well done.

QUEEN'S CANADIAN FUND DONATIONS

Repeated bombing raids on British port areas and the industrial Midlands has attracted fresh attention to the frightful suffering of the many thousands of civilians in Great Britain who are hurried from shelter to shelter and finally driven into the open country by successive raids. Eventually places are found for them all, places of relative security, but their belongings of all kinds are destroyed. The task of emergency feeding alone is difficult. The work of setting them up once more with some quantity of clothing and bedding is much more difficult. To meet these enormous needs, funds have been started in various parts of the world. Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth has permitted the use of her name in connection with the Dominion campaign, which is officially known as "The Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims."

Every dollar contributed to the Queen's Canadian Fund goes without deduction to the Lord Mayor of London for distribution to the homes and needy.

Contributions from this Province should be forwarded to the Royal Trust Company, Charlottetown, which reports the following receipts to date:

- Received yesterday: Mt. Buchanan Women's Institute $37.00, Belle River Women's Institute $5.00, Little Pond Women's Institute $5.00, Cascumpey Red Cross Branch $3.00, Brooklyn Women's Institute $6.30. Previously acknowledged, $4,545.36. Total $4,571.66.

HUNS VERY SCARCE YESTERDAY - Sportsmen, who were astir early yesterday morning in search of Hungarian Partridge on the opening day of the season, returned disappointed. Reports last night were that there were "pretty lean pickings." In most districts the birds were very scarce and in the few districts where they were plentiful conditions favored them. A lot of cut grain and quite a quantity of it in stooks provided ideal hiding places for the Huns. Cons. Spurgeon Jenkins, Game Warden, visited the south side of the River yesterday and he reports that he "never saw the birds so scarce."

However, he stated that he saw plenty of grouse and pheasants. The Hungarian partridges are much fewer in number than last year and this is probably accounted for because of the cold rain which flooded out the nests and the many skunks. However, Const. Jenkins warns sportsmen not to become discouraged because some days last season the hunters returned almost empty handed while on other days they bagged a good many of the birds. The average catch yesterday was about three Huns to a hunter.

Pertinent questions had been asked about the issuance of these prescriptions. The Premier had asked the Premier if the Travel Bureau, the Tourist Office in Summerside or anyone other than a doctor or physician was allowed to issue the tourist script. There was any special tourist script being issued? In the reply it was stated by the Premier that no physician or Medical Doctor or Physician could issue prescriptions to tourists or any other persons and that there was no such thing as a special script. Later the Premier permitted to have this questionaire published. In the reply the Attorney General wrote that in a situation had arisen where he had become necessary to issue a special script for tourists. The doctor's regular supplies were not adequate.

Some of the members present expressed the opinion that there was an unreasonable number of scripts being issued. Speakers generally agreed that the fact that there was an asset to the tourist trade rather than a liability. It was felt that people come to this province to get away from drink and the resultant ill-effects of drinking on the highways. That prohibition is good for the tourist business, was the general consensus of opinion.

The members expressed themselves as being definitely against the issuance of the tourist script and decided to have a committee appointed to present their views in a document to be presented to the Premier and Government. This committee consists of Rev. A. A. MacLeod, Mr. George E. Brown, Kensington and Mr. Thomas Moore, Bedouque.

Reference was made to the recent conspiracy case which was tried in the Supreme Court regarding the acquittal of the accused. The members of the Constitution Committee were disappointed for their work in connection with the matter.

The matter of a total abstinence campaign to be conducted by the churches was dealt with. This campaign proposes to get the people to sign a total abstinence resolution for the duration of the war and period of demobilization. Re Poison Deaths. During the afternoon session the matter of the recent wood alcohol poisoning deaths was brought up. The resolution committee came in with their report. Rev. A. A. MacLeod, chairman of the committee, in moving a resolution that Dr. MacGuigan had meant when he said that "the remote cause of death was due to the evil effects of the workings of our present Prohibition Law." (This statement was made by Dr. MacGuigan at the recent inquest into the sudden deaths of three Charlottetown persons.) Continuing Mr. MacLeod asked if what was meant was that the Prohibition Law was so rigidly enforced that no liquor could be procured at 1.10 in the morning? If so this condition also applied to Moncton, St. John and Halifax.

Mr. MacLeod termed these statements as "propaganda by people who are against the Prohibition Law." They wish to get rid of the Prohibition Law. The speaker complained that the statement was published in Nova Scotia. "We are living in an age of propaganda," he said. These statements are being made by people who are trying to break down the opposition to drink. He charged, continuing he said the tourists are not inconvenienced by the Prohibition Law and the Tourist Bureau should advertise this province as being a drinking one. This would tend to bring the better class of tourists here. The great bulk of the travelling people come here because of the scenery and climate. "I use exploit that next year," he added.

He also referred to an article by Miss Dorothy Thompson which stated that the Prohibition era was the drier in the United States. On the other hand figures show that last year was the most drunken in that country. The majority of those in institutions devoted to the Cure last year were women, he added.

Mr. MacLeod labeled such statements as those made by Dr. MacGuigan and Miss Thompson as "misstatements" and added that the Federation should refute them by using facts and figures. He suggested the appointment of a Propaganda Committee.

da Committee to deal with this matter.

He then read the following resolution which was adopted: "Whereas statements have appeared in the press from time to time casting reflection on our prohibitory law, seeking to bring it into disrepute; and whereas there is a continuous stream of propaganda in favor of the use of liquor coming from various sources; therefore be it resolved that the Federation appoint a standing committee of three whose duty it shall be to watch the press and other sources of public information, and challenge such statements with suitable answers where necessary; be it further resolved that statements favourable to temperance be also noted and given wider publicity."

Rev. R. E. Shaw, New Glasgow, referred to recent statements made by Mayor Holman as "serious sources of propaganda." He charged that on several occasions the latter had made statements which would suggest that the whole basis of the Prohibition Law was unsound. On one such occasion the Mayor had urged visitors during Old Home Week to be careful where they got liquor. He (the Mayor) inferred that there was good and bad liquor. This was a challenge to the laws of the Government and the matter was a serious one. He stressed the need of "nailing such statements or censuring the source."

Propaganda Committee

The Propaganda Committee was then appointed consisting of the following: Rev. A. A. MacLeod, chairman, Rev. R. E. Shaw and Mr. J. H. McFarlane. Mr. James McLeod, Hampshire moved that the meeting go on record as showing appreciation to Premier Campbell and Mr. C. St. Clair Trainor for their work in connection with the prosecuting of drunken drivers. (He referred to a recent appeal from the decision of the lower Court to the Higher Courts.)

Miss Louise Callbeck, who is spending a vacation here after recently returning from the mission fields in Japan, representing the W. C. T. U., gave a short account of the recent convention held by that organization. Miss Edith Sterns, President of the W. C. T. U., Charlottetown, also spoke briefly.

A committee consisting of Mr. W. C. Darke, Mr. Ralph McCaul, Mrs. Clark, North Wilshire, and Rev. Lewis Murray, was appointed to arrange for the collection of $3.00 from all the Island circuits - $1.50 to go to the Canadian Temperance Federation and the remainder to the Island Federation.

A short discussion then took place regarding the temperance education among boys and girls in the Sunday Schools. A motion asking that the temperance study classes be introduced into day schools, five lessons yearly and also that the Bible be read in Protestant Schools, moved by Mrs. George Johnstone and seconded by Miss Edith Sterns, was passed. Miss Callbeck suggested that this should also be placed on the curriculum at Prince of Wales College. Those taking part in the discussion were: Mrs. Johnstone, Rev. Mr. McLeod, Rev. I. J. Levy and Rev. Mr. Barkor.

Many Difficulties

Mr. John Anderson, Charlottetown, who was for fifty years a member of the Temperance Alliance, referred to some of the difficulties encountered by that organization years ago. He charged that in this province the medical doctors, the members of the Bar and "the political partisan spirit of the people," were against the work of the organization. He also claimed that drinking among women had increased greatly in Charlottetown.

Those names, he said, were: Messrs. Thomas Moore, Bedouque, Harrison McFarlane, Bedouque, and Arnold Henderson, Bedouque. Other resolutions passed were: "Resolved that this Federation express its sincere sympathy to the family of the late Rev. R. H. Staver, Past Secretary of this body, and an outstanding temperance worker, who passed away during the year."

"Resolved that this Federation endorse the temperance study course now being promoted in our Sunday Schools by the Provincial W. C. T. U. and that we ask all affiliated bodies to assist the W. C. T. U. in this systematic instruction of the youth of our land in total abstinence."

"Whereas the policy of the Dominion Government is to restrict the use of luxuries in order to successfully continue our war effort; and whereas it appears necessary also to conserve food, money and the freedom of enslaved peoples be assured; and whereas the liquor traffic is wasteful of food, thousands of tons of grain and sugar being wasted and destroyed and the efficiency of our man power being seriously impaired by the use of intoxicants; therefore be it resolved that this Temperance Federation of P. E. I. in annual session, assembled, petition the Federal Government to deal effectively with this fifth columnist, the liquor traffic and sale of alcoholics both by civilians and among the armed forces for at least the duration of the war."

President's Address

The following address was given by Mr. J. H. McFarlane, President: "I wish to welcome those present at our annual meeting, particularly those who are attending for the first time and trust that everyone will feel free to take part in our deliberations today. "Since our last annual meeting, the Federation has lost one of its valued members, in the person of the late Rev. Hensley Slaver who was, for so many years identified with the good work done by the Sons of Temperance. "In the year that has gone we held a meeting of the Federation in the early spring, in this city and later the Continuation Committee met in Summerside and again in Hunter River. "Scripts received considerable attention at these meetings. We eventually decided to ask our Premier four questions, viz. (1) Has the P.E.I. Travel Bureau with Mr. E. Graham Rogers as Supervisor, any authority to issue scripts to tourists? (2) Has the so called tourist officer, Mr. Patrick Ryan, of Summerside any authority to issue scripts to tourists? (3) Is there any special tourist script? (4) Can any one other than a Medical Doctor or Physician, issue scripts to tourists or any other persons? "Mr. Campbell, in his reply to this questionnaire stated that no person other than a Medical Doctor or Physician can issue prescriptions to tourists or any other persons and that there was no such thing as a special tourist script. "Our next step was to ask the Attorney General for permission to have our questionnaire re scripts and his reply published in the local papers in order to clarify public opinion in this connection." (The Premier's reply was referred to above.)

"A few months ago, the Canadian Temperance Federation sponsored a Canadian Total Abstinence Campaign, in an attempt to curtail the use of liquor. Through the medium of the press and otherwise our secretary brought this matter to the attention of the various churches. "Several other things of lesser importance were dealt with at these meetings. "I wish at this time to pay a tribute to the very excellent work done by their Scientific Temperance courses to give boys and girls an intelligent understanding of the harmful effects of alcohol. "When we see the enormous increase in drinking in the other Provinces since the introduction of the value of our Prohibition to make it a success, both for the sake of our young people and for the example to the other Provinces. We know that the consumption of alcoholic beverages throughout Canada, is appalling. We were saddened by the short time ago by the loss of one of our caribreaks, which was the greatest triumph of the Federation in the world, ever, the people of Canada could deliberately scuttle one hundred vessels yearly and still not be able to mention the lives of the men and the penitentiaries and tinned largely as a result of drunkenness. "To confine our remarks to our own Province, we have much to be thankful for. Against great odds but there still is much to be done. and that an unreasonable flourish of scripts are issued is a reflection on our intelligence, a stigma on our manhood and a disgrace to our beloved Island. "In conclusion, I would urge every member of the Federation to do his or her utmost to remove this dreadful curse from our midst and may God bless you."
