The Most Artistic Roof

is the one that completely harmonizes with the design and finishing of the house. For this reason there is a steadily increasing demand for Brantford Asphalt Slates for the modern style of homes.

Brantford Asphalt Slates have a surface of crushed slate embedded into our asphalt coating, the base of the roofing being felt saturated with asphalt. They are cut the size of shingles, and their beautiful soft colors of reddish brown and dark green give a roof a most artistic appearance. The colors are the natural shades of the slate as it comes out of the quarries. Brantford Asphalt Slates are, therefore, unfadeable—never require painting.

Brantford Asphalt Slates

are accurate in size and pliable, which makes them very easily handled and quickly laid, saving time and labor, and therefore costing less to lay.

Brantford Asphalt Slates make an artistic, durable and economical roof. Booklet describing them mailed on request.

George Usher Is Back on Job

"I NEVER EXPECTED TO BE SO WELL AGAIN," HE STATES —PRAISES TANLAC

"I had to knock off work for two months and never thought I should be any good again, but Tanlac has fixed me up so that I feel years younger and am back again on my job." This was the enthusiastic statement made by George H. Usher, a valued employee of T. H. Easterbrook & Co., and residing at 25 Winter Street, St. John, N. B., to the Tanlac representative at the Ross Drug store recently.

"I've had rheumatism bad for the past four or five years. The muscles of my arms pained me all the time and the joints of my hands used to swell up like buns. I used to lay awake at night and just groan with the agony. My stomach got out of sorts, and I used to have a pain right here just below the breastbone and a feeling as though I was being choked after every meal. Then in January of last year I had the influenza, and was terribly weak after it. I had no appetite and could not regain strength. For two months I had to give up work altogether, so you can guess how bad I was."

"It was my friend in Roxbury who told me about Tanlac, and he was never a better friend than when he advised me to try it. Why after the very first bottle I got relief and then my appetite picked up and I could eat fine without suffering any discomfort afterward, my food seemed to do me good and my strength returned. It wasn't long before I was back at my work again. By the time I had taken the fourth bottle the swellings in my hands went down, and my rheumatic pains disappeared altogether. I never expected to be so well again and I just think Tanlac is the greatest medicine I have ever seen to restore me so wonderfully."

Tanlac is sold in Charlottetown by Reddin Bros., in Montague by H. J. Mabon and by the leading druggists in every town.

NAME OMITTED

—In the report of the St. Patrick's concert at Kensington, the name of Miss Ella McMahon was inadvertently omitted. She played the accompaniments very efficiently and before the entertainment began furnished some choice piano selections.

CHICK HATCHERY

—In reference to the mammoth chick hatchery referred to in yesterday's issue the statement that the incubator was owned jointly by the Department of Agriculture and Canadian Farm Products, Inc., was a mistake. The hatchery is entirely the property of Canadian Farm Products.

Those passed away at Graham's Road on Wednesday, March 19th, James Cash, in the sixty first year of his age. The funeral was held on Friday morning to St. James Church, Summerside. The Rev. Francis McQuaid, P. P., who attended him during his illness of our week, and fortified him with the last sacraments of the church, sang the funeral Mass and officiated at the grave. The pall-bearers were Messrs Bernard Croken, M. A. White, Malcolm McLean, Wesley Harding, Francis and Peter Lawless.

Another well-known citizen of Charlottetown has been called away in the person of Mr. John Offer whose death occurred at his home, Euston Street, on Sunday night after an illness of about one month. Many friends will be very sorry to learn of his death. For a number of years he was a member of the firm of Younker and Offer, carriage builders, conducting a factory on Upper Queen Street. Since the closing down of the factory Mr. Offer has been engaged in other lines of business, but which occurred about eleven years ago. There are left to mourn a widow and one sister, Mrs. Younker in Charlottetown. He was a brother of the late George Offer, who died suddenly some months ago.

The death of Mr. Michael Campbell which occurred at his home in Mitchell River on March 13th, 1920 deprives the community of a valued citizen, and deserves more than passing notice.

The late Mr. Campbell was one of Cardigan's most progressive farmers, and the few years that were given him to do his work had made for himself as a result of his industry and intelligence, one of the most comfortable homes in the country. He was a prominent member of the Cardigan Farmers' Institute, always ready to assist in any forward movement, and at all times a kind and obliging neighbor. A few months ago his health began to fail and despite the best medical attention both at home and in Montreal Royal Victoria Hospital, and the care of a devoted wife and family he gradually weakened until the end came. During his illness he was consoled by receiving the last rites of his church which he was a loyal member from the hands of his kind pastor, Rev. Father Gillis. The funeral procession to All Saints Church, Cardigan was one of the largest ever seen there. Requiem Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Fr. Gillis. The pall-bearers were: R. J. McLellan, Aeneas MacDonald, Duncan F. Campbell, Philip Morrison, John J. MacDonald and John Scrimgeour.

The deceased leaves to mourn a sorrowing wife (nee Miss Mary Steel), and six young children, besides his mother, Mrs. Malcolm D. Campbell, one brother, Francis, and one sister Mrs. Jas. Fay, and an adopted sister—now Sister Annette, of a Religious Order in Indiana. May his soul rest in peace.

For the third time within the last fifteen months the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Lanigan of Cardigan, was overshadowed with sorrow when the sad news came to them by telegram that their daughter, Katherine, had died at Everett, Mass., on the morning of Feb. 23rd. The deceased had been in failing health for the past two months but it was fondly hoped that she might recover, but God in His divine providence willed otherwise and she passed peacefully away fortified by the last consoling rites of Mother Church of which she was a faithful and devout member. Deceased for the last four years had resided in Everett with her sister, Mrs. J. P. Landriani and she held a good position as book-keeper with a firm in that city. On Feb. 28th her remains accompanied by her brother, James D. Lanigan, who had proceeded to Everett a few weeks previous when the first news of the serious illness of his sister had reached home were brought to her home in Cambridge where a large crowd of her sympathizing friends and neighbors awaited. Few could realize as they gazed on the fair young form, beautiful in death, that they would know her no more on earth. On Sunday the 29th the remains followed by a large number of people drawn from all parts of the surrounding country, were taken to St. Paul's Church, Sturgeon, where the funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Father Gallant, after which the remains were laid to rest in the family plot in Sturgeon to await a glorious resurrection.

On March 13th at the Prince County Hospital there occurred the death of Mrs. James C. Frizzell of Clinton, at the age of 52 years. The late Mrs. Frizzell some months ago contracted pleurisy from the effects of which she did not seem to regain her former strength. She was advised by her medical attendants to go to the hospital for treatment but it being too late she died three days after her arrival there. Mrs. Frizzell was a woman of sterling qualities, sympathetic and kind, worthy of respect, honour and trust. She leaves to mourn their irreparable loss a sorrowing husband and two sons, Kenneth and Harold both at home, also the following sisters: Mrs. James P. Dunning, Summerside, Mass., and Mrs. I. A. Brown, Graham Road and her brothers, George D. McLeod, Virginia, and John W. McLeod, French River.

The funeral took place Monday the 15th from her late residence to the New London cemetery, Rev. G. H. Miller officiating at the house and grave. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Wesley Heaney, Leslie Woodside, Mark Coles, James McLeod, John Whitehead and Patrick McGuirk.

For her friends and acquaintances she had ever the warm greeting and sunny smile and by her ever abiding patience and unselfishness she won lasting friendship and undying love. In the home circle so long brightened by her presence but now cruelly saddened by the unflinching hand of death her memory will ever be cherished as one of those rare flowers which God lends to earth for a time but plucks so soon to bloom forever in Heaven.

A correspondent sends the following additional details of the sad death of Raymond Peters, the Indian lad of Lennox Island who perished on the ice near there as related in yesterday's Guardian:— A very sad death from fatigue and exposure took place at Lennox Island on Thursday night, Raymond Peters and Patrick Sark, two boys about 11 years of age were out skating on the Bay. A breeze set in and they went to the store to get sugar with, blew away and after an hour to get it. It was then blowing a hurricane and they were driven clean across the Bay landing at Beach Point.

Young Sark who survives, says they tried to get into a shack there but it was locked. He suggested that they should go and look for a house, but young Peters who was seldom away from Lennox Island, was too bashful. Sark then suggested that they would go into the woods for shelter but young Peters thought it better to start for home about 12 miles away as their bodies would never be found if they died in the woods, but if they died on the ice, out on the Bay, their bodies would be found. They started and crawled a few miles out, they could not skate nor hardly stand. They struggled till about 2 o'clock on Friday morning, and then lay on the ice exhausted.

After a couple of hours, young Sark thought he could make out to get to James Gillis, at Low Point. Raymond told him to get a piece of bread as he was very hungry.

On Friday morning, Michael Thomas went skating over the Bay and found Patrick Sark still living but nearly dead. He put his warm sweater on him, then went on further and about three-quarters of a mile further on found his brother-in-law Raymond Peters, cold in death. He then started to take young Sark to a house, but could not do so against the wind. He went to Low Point where Joseph R. McIntyre was visiting and took the sleigh out and brought the survivor and the body of the dead boy to Lennox Island.

Raymond Peters was a son of Isaac Peters and was the brightest boy attending the school on Lennox Island. He was one of the little altar boys and loved to serve mass. He was a general favorite with everybody and his funeral on Sunday morning was largely attended. His father went away to Moncton only the day before and could not be located by wire. Young Sark is now fully recovered, and none the worse for the terrible ordeal through which he passed.

A sad gloom was cast over Millview on February 29th, when Mrs. Joseph Duggan passed peacefully away at the age of 78 years. Deceased had been sick about two weeks and thought to be recovering but God's will must be done and He took her to a home on high, a home not built, with hands Eternal in the Heavens. There are left to mourn five daughters, namely:—Mrs. Alfred Mitchell, Liquid; Mrs. W. R. Brown, Mt. Allison; Mrs. Ethel Stapleton, Roxbury; Mrs. Emma Lancy, Boston and Bessie at home. The funeral was largely attended and the remains were laid to rest in Pownal cemetery beside her husband who predeceased her thirteen months. The service at the house and grave were conducted by her pastor, Rev. Mr. Pierce. The pall-bearers were—Mr. Chas. Weatherbie, William Taylor, Benjamin Jenkins, Geo. McEachern, Peter Jackson, William Coady. The memory of the just is blessed. Other papers please copy.
