W. C. T. U. QUARTERLY MEETING

The quarterly meeting of Queens County Women's Christian Temperance Union was held in the Charlottetown Y. M. C. A. rooms on Wednesday, the fifth of June. Lovely weather helped to make the day one of gladness, and an atmosphere of loving friendship pervaded the assembly gathered at twelve o'clock.

Members of the Charlottetown Union whose President is Mrs. J. T. Windsor, served luncheon between the hours of twelve and one. Mrs. Samuel Campbell, president of the "Y" Auxiliary, was convener of the luncheon, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded her for the pleasing service; Mrs. Campbell is also a worker in the local W. C. T. U.

Representatives from many parts of Queens were present—members and officers from organized unions and ladies from towns not yet organized—in all about 55 persons. A guest who received a very cordial welcome was Mrs. P. R. Hartz. Regrets were received from Mrs. I. J. Yeo, who found it impossible to be present.

The noon-time hour of prayer was fittingly brought to mind in prayer by Mrs. W. A. Thomson, who then led the hymn of thanks for the food. "Be present at our table Lord."

During the interval allowed for friendly intercourse between luncheon and conference, it was the happy privilege of Queens County President to make a presentation of flowers to Mrs. W. A. Thomson, beloved friend and advisor to all women who know her. The flowers were to tell a message of great love; coupled with words of affection, Mrs. Pendleton regrettably made it known to those gathered together that Mr. Thomson is shortly leaving her Island home for a year, but it is earnestly hoped that she will regain perfect health which only an extended visit can bring. In words of appreciation Mrs. Thomson made reply, and every member signified loving loyalty to our dear friend.

Miss Edith Sterns graciously received words of sincere thanks accorded her for the invaluable service she is ever rendering. She also made mention of special endeavour in which Queens County women are now engaged.

Shortly after one P. M., the ladies began their conference meeting. The stirring strains of "The Fight is on" marked the opening. Mrs. Windsor was the accompanist for the meeting. Mrs. F. E. Boothroyd led in prayer.

The chairman remarked that the Provincial President, Mrs. Schurman could not attend the gathering; she also noticed the absence of Queens County Vice-President, Mrs. W. W. Crosby. Regrets expressed in the absence of these workers was voiced by Mrs. Pendleton, who then (by way of remembrance) spoke briefly upon the occasion of the last meeting of the Queens County W. C. T. U.—held in February. She also announced that the next meeting will be the annual meeting, in the early fall. But before the annual meeting occurs there will be an announcement made of other gatherings in connection with a visit from Mrs. Newcomb, of Halifax.

Mrs. E. C. LePage, Secretary of Queens County Executive acted as Secretary of the meeting.

To tell of trustfulness in God's love. Mrs. W. E. Fletcher rendered in sweetest tones—charming her hearers with the message she gave—"His Eye is on the Sparrow." And, by way of contrast, "Apparent Forgetfulness of God" was the subject of Mrs. Martin's talk; she related personal experiences which her service in the Salvation Army has given her—experiences amongst those whose lives would droop and die in the mystery which the accursed liquor traffic breeds. Mrs. Martin read the scripture lesson—"Inasmuch" from St. Matthew's Gospel, and after her splendid talk was over, Mrs. Leigh Warren told her story in song "There are Lonely Hearts to Cherish"—It was Mrs. Warren's way of pleading with the Women's Christian Temperance Union to bring sunshine to the hearts that are weary, and her song was a beautiful feature of the program. One of the most important phases of the W. C. T. U. program throughout the world is its "Flower, Fruit and Relief Work. The home was then dealt with in a most capable manner by each of the six ladies whose names follow. The subject of their addresses being: "Little White Ribbons and Mothers, Mrs. W. A. Thomson. "Loyal Temperance Legion." Mrs. Gordon McMillan. "Scientific Temperance." Illustrated by posters, Mrs. Laura Bustin. "The Y. W. C. T. U." Mrs. Leigh Warren. "The W. C. T. U.—Its Prayer, Its Plea, Its Pledge, Its Purpose, Its Pin, Its Paper" Mrs. E. C. LePage and Mrs. Woolmer. Mention was made of the literature honey. Furthermore, it requires about ten or twelve pounds of honey to manufacture a pound of wax. At ten cents per pound for honey, the cost of making a pound of wax is one dollar. Foundation can be purchased for about seventy-two cents per pound.

A second important argument in favor of supplying the bees with full sheets of foundation is that they will then build the entire comb of worker cells. A great many combs built from starters contain a considerable proportion of cells for the rearing of unproductive drones.

There is no doubt whatever that beekeepers are well advised to use full sheets of foundation.

Remove the Surplus Growth

A lot of wasteful growth around the garden can be prevented, and the surplus energy turned into useful flowers and vegetables, if one will pinch off unwanted shoots before they develop to any extent. The newly set out bedding plants will have buds, or even flowers, on now, which should be pinched off so that the plant will get a chance to grow before producing bloom. Rose bushes will send out a dozen shoots when only half a dozen are wanted. The weaker buds should be rubbed off at once so that all the growth will go into the others. If larger flowers are wanted, nip off about half the buds.

Beekeeping: Foundation

W. G. LeMaistre, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, Ont.

Foundation is used for four reasons, namely, for the production of strong combs well attached to their frames, to save the bees energy and time in building the combs, to ensure a maximum number of worker cells, and to encourage the bees in building straight combs. Only by using full sheets of foundation can all these aims be attained.

There are a few beekeepers who still adhere to the old practice of supplying the bees with "starters" because it seems to cost less and is fairly satisfactory. The slight saving on initial cost is poor business, for by so doing, the two most important aims for giving foundation are defeated.

In the first place the bees are not saved the time and energy that they would be had full sheets of foundation been given. It is commonly understood that the production of wax and building of combs takes more energy from the bees than the production of honey; if full sheets of foundation are given, then the energy of the bees is being conserved. While the bees are building that part of the comb that comprises the foundation they are using time that might otherwise be used in the storing of

Insidious Eye Strain

We use this adjective advisedly. Sufferers from eyestrain may have perfect vision and therefore do not suspect the presence of any evil defect. The motive power of the entire human organism is Nerve Energy. Normal eyes, it is computed utilize about 20% of this Nerve Energy, but when eyestrain is present, a much larger proportion is required. Hence defective eyes through their consumption of an excessive amount of Nerve Energy may seriously affect the functioning of other organs of the body and produce ill health.

Acquisitions and Extensions Have Added 3,600 Customers

In 1926, shortly after four electric companies serving the Maritime Provinces became a part of the Associated System, they served only 7,332 customers. Now through acquisitions and extensions of service, 10,924 are served.

These companies have kept pace with the increased demand for electrical service. And they can and will take care of any future increased demand.

The Canadian Companies are an important division of the Associated System, one of the major public utility groups. Total assets of the System are approximately $650,000,000.

Gleanings from Millview

The death took place at his home in Vernon River last Saturday evening, May 25th, of Mr. John Ross, at the early age of 62 years. Mr. Ross had not been in very good health for the past year, but all that medical aid could do was done but of no avail. He was, when in his health an excellent workman and few could surpass him at his trade. His presence will be sorely missed by his family and friends. There was a short service at the house, conducted by Rev. Mr. Littlejohn, followed by a service in the Vernon River Church, where Mr. Littlejohn was assisted by Rev. Mr. Pierce. The funeral was very largely attended by friends and neighbors of the deceased. He leaves to mourn their loss, his wife and two daughters, Mary and Elsie, and two sons, Gordon and James, Wallace and Myrtle having predeceased him a few years ago. The pall bearers were: Frank Lea, Henry Wood, Joseph Acorn, Shaw McMillan, Wm. Acorn, and Roderick Fraser.
