King's Appeal for Half Million Launched Saturday

HALIFAX, Mar. 8.—Announcement of plans for the Half Million Dollar Building Endowment Fund appeal for the University of King's College is made today by President Arthur H. Moore on behalf of the Board of Governors and the Executive Committee of the University.

With this opening announcement President Moore has made known the fact that A. H. Whitman, of Halifax, has accepted the General Chairmanship of the entire appeal which will be conducted throughout the three Maritime Provinces. The King's Appeal, according to Dr. Moore, has for its object:

First—to enable the University of King's College to claim the conditional gift of $600,000 from the Carnegie Corporation.

Second—to provide necessary endowment and buildings for the further extension of Higher Education in the Maritime Provinces under religious influences.

In order to qualify for the conditional offer of the Carnegie Corporation, it is necessary for King's to secure from other friends, within and without the Maritime Provinces, $400,000 by July 1, next.

To Raise Half Million.

The total needs of the University for all purposes aggregate $1,100,000. With the $600,000 needed to King's by the Carnegie Corporation there remains to be secured $500,000 to meet the total needs. This amount will be the objective of the present appeal.

"The Carnegie Corporation's money, when secured," said Dr. Moore, "will, under the terms of their endowment for the departments of Arts and Science, $400,000 is needed for additional buildings, and $100,000 for the endowment of the Divinity School."

The Executive Committee of the Board of Governors, which is serving also as the General Executive Committee for the King's Appeal, is composed of:

LAUGHS GALORE IN "WAGES FOR WIVES"

One of the most rollicking comedies ever shown on the screen is "Wages for Wives," the Fox Film's adaptation of Guy Bolton's Broadway hit which opened yesterday at the Prince Edward Theatre.

There are probably more good wholesome laughs packed into this film than any comedy this year, and its theme, which has to do with a fair division of the family bankroll, gives it an unusually broad appeal. The scene is laid in a typical American small town, where Jim Bailey, a typical middle-aged husband, does out to his helpmate on payday just what he thinks she should have and spends the remainder as he sees fit.

The wife, one of those meek little souls, accepts her lot with a sigh, but her daughter (Jacqueline Logan), just become a bride, considers such a system all wrong, and makes no bones about saying she will insist on a better break in her own home as an agitator strike in which three husbands are left to look out for themselves. The results may be imagined by any wife who has ever left her husband to keep bachelor hall for even a few days.

Creighton Hale, as the young husband, while outwardly pretending to be in sympathy with the husbands' cause, secretly yearns to end the strike and two of the wives soon weary of the experiment, however, remaining adamant until old Mr. Tevis (Dean Mason), the village station agent, takes it upon himself to act as arbiter.

Supporting Miss Logan and Mr. Hale is an admirable cast, including Claude Gillingwater, David Butler, as the wise-cracker of the village, Zasu Pitts as the wife who struck because she was dragged into it, Earle Foxe, Margaret Livingston, Margaret Seddon and Dan Mason, who won screen fame as the skipper of the Toonerville Trolley comedies, Frank Borzage directed the picture.

"Red Pepper," a two part comedy also furnished plenty of laughter. This program will be repeated this afternoon and evening.

MONTREAL, March 8.—(Dominion live stock report branch)—Cattle receipts 556. There was a light offering of cattle due in part to the recent snow blockades prices were stronger and sales fairly brisk. A half dozen choice white faced steers were sold for $8.25. Eight dollars was paid for a couple of baby heifers and a choice heifer. Good steers were sold for $7.25 to $7.75, and medium kinds around $6.75 and $7.00. The commonest kind realized from $5.50 up. Good heifers were sold for $7.00 to $7.50 and common to medium quality cows brought from $4.75 to $5.25. There were very few good cows offered. These prices were based more or less on the short supply and the unfavorably prospects of any immediate improvement in weather and roads conditions.

Paul Cuomo today was held with out bail in police court while police investigated the method by which he juggled $3,000,000 in the last five years. His scheme was similar to that with which Charles Ponz started the world.

and middlings but this action was not followed by the rest of the milling industry. The demand was steady, the trade in standard grades of rolled oats was moderate and prices were unchanged. The market for baled hay was without any new feature to note. The demand for eggs was small but prices remained firm. A stronger feeling developed in the potato market and prices were advanced 10 to 15 cents per bag. A moderate amount of business was worked in beans and the tone was steady with car lots of choice handpicked white beans selling at $2.45 per bushel and broken lots at $2.65 per bushel. The chicken and butter markets were quiet.

Coolidge is Visited by Farm Delegates

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Belief that real progress had been made toward a legislative solution of the farm relief problem was expressed by farm leaders from Middle Western States today after conferences with President Coolidge and Secretary Jardine.

The farm group, made up of the Executive Committee of twenty-two appointed at the recent North Central States Agricultural Conference at Des Moines, representatives of other agricultural organizations and members of Congress, were in conference with the President for half an hour and with Secretary Jardine for more than two hours.

Neither the President nor the Secretary endorsed the Dickinson bill, which is supported by the committee of twenty-two, but the agricultural representatives expressed gratification over their reception.

President Coolidge told the delegates that he hoped Congress would enact legislation at this session which would provide some effective form of farm relief, and expressed the belief that action could be had on a measure which would command the general support of the farmers themselves.

Secretary Jardine expressed his approval of the Federal Farm Board provision of the Dickinson bill, but said he was unable to agree to any proposal for farm relief which would tax the farmers. The bill would assess an "equalization fee" against producers to make up losses in the marketing of surplus crops abroad. At the same time, the Secretary declared, he would "not throw a monkey wrench" into any plans upon which the farm leaders might be agreed, leaving it to Congress to decide what form any relief measure should take.

The unofficial House Committee for Modification of the Volstead Act at a meeting today unanimously re-elected as its Chairman Representative Hill (Republican, Maryland), who has headed the group in the last two Congresses. It also instructed Mr. Hill to appoint a "temperance board" of five from the committee's membership to consider all questions relating to "temperance" and to recommend a means of procedure for the group.

Besides the committee voted to hold an open meeting in the caucus room of the House office building, March 31, to consider the advisability of reporting a bill to modify the prohibition law.

Old Records Shattered at Quebec Dog Derby

1—Francis Dupuis, driving for A. McKay & Co. who won the Derby. 2—Crowds watching start and finish of the dog Derby. 3—Shorly Russick with his new leader, Murphy.

Struggling under the handicap of high winds and drifting snow, in blizzards which hid the lead dog from the driver, the crack teams of the continent fought to maintain overcome leads in the Eastern International Dog Sled Derby held at Quebec recently under the auspices of the Frontenac Winter Sports Club. Among the famous competitors were Emile St. Goddard, winner at Le Pas, Manitoba, last year; Shorly Russick, world's champion 200 mile non-stop driver; Earl Braxton, Quebec winner in 1924; Bill Grayson, veteran musher; Francis Dupuis, of Quebec, who won the Derby this year; Walden, of Wonalancet, N.H.; Channing, of Boston; and others.

The visitors at Quebec picked their favorites from Russick's ten huskies, St. Goddard's cross-bred, led by Bert, Bridgess hounds, Dupuis' mixed team and Channing's lean hounds. No records were expected. It was thought at first that Russick's pups of fourteen months would crack under the strain or that St. Goddard, who had undergone a painful operation several months before, would weaken. Joseph Dupuis was considered a likely winner. But out of the dark, on the third and last day of the race, came his brother, Francis Dupuis, leading the field by a scant ten seconds.

In winning the gold cup and one thousand dollars, Francis Dupuis established a new world's record, eclipsing the record of 12,49.45 established last year by St. Goddard, by seventeen minutes and thirty-five seconds. Last year's record was also beaten by Russick, second in this year's race, who covered the 123 miles in 12 hours and forty minutes.

Out of the nineteen teams that started the race, all but one finished this being Wilbrod Poirier, of Anseville, Quebec, who trailed the St. Goddard, who had undergone a painful operation several months before, would weaken. Joseph Dupuis was considered a likely winner. But out of the dark, on the third and last day of the race, came his brother, Francis Dupuis, leading the field by a scant ten seconds.
