

TERRIBLE PAINS ACROSS BACK

SUFFERED EIGHT MONTHS WITH KIDNEY TROUBLE WOULD HAVE TO STAY IN BED FOR THREE DAYS AT A TIME

Doan's Kidney Pills CURED HIM

Mr. Thomas Fitzgerald, Hazelett, Ont., writes as follows: "I was a great sufferer from kidney trouble for eight months. I had terrible pains across the small of my back. I would have to stay in bed for three days at a time and could not do any work. I tried several remedies but of no avail, and also plasters but they were of no use.

One day a neighbor of mine advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I was so much discouraged I told him I was tired of trying remedies, but he urged me to try one box so I purchased one, and before I was through using it, I found a change for the better and I got five boxes more, and I have had no trouble with my kidneys since. I would not be without Doan's Pills in my house.

It is really not difficult to cure kidney trouble in the first stages. All you have to do is to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial. They are a never-failing cure for all forms of kidney trouble. They quickly relieve the congested, overworked kidneys, and gradually bring them back to health.

Doan's Kidney Pills 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25, all dealers or The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

NATIVES RECEIVE SALUTARY LESSON

Twelve Kaffirs Shot for Murder of Two Members of Natal Police Force--Meet Death Bravely--Condemned Men Passed Last Night in Singing Hymns and Praying.

PIETERMARITZBURG, April 24.—The twelve natives of Natal shot here for the murder of two members of the police force all acknowledged the sentence just and professed repentance. The scene was an impressive one—none never to be forgotten in the history of this country.

The Kaffirs were shot in two batches of six. The condemned had passed the preceding night in singing hymns and offering prayers. About 200 members of the Natal police provided the guard and firing party. Three native chiefs attended the execution.

The first six prisoners were escorted to an open grave, which had been dug. One of the condemned was a minister of the native Ethiopian church. The natives had spent the night in singing hymns so loudly that they had kept the Richmond residents living in the vicinity of the prison awake by their fervent clamor.

When the time came they listened eagerly to the abjurations of the Church of England clergyman.

BLINDFOLDED AND HANDCUFFED Then the six natives, blindfolded, stood handcuffed with their backs to the firing party, consisting of thirty-six police in command of an inspector. The doomed men stood erect, not one flinching even when the police, locking the bolts of their rifles after loading, disturbed the silence.

One man at the end of the line, the Ethiopian pastor of the kraal to which the condemned belonged, heard this sound and raised his left hand, which was not manacled. He kept it lifted in an attitude as though he were apostrophizing the Deity, until six bullets, for the Natal police are unfailing marksmen, took him in the back of the neck between his shoulders, and he dropped without a tremor, first on his knees and then on his face.

MET DEATH PLUCKILY. The second group of condemned consisted of kaffir youths. They were less collected than the older men who had gone to death before them, but were quite plucky, and submitted to the binding of their brows with black handkerchiefs without a tremor, and allowed themselves to be led to the brink of their graves, docile, resigned and fearless. Only one of their number, a mere stripling, showed any signs of discomposure, and this only when one of the firing party discharged his rifle accidentally. The lad ducked forward and five seconds later was a lifeless heap.

Other five could be heard audibly encouraging one another with assurances that they should meet each other in a better world, until they also died. A gang of native convicts from the jail buried the bodies, which were little disfigured, considering the number of charges they received. All of the deaths were quite instantaneous and painless.

Among the firing party was Sergt. Stephens, who nearly lost his life by a seagull wound in the charge made upon Inspector Hunt's party of police when the inspector was killed.

Before the bottle was half finished I had not the slightest trace of a cough, and in my opinion Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup has no equal as a cure for coughs, colds, or any affection of the throat and lungs."

J. J. Moloney, Woodbine, N.S.

THE execution is said to have served a most salutary purpose with the natives who witnessed it. The kaffir is impressed far more by what he sees with his own eyes than by what is conveyed to him by report. Today becomes a legend to be told for years. Severe language was not spared in addressing the natives after the execution. The chiefs were told that if there was further trouble they would be all punished for disobedience to the supreme chief's orders.

Majongee, the head man of the kraal to which the murderers belonged, is still in jail, ill with two others. Sentence has been deferred on them, as well as a number of others for offences in the southern part of the colony. It was the head man, Majongee, who took the rifle of Sub-inspector Hunt, one of the murdered men, while the other stabbed the inspector and Trooper George Armstrong while they were still alive. One of the three native chiefs who attended the execution was the mischievous Umskofeldt. A fourth chief arrived after the execution. When asked for his explanation he said he was afraid to see the sentence carried out. One chief petitioned pitifully to be excused from witnessing the death of his fellow natives, but was not allowed to absent himself and had to take his place in the front rank of his followers.
