Suspect Foul Play In Death Of Young Woman

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Oct. 1 — (CP) — What police described as a case of suspected foul play became known tonight after the body of Miss Leversey Powers, 25, of Grand Falls, N B was taken from the waters of Ashburn Lake, near Saint John. She had suffered severe head injuries.

Police said they were holding Thomas Heffernan, 28, of East Saint John, as a material witness pending an inquest.

Investigation led to discovery of the young woman's body this afternoon after Heffernan appeared voluntarily at the office of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. The case then was turned over to city police.

The body lay in about six feet of water and approximately eight feet from a small wharf, and was clad in brown coat, blue blouse and striped shirt.

Whether or not death resulted from drowning was unreported.

Police said they had been told the couple went to the lake about 10 o'clock last night in a taxi and entered the basement section of a lodge owned by C N. Wilson, president of the St. John Dry Dock & Shipbuilding Co., Ltd. Heffernan is an employee of the dry dock, and Miss Powers was a hotel secretary here. She was a daughter of Robert Powers, Grand Falls.

Stopping of her wrist watch at 10.57 p.m. indicated the approximate time of death.

Rations Scheme Little Changed

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 30 —(CP) — There are forecasts of more sugar and jam in the spring but right now Britain's basic rations are no better, on the whole, than when the war was on.

Tea, candy and meat rations have been boosted a bit but cheese fats and soap have been cut and bread is rationed for the first time in British history. Many foods sold freely during the war have been brought into the "points" rationing system to put a ceiling on sales.

These are the present ration levels:—

Sugar—one half pound a person a week, unchanged since 1940

Meat—whatever can be bought for 1s 4d (28 cents) a week— twopence more since bread rationing was introduced than at any time since 1941. A family of three can have four meat meals a week if the slices are thin.

Bacon—three ounces a week, one ounce less than during most of the war.

Fats—seven ounces a week compared with eight during the war; an ounce more butter, an ounce less margarine and an ounce less lard or other cooking fat

Cheese—two ounces a week, compared with three ounces through most of the war.

Tea—10 ounces every four weeks, two ounces more than at any time since 1940.

Jam— one pound every four weeks, two ounces more than at the regular wartime allotment, or an extra pound of sugar if preferred.

Candy—14 ounces of candy or chocolates every four weeks, two ounces more than the wartime level.

Soap—three small cakes of soap, or their equivalent in soap flakes or soap powders, every four weeks —once-quarter less than at the end of the war.

Bread—not rationed at any time during the war but now limited to nine ounces a day for the average person. Cake and flour are included in the nine-ounce figure.

No major food item has been removed from the rationing scheme since the war ended and so far there is no prospect of any such move.

Aside from the staple rationed commodities, many other foods come under the control scheme, available only by surrender of "points" tokens from the ration book. Thirty-two points a month is the individual quota. A pound of prunes takes eight, a box of cereal two, a small tin of first-grade salmon 20. Dried eggs used to be point-free but now a small tin takes eight points. Half-a-pound of sweet biscuits is a four-point item.

Eggs are allocated on the ration book—sometimes two a week but more often one or none at all. Oranges and bananas are kept for children only. Fruit has been more plentiful, with supplies flown in from the continent, but prices are high. Peaches, even late in the season, were about a shilling (20 cents) apiece.

Will Transfer Course To Fort Frontenac

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 30 — (CP) — The war staff course, which has been conducted at Royal Military College here in recent years, will be transferred to Fort Frontenac as soon as the necessary alterations are made, it was announced today. The alterations may take some months.

Future use of R. M. C. is a military secret, it was said. In future personnel from this district will report to district depot number 4 in Montreal and district depot number 3 will move from nearby Fort Frontenac to military district number 3 headquarters on King Street West.

Large Increase In Value Of Fishing Catches For August

The average price during August last year was $2.14 per hundredweight while this year's price was only $1.84 per cwt.

Denied Entry Into U. S.

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 30 —(AP) — Antonio Navarro (The Frog Man) Fernandez, charged with the $125,000 swindle of a Washington lawyer and a New York Airline Executive, was denied entry into the United States today by a three-member special Immigration Board of Inquiry.

The action was based on Fernandez' admission that he had been convicted in Cuba of possessing counterfeit money and had served four years' imprisonment.

It was also brought out that Fernandez, described by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as a notorious international swindler and called in various circles "The Frog Man" and "Kid Tiger," had twice been deported from the United States on charges of illegal entry —once in 1929 and again in 1938.

Earlier today the F. B. I. disclosed that M. O. Dunning a Washington Attarney, and Sigmund Janas, President of Colonial Airlines in New York City, were the victims of Fernandez' alleged $125,009 swindle plot.

Following the hearing Fernandez told newspapermen he knew Mr. Dunning. He said he had "borrowed $10,000 in cash" from the Washington lawyer and had given as collateral for the loan $10,000 in Canadian Victory Bonds.

Fernandez estimated his cash assets as about $450,000, most of it in Canadian banks. He said he lived in the Mount Royal and Ritz Carlton hotels in Montreal for eight years.

F. B. I. Chief J. Edgar Hoover stated that Fernandiz enticed his intended victims with a tale of having "at least $10,000,000 cached away in each of 34 or 36 safety deposit boxes." Mr. Hoover said that Fernandez promised his victims a large share of that fortune if they would lend him sufficient cash to gain entry into the United States and get to the safety deposit boxes.

MONTREAL, Oct. 1 — (CP) — In snow, rain and freezing temperatures, probably the coldest persons in Montreal today were delegates to the International Labor Organization from Iran Egypt and India. They arrived at the conference wearing large woollen gloves and their heads hooded with parkas.
