Banquet Enjoyed

A banquet of the Maritime Branches of the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists was held in the Commissioners Dining Room, Winter Fair Building, Amherst, N.S., on Wednesday evening, December 13. The Toastmaster for the occasion was Dr. M. Cummings, LL.D., B.A., B.S.A., who presided in his usual admirable manner. Thirty-five members of the Maritime Branches were present as also a number of men employed in Agricultural Extension Work, who had not as yet joined their professional organization.

The guests were addressed by Mr. Fred H. Grindley, B.S.A., Ottawa, General Secretary of the Society, who, in his remarks outlined the work of the Society from its inception to the present date, explaining in some detail the successes already attained by the young organization, which is as yet barely three years of age; in the financial success made in the publication of "Scientific Agriculture," the official organ of the Society; the assistance given to members in the establishment of a good agricultural library at twenty per cent. reduction in price; assistance given by the association in the correlation of research work, etc. He felt sure that the C. S. T. A. supplied a great need of the technical agriculturists throughout Canada, and judging from the success already attained and the tremendous field ahead of the organization, that the Society, not unlike other organizations of professional men would prove an important factor in elevating the standards of the profession and cause the profession to be regarded in the light of its true worth. The president then called on Dr. J. W. Robertson, C.M.G., LL.D., Honorary President of the Society, claiming that he needs no introduction to this audience so prominent had he been in agricultural work in the pioneer days as Commissioner of Agriculture for Canada; Principal of Macdonald College, St. Anne de Bellevue, Quebec; and so conspicuous was he in Canadian agriculture today that we are prone to look upon him as father to us all.

Dr. Robertson spoke on the value of the organization, and in his unparalleled style impressed upon the meeting the special opportunities for service which the members as specialists had before them. Taking a few incidents from his early experience as a pioneer agriculturist in Canada he showed the value of service to one's country, in an unassuming, modest, captivating style which only men of his great mass can command. He urged the members of the C.S.T.A., throughout Canada to seek spheres of action outside of their respective jobs through the medium of which they could be of service to their fellow men. Dr. Robertson's remarks, all too brief, were a particularly impressive contribution to the banquet, they being addressed to a group of men who were more or less in a position to know in some measure what a life of service and self-sacrifice had been that of the speaker. At the conclusion of his speech, and before his departure to address the Winter Fair attendees in the Armories, the members rose and in a body sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Mr. L. H. Newman, B.S.A., Seed Commissioner for Canada then addressed the meeting, and in a very short and appropriate address spoke of the work of the Society in other parts of Canada; the absolute need of such an organization, and of the importance of solidarity among its members. He urged the members not to expect too much from an infant organization, and felt certain that it would be the means of elevating the status of the profession and obtaining for it recognition on a merit basis. Mr. J. K. King, B.S.A., President of the New Brunswick Branch; Mr. W. J. Reid, B.S.A., Secretary of the P. E. Island Branch, and Dr. Brittain, Biology Department of the Nova Scotia Agricultural College, addressed the meeting on matters pertaining to the maintenance and means of strengthening the organization in the Maritime Provinces.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mr. E. F. Pineau, B.S.A., Secretary of the New Brunswick Branch for having voluntarily taken upon himself the organization of the banquet, and for the able manner in which he had contrived to make this Maritime Banquet such a success. In reply Mr. Pineau stated that the oratorical treats to which he and his fellow members had partaken were sufficient recompense for him, and stated that out of his experience in the organization of this banquet he thought that a Maritime Committee consisting of two members from each Branch should be appointed at this meeting for the purpose of enabling the Maritime Branches to act as one body for the purpose of organizing festivals of this nature, and for any other matters pertaining in common to the three provinces. This suggestion was accepted in part, and it was moved by Mr. Reid that as it had already been demonstrated in the organization of this banquet that such matters can best be handled under one head that Mr. Pineau be appointed the sole Maritime Officer to have charge of matters of this nature which might come up.

A number of the members present, in well chosen remarks made other very valuable contributions to the success of the meeting, and at 10.45 p.m. the meeting was brought to a close by singing God Save the King, with everybody enamored of the success of a banquet which was pronounced one of the best which he has yet attended.

LOBSTER SEASON IS PROSPEROUS
ST JOHN, Dec 17.—Passengers by the steamer Grand Manan say that the lobster catch of the Island of that name there is very fair and that fishermen are finding a ready market at high prices. It is estimated that 150,000 boxes of bladders (herring) will be disposed of this season by the Islanders. On Cambozelle the situation is different. There are no lobsters here fishing is poor and thirty young men have left for the mainland to obtain employment. Fishing has been poor also at Deer Island.

There is a strong demand in Maine for lobsters as there are only 400,000 in Maine's pounds as against the usual number of 2,000,000 live lobsters reserved for the cold weather trade. Grand Manan is taking advantage of this great opportunity and much money will probably be made. The fishing season opened on Nov 15, and will last until June. The lobsters are carried to the Maine pounds by smacks and gasoline boats owned in that state. New York, Boston and the middle west are clamoring for shipments of live lobsters and many of the Grand Manan catch are going to those markets, via Maine. One Boston firm is spending at the rate of $100,000 a month in lobster investments. The productive period in Grand Manan waters is short, however, and just before Christmas the traps will be landed. As lobstering is not carried on along the New England shore during the cold months, the big consuming centres may have to fall back on the western Bay of Fundy grounds, which will be opened to fishing on Jan. 5. The Digby coast fishermen complain that the season is too short and that it should open on Dec 15. Last year Digby shore fishermen cleaned up $1.

Bandits Shoot - Many In States And In Canada

MONTREAL, Dec 17—Bank bandits and other desperate robbers operated extensively in the United States yesterday, and also in Canada, according to telegraphic dispatches. In Boston George A. Willis, superintendent of the messenger service of the Boston News Bureau, was shot and killed by two bandits who robbed him of the delivery boys' payroll. The holdup occurred in the basement of the plant, which is owned by Clarence W. Barron, publisher also of the Wall Street Journal, and an economist well known in Canada. The robbers escaped.

Eighteen safely deposit boxes in the Mount Royal, Ont. branch of the Royal Bank of Canada were robbed early yesterday by burglars who gained entrance by cutting the bars of a rear window.

Six men in a motor car held up messengers of the First National Bank of Philadelphia in Darby, a suburb, and after shooting him in the face escaped with $20,000.

At Highland Park, near Detroit bandits held up the employees of the Ford Motor Company's bank and after firing a few shots in the air the six fled with $5,600.

Five men held up the Saddo State Bank of Caddo, Okla., locked fourteen persons in the vault and escaped in a motor car with $10,000.

In the live stock exchange in Kansas City, three bandits shot and probably fatally wounded Thomas F. A. Henry, credit manager of the Drivers' National Bank and got away with nearly $100,000 in cash.

In an early morning battle with mountain outlaws in Menifee County, Ky., yesterday officers shot and killed Bob Ballard leader of the gang and wounded his brother Charles Ballard. Guy Cole a prohibition officer was slain by the outlaws.

U. S. Loan May Be Santa Claus Boom

BERLIN, Dec 17—Reports from New York and London announcing the possibility of a United States loan of $1,500,000 to Germany were featured by big headlines in last night's papers. Much credit was given the reports but occasionally there was to be found the pessimist who had the opinion that these were fabrications put forth to stimulate the sluggish Christmas shopping. Berlin generally adopted the belief that an American Santa Claus was coming to Europe.

000,000 in six weeks fishing, but as the season has been shortened the outlook is not particularly bright. Lobsters at Grand Manan sold as high as 70 cents soon after the season opened last month.

Union Jack Displayed On Dublin Streets

DUBLIN, Dec. 17—For the first time in many a day the Union Jack was seen in the streets of Dublin today in the hands of people on the streets. They were being waved by members of the crowds seeing off the British soldiers who are going home in the course of the removal of the last of the British troops from Free State territory. Cheers for the departing troops came from the crowds on the O'Connell bridge, and one old gentleman presented the officers with christmas cards. Three hundred men in all were in today's party. They were inspected by General Nevil MacReady as they passed the Gough monument in Phoenix Park.
