GERMANS EXPECT TO SETTLE RUSSIA BY JUNE 30

(Special to the Guardian.) LONDON, June 27.—A Reuter despatch from Petrograd says: Papers found on German and Austrian prisoners show the troops under Von Hindenburg were assured by their commander that "we shall enter Warsaw on June 28th. Galicia will be totally cleared of Russians by June 30, and after that peace can be concluded with Russia." Virtually all males between the ages of fifteen and fifty left Lemberg before that city fell. Besides supplies of grain, oil, copper and other commodities, the Russians removed the valuable historical contents of the museum and art galleries before evacuation.

UNION LEADERS CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS

(Special to the Guardian.) LONDON, June 27.—Trade union leaders issued a manifesto addressed to their fellow trade unionists saying: "We are faced with a great responsibility and at the same time are presented with a magnificent opportunity. We are called upon to assist in saving our nation and its allies, who are fighting for civilisation and internationalism against barbarism and brute force." After calling attention to the serious position of the British and Russian armies in the field in consequence of shortage of munitions, the manifesto appeals to every skilled workman of the engineering and allied trades who is not at present engaged upon war work to enroll himself as a volunteer in this hour of need to demonstrate to his comrades in the trenches and the whole world that British trade unionism stands for all that is best in national life, national freedom and national security.

BALKANS NOW READY FOR WAR ON THE SIDE OF THE ALLIES

Roumania May be in Conflict Within a Week and will Attack Austro-Germans in Galicia. Bulgaria and Greece are Expected to Follow. Roumania Immediately, the Latter being Detained only by Illness of King. Grecians and Roumanians all Ready for War.

(Special to the Guardian.) BRESLIA, June 26.—The Balkans are about to thrust themselves into the great European conflict, according to information from a most trustworthy source received here to-day in diplomatic circles. Within a week, it is declared, Roumania will be at war. Her first act will be to attack upon the rear flank the Austro-Germans in Galicia who are now celebrating their victory over the Russians. Roumania will make as an excuse for entering the conflict a demand for the cession of Transylvania, which will unquestionably be refused by Austria-Hungary. According to reports the Roumanians are already preparing for war. The wheat crop has been harvested and the people are eager to get into action. Following closely upon the action of Roumania Bulgaria and Greece are expected to enter the war. Greece's intervention is being delayed only by the illness of the King.

JAP OFFICERS COMMIT SUICIDE

(Special to the Guardian.) TOKYO, June 26.—Major Nakajima and Captain Hashimoto, Japanese officers fighting with the Russian army at Lemberg, committed hara-kiri when the Galician capital fell rather than suffer what they considered the dishonour of being made prisoners according to official advices received from Petrograd.

GERMANY'S PLANS TO INVADE ITALY

(Special to the Guardian.) BRESCIA, June 27.—Handbooks giving instructions how to invade Italy through the Valley of the River Po, and thus reaching Verona, Mantua and Ferrara, cutting off Venice from the remainder of the kingdom, have been found in the possession of Austrian officers who have been made prisoners. These booklets were apparently compiled by an officer of the Austrian general staff.

ITALIANS MAKING GOOD PROGRESS

(Special to the Guardian.) ROME, June 27.—Official statement Sunday night.—On the Tyrol-Trentino frontier long range artillery duels continued at several points. In Carniola last night the usual vain attack on Friekekefel was reported. West of Monte Croce Pass our troops occupied the summit of Zellenkofel. Along the Isonzo frontier our progress beyond the river is developing slowly but without pause. To hasten the subsidence of a flood originating along the lower Isonzo the destruction was ordered of Monfalcone Canal at its mouth. The operation was conducted courageously by a detachment of engineers under a violent artillery fire from the enemy. Storms on the afternoon of 25th and the night of the 26th hindered the action of our troops, especially in the mountainous part of the theatre of war.

SUMMARY

(Special to the Guardian.) LONDON, June 27.—The Russians are again retreating in Galicia, both to north and south of Lemberg, and in Poland the Germans have launched another attack against Warsaw in the form of a drive from the north through Przasnysz. The new blow at the Polish capital has been preceded by a terrific artillery action. The fact is recorded by the Russians themselves, but it is too early to say whether it means a serious offensive, the first clash having developed into a bayonet encounter, the result of which neither side records. Neither Berlin nor Vienna makes reference to the conflict in this region, confining their statements to the Galician situation, where victories are claimed. What is more important the Germans claim the Teutonic forces have crossed the Dniester north-west of Halicz and driven the Russians some miles into the hills.

Not since the war began has the English public been so convinced that it will be a long one. Those who took this view months ago were called pessimistic, but now it is generally admitted that the Russian armies must fight for months to come under tremendous disadvantages, and that in the meantime the much-heralded big general movement on the western front must be indefinitely postponed while the Entente Powers temporarily reorganise their methods. While the campaign for munitions in Great Britain is at its height it might be assumed that Germany is straining every fibre to the same end and calling into play her inventive skill to increase the deadly mechanism of war to offset the drain on her men. The present opinion of military writers in London is that Germany intends to press her eastern victories with a battering ram stroke toward Warsaw in an endeavour to seize that city and the whole line of the Vistula. The line of offensive now directed from Przasnysz region is along the Valley of Omulow and Orzyz tributaries of Narew River, which flows across North Poland and joins the bend of the Vistula above Warsaw.

GERMAN SOCIALISTS WOULD DISCUSS PEACE

(Special to the Guardian.) AMSTERDAM, June 27.—The Berlin socialist paper, Vorwaerts, prints an appeal signed by the social democratic party, calling upon the Government to convey to the other powers its willingness to discuss peace terms, according to Berlin despatches to-day. The appeal declares German socialists, from the start, opposed war for purposes of annexation, and will support a peace agreement on those terms. It concludes by urging the socialists of the other belligerent countries to use their efforts to end the war.

SIR ROBERT BORDEN LEAVES FOR ENGLAND

(From Our Own Correspondent.) OTTAWA, June 27.—Sir Robert Borden leaves for England this week and will be absent, it is expected, about a month. He will be accompanied by Mr. R. B. Bennett, M. P., of Calgary. It is understood that the Premier will sail from New York about the middle of the week, but no official statement has been made, either as to the date of his departure or with regard to the primary object of his visit. It is known, however, that his presence in England at this time is of importance and the consideration of war problems and kindred questions affecting both the Motherland and the overseas dominions.

GERMANS SEND MORE GUNS TO FRONT

(Special to the Guardian.) LONDON, June 26.—A Central News despatch from Amsterdam says: Several trains loaded with heavy guns have left Essen for the German front on the Buzza River in Poland, where it is believed they will be used in the advance against Warsaw.

TURKS HAVE LOST 143,000 IN GALLIPOLI

(Special to the Guardian.) ATHENS, June 26.—A Hittlyope despatch reports fierce fighting in Gallipoli Peninsula since Tuesday. (Special to the Guardian.) LONDON, June 27.—Naby Bey, Turkish Ambassador to Italy, today went to the Italian Foreign Office and demanded that he be given passports, says a despatch from Rome. No declaration of war between Italy and Turkey has yet been issued by either country.

ANOTHER TRIBUTE TO CANADIANS

(From Our Own Correspondent.) OTTAWA, June 27.—The unshaken confidence of the Germans in the ability to win an ultimate victory, the marvelous efficiency of their fighting machine and the necessity of Canada's straining every nerve and sinew together with her sister dominions overseas if the battle of the Empire is to be won, with their outstanding features, was emphasized in an interview with Col. J. J. Carrick, special representative of the Minister of Militia on General French's staff in France to-day. Col. Carrick was in Ottawa to-day conferring with General Hughes and in a brief talk on conditions at the front as he had seen them he painted a graphic word picture of the scenes which have already furnished a setting for Canada's heroism and gave an insight into the whole situation in the western war theatre. "Our Canadians have undoubtedly opened the eyes of the Old Country people," said Carrick, "and what is more they have inspired in the minds of the French race a keen admiration of their fighting powers. I have met many of the French generals and they paid a tribute to the gallant stand of the Dominion's soldiers whom they consider as possessing even more dash than the British Tommy. England has been wont to rely on the professional soldier as a standard in case of an emergency, but the showing by the Canadians at Langemarck has dispelled the idea that Canadian volunteers, at least, are not to be relied on to rise greatly to a great occasion. During the Langemarck fighting I was with General Alderson himself and secured a general view of the situation. It is no exaggeration to say that the Canadians saved the day for the just expression of the situation. There were no reserves behind them when the Germans broke through, nothing but a clear road to Calais, but when the Teutons exulting over the success of their new weapon, asphyxiating gas, broke through the French lines, they met the Canadians and there they stood."

ANOTHER ISLANDER DIED OF WOUNDS

Mr. Archibald McKinnon of Canoe Cove Has Given His Life for His Country.

Heartfelt sympathy goes out to Mr and Mrs Donald McKinnon, Canoe Cove, in the death of their son, Archibald, who died of wounds on June 19th, in Northern France, a telegram conveying the sad news having been received yesterday. The deceased was reported wounded some weeks ago, but letters since received from him stated that he was recovering rapidly and intended returning shortly to the firing line. It is supposed that he had rejoined his comrades at the front, where he received his death wound. While his death was an honorable one and came to him while in the performance of man's highest duty, the blow to his parents and his relatives is a sore one. The deceased was well known in the employ of Messrs James Paton & Co. He was a man of sterling character and fine physique and was a general favourite. Touching reference to his death was made at last evening's service by Rev. Dr Fullerton, and many expressions of sympathy and regret were heard on all sides. The deceased was a brother of Mr M. C. McKinnon, B.A., who is studying for the Presbyterian ministry. Another brother is at the front.

FITTING HONOUR TO RETIRING JOURNALIST

The Summerside Board of Trade on Friday evening entertained Mr. Hugh McInnis, the late editor of the Journal and Agriculturist, at a smoker in Agricultural Hall. Mr. Charles Hensley, President of the Board, presided, and kept the ball rolling throughout. The attendance was large and altogether the function was a most enjoyable one. The proceedings began with the presentation of an address and a valuable alibi club bag fitted with toilet requisites to the guest of the evening. The address, which was read by Captain Joseph Read, was as follows: Mr. Hugh McInnis, Dear Sir and colleague.—The Summerside Board of Trade has learned with regret of your contemplated removal from our county and desire to thus collectively convey to you our sorrow at losing such a faithful and efficient member and to voice our appreciation of the great services you have given the cause we have been working for—the promotion of the trade and commerce of town and county. As a member of the press you have helped in every way to promote the best interests of the commercial community, which the opportunities of your important position as editor of the Journal and Agriculturist have enabled you to do so effectively. Not only do we recognize the value of your work in promoting the material interests of our people, but in the splendid performance of your moral and civic duties you have made us your debtors to an extent that we cannot repay by mere words. And while we wish to convey to you our appreciation in this way and to assure you that your good wife that you carry with you to your new sphere of labour, wherever that may be, our kindest and best wishes, and hope that the Giver of all good may bless and prosper you both. We would also ask you to accept this small material offering as an earnest of our pleasure, which may be considered as a token of our love and esteem—a reminder of our comradeship. On behalf of the Council and general body of the Summerside Board of Trade we have the honour of subscribing this memorial. Committee, Joseph Read, A. E. Arsenault, Neil McLeod.

URGES RUSSIANS TO REMAIN CALM.

LONDON, June 24.—The Petrograd correspondent of the Daily Mail sends a despatch telling of an official proclamation calling upon Russians to remain calm over the situation, as the day of retribution will come. It is issued by the general staff, and is posted everywhere. It assures the nation that the official despatches that gossip which goes beyond that is attributable to persons who are either timorous or evilly disposed. "The situation ought to become better every day," it says. "With regard to ammunition and the number of men who can be called to the colors still reaches many millions. "It may be some time before Russia assumes a vigorous offensive again," it adds, "but it is quite certain that it will be assumed, with results that will be both crushing and durable. For ten months Russia has borne the chief burden and suffered the greatest losses of the allied cause, and has greatly helped the situation in the west. The time will come when she will emerge from her misfortunes stronger than ever. Meanwhile she confidently looks for her faithful allies to carry the war forward and give Germany no rest."

PIERCE FIGHTING NORTH OF ARRAS

German Attack Repulsed Except at one Point where they Won Trenches.

(Special to the Guardian.) PARIS, June 27.—An official Saturday night communication from the War Office says: North of Arras infantry attacks are reported in progress and continued to-night. Our gains have been wholly maintained. The day was marked by intermittent bombardment, particularly violent in the suburbs of North Arras. On the heights of the Meuse, east of Calonne trench, the Germans delivered an attack, which was repulsed except at one point, where they penetrated one part of the trenches held by two sections. On the rest of the front there is nothing to report except artillery actions.

HOW THE CABOT WENT TO THE BOTTOM

Captain Lintop of the S.S. Cabot, which foundered off the east end of P.E. Island last Thursday night, as reported in Saturday's Guardian, when interviewed on the matter, said: "The ballast tank burst, so that the water ran to the port side and the ship began to list. We started the pumps, but found the water gaining rapidly on us. She was settling fast, and we decided that the steamer must be abandoned. "There was not much time to lose. Quite a breeze was blowing and the sea was pretty rough. We got out the boats, one of them with four men and the second man in charge, the other, in which I was, with eleven men. The ship began to list at ten o'clock at night, and in an hour thereafter we saw her turn over to port and go down. The position was 14 or 15 miles from East Point, P.E. Island. The wind was N.W. and the two boats headed for Cape Breton. All night we kept sailing and till ten o'clock next morning. Then the schooners Nova Zembla came in sight and at the same time the Olive. The Nova Zembla took our boat and its passengers, and the Olive that of the second mate. We had sailed 20 or 25 miles. Captain Lintop said he could give no reason for the bursting of the tank, but he was glad that no lives had been lost. The Cabot was about eight years old and has been in the coal carrying service out of Sydney during almost all of that time. She was one of the smallest boats of the Dominion Coal Company's boats, being of 415 tons gross.
