MR. MCISAAC'S GREAT SPEECH

In Moving Reply to the Address Mr. McIsaac Makes a Hit, and is Congratulated by Prime Minister and Leader of Opposition.

In the House of Commons on Feb. 15, Mr. James McIsaac (King's, P.E.I.) moved:

That an address be presented to His Excellency the Governor General, offering the humble thanks of this House to His Excellency for the gracious speech which he has been pleased to make to both Houses of Parliament.

He said: Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the people of King's, I sincerely thank the Prime Minister for selecting their representative to move the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. Highly as I appreciate the honour thus conferred, I am fully conscious of the importance and responsibility of the task, and I assure you, Mr. Speaker, that I approach it with considerable diffidence and some trepidation of heart. I realize that the mover of the Address in reply to the Speech from the Throne at the opening of the parliamentary session, from one year to another, occupies a unique position; he enjoys much freedom in blazing his own trail and developing, in his own way, the theme of his discourse, and under your wise guidance is, to a very great degree, immune from the danger of transgressing the ordinary rules of Parliamentary debate. He is at liberty indeed to "pursue things undetected yet in prose or rhyme." But this very freedom, this immunity, may constitute his difficulty and his danger. He may, perhaps, incline to too great reliance on the one hand or too great extravagance on the other. It is, therefore, the part of wisdom to adopt a middle course, for, as it is very concisely expressed in the Latin tongue, "medio tutissimus ibis."

Mr. Speaker, before referring to any of the important matters contained in the Speech from the Throne, I desire to tender my cordial congratulations to the right honourable leader of the House on his elevation to the important, exalted and honourable position of leader of the Government, and Prime Minister of the nation. The office of Prime Minister of Canada at any time requires talents and statesmanship of the very highest order; but at the present time, when so many onerous, difficult and intricate public questions present themselves, the need for intellectuality, wisdom and prudence is accentuated. These qualities, I believe, our Prime Minister amply possesses. In this connection I cannot refrain from giving expression to a thought that presses upon my mind, I wish to pay my profound tribute of respect and admiration for the right hon. gentleman (Sir Robert Borden) who led the Government of Canada safely and well through the dark and never-to-be-forgotten days of the world's tragedy, and who for our sakes, by his devotion to duty and self-sacrifice, for the exaltation of his country, has become a casualty of the war.

In the speech from the Throne it is stated:

On your return to your Parliamentary duties, I am glad to be able to congratulate you on the relative prosperity of the country and its comparative freedom from the feeling of unrest which has agitated countries not so fortunately situated. Following the conditions of expansion due to the war, a period of contraction was inevitable. Restriction of credit involving a certain limitation of production and business has been universal, but this Dominion has been less affected than other countries, and a feeling of confidence prevails. A general reduction of the cost of living has set in, and the country, save in certain limited areas, has been blessed with a bountiful harvest.

Mr. Speaker, a moment ago I referred to Canada's transportation development. I instanced the fact that she had her own steamships on all trade routes of the seas. According to population, she leads all countries in transportation facilities, having one mile of railway for every 218 persons. Our nearest competitor is the United States, and that country has only one mile of railway for over 404 inhabitants. The transition period has set in, and the trend towards contraction is inevitable, but in this, as in other respects, we may confidently hope that Canada will be less affected than other countries, and that she will proceed by gradual steps towards a normal and permanent basis.

Mr. Speaker, a moment ago I referred to Canada's transportation development. I instanced the fact that she had her own steamships on all trade routes of the seas. I wish to develop this point a little more. We who have been brought up by the sounding sea and whose ears have been early attuned to the thunder of its surge, are perhaps somewhat like Byron's Child Harold—we love the ocean and find music in its roar. To turn from the sea and speak of the ships that sail thereon is simple and natural. I wish to refer to the Canadian Government Merchant Marine. This enterprise was inaugurated by the Government under the immediate direction of the Hon. Minister of Marine (Mr. Ballantyne) during the war period, when it was very difficult, if not impossible, to procure ships to connect with our railways in order to transport our products abroad. The enterprise had scarcely been started when it was confronted with a serious handicap. Steel shapes and plates for these ships had to come from American firms, and were supplied only when it suited the manufacturers. This caused long and annoying delays in the construction of Canadian steamships. To overcome this difficulty the Government of Canada, through the Minister of Marine, entered into an arrangement with the Dominion Iron and Steel Company, at Sydney, Cape Breton, to establish a rolling-mill plant, with a capacity of 50,000 square feet of plate per day. In consequence of this arrangement, the building of the ships of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine was rapidly advanced, and now a great fleet of splendid Canadian ships, built from Canadian material, by Canadian workmen, in Canadian yards, and manned by Canadian officers and men, sail the seas of the world, and some of them have already circumnavigated the globe.

These great argosies bear away to our antipodes cousins under the Southern Cross; to the distant East and to all corners of the civilized world, Canada's natural and manufactured products. Each one of these ships has incorporated as an affix to its name the word "Canadian," and all fly the white Canadian ensign. Apart altogether, Mr. Speaker, from the splendid part they play in Canadian transportation service, they constitute the grandest and most widely extended advertisement for Canada that could be conceived. Surely, Mr. Speaker, this is a national transportation enterprise for which the Government and the Minister of Marine deserve the sincere thanks of all Canadians. The speech from the throne refers to the matter of tariff revision as follows:

My advisers are convinced of the necessity for revision of the Customs tariff. In order to secure the most complete information a Committee has conducted an extensive and thorough inquiry, and has secured the views of all parties and interests in every Province. The hearings necessary for this purpose have now been completed and the conclusions founded thereon will be submitted to you in due course. It is the opinion of my advisers that in such revision regard must be had to the necessities of revenue and as well that the principle of protection to Canadian labour and legitimate Canadian industries, including agriculture, which has prevailed for more than forty years in this country, must be consistently maintained; but that the Customs duties imposed to that end should be no higher than is essential to ensure good standards of living among our working population and to retain and make possible the normal expansion of the industry in which the find employment.

Mr. Speaker, the declaration set forth in this paragraph of the Speech indicates quite clearly the intention of the Government in relation to the tariff. "A customs tariff such as we have in this country of necessity requires revision from time to time. Changes in trade conditions, the springing up of new industrial centres, and many other circumstances, of their very nature render such adjustment imperative. In order to have a tariff established on an accurate and scientific basis, revision, following investigation, is necessary. The Government, therefore, acted wisely in appointing a cabinet committee to secure information all over the country. The revised tariff, which will be presented during the session as stated in the Speech, will be based on the principles of the national policy, having for its essential qualities the

Mrs. Henneberry Says Tanlac Has Restored Her To Perfect Health After Years Of Suffering.

"Tanlac is far ahead of any medicine I ever saw or heard of," said Mrs. John Henneberry, 84, Passmore, N. S., who is 84 years of age. "At the time I began taking the medicine I had suffered from indigestion for several years and was in a badly run down condition. I was so weak I couldn't walk but a very short distance without being almost completely out of breath, and could hardly get my backwork. Everything I ate seemed to collect in a lump, like lead, right in the pit of my stomach. One would form and block me until I could hardly get my breath, and I suffered terribly from heartburn. I had no appetite at all and was tired when I went to bed and tired when I got up in the morning.

"Well, my husband got started on Tanlac, and as it didn't do me much good, I decided to try some. I got a box of Tanlac, and as I took the first dose, I felt a little better.
