The following message was received at Government House from the Lt. Governor of Newfoundland, the Hon. A. J. Walsh:

Saint John's, Nfld., April 2 Hon. J.A. Bernard, Lt. Governor, P.E.I., Charlottetown.

Teen-Town Topics

Teen Town's first night went off with a tremendous success. It was held at the Y. M. C. A., and the whole building was open to the teenagers of Charlottetown.

There were movies, ping-pong, games and dancing for everyone. Also a canteen which was really kept busy. Everyone had a good time and it is hoped to see them all again next Saturday night.

The first movie was at 8:30 p.m. and lasted until about 9 o'clock, this was shown by Minnie MacKenzie and Ralph MacPherson.

The second one was shown at 9:30 p.m. by Jill MacKay and Olive Cudmore. Each time the movie room was packed to capacity. The movies were "Hot Ice" and a singing "The More We Get Together" which were both shown each time.

The dancing was opened by Les Brown's popular theme song "Leap Frog." A Snow Ball dance was started by the Associate President Jill MacKay and President Don Callbeck, which went off very smoothly with Tommy Dorsey's Opus No. 1.

A Spot Dance was also held, which the winners were Phyllis Tait and Sonny Soper, prizes were presented to them by Secretary Minnie MacKenzie and Treasurer Jack McAndrew.

The Door Prize was won by Miss June Jenkins from Summerside and Kenneth Arsenault from Charlottetown. The prizes were a box of chocolates each. These were very kindly donated by Dr. E. S. Giddings. The prizes were presented by Jill MacKay and Don Callbeck.

Summerside was welcomed to Teen Town by all, and it is hoped they enjoyed themselves very much and will be with Teen Town again soon.

The dancing was closed with Duke Ellington's famous "Sollitude." The dancing was over at 11:30, and everyone was out and home around twelve o'clock.

Teen Town's committee hopes that they will see everyone again April 9th. Try the Terrific Teen Town Tussle. A gala evening for everyone is guaranteed.

Claims Many U.S. Bombs Were Duds

BERLIN, April 3 — (AP) — A German expert claimed today that hundreds of bombs dropped by United States planes on Berlin during the war failed to explode because they apparently were sabotaged in United States war plants.

Werner Stephan, 32-year-old demolition engineer, said he personally had found 125 American duds which showed evidence of sabotage inside the workings. Some of his men employed in digging up duds in the ruins of the smashed city have found just as many, he said.

Maj.-Gen. W. E. Hall, a United States Air Force officer and now chief of American intelligence in Germany, said he knew "nothing about it," but the Air Corps certainly is interested in finding out just how such sabotage could occur.

Air Force headquarters at Wiesbaden said one of its experts had exploded between 5,000 and 7,000 duds at Wright Field, Ohio. Defective fuses were found in all of them, the headquarters said, but sabotage was not involved. The fault in manufacture has been corrected.

Stephen who has been detonating dud bombs in Berlin since the war broke out estimates it will take 30 years to dig up all the unexploded bombs beneath the ruined buildings.

When the dud bombs first were found, at the height of the Allied bombing attacks in 1944, Stephen said he was so impressed he made a special report to the Reich Security police. He said he was told: "Don't bother about that, we have plenty of friends overseas."

Saturday all 12 pact powers, speaking for the first time with a single voice, coldly accused Russia of misinterpreting the "nature and intent" of their projected alliance.

A formal statement issued here on the authority of the 12 foreign ministers virtually charged Russia with deliberately distorting the purposes of the treaty, Moscow, in a note Thursday, called it an aggressive move against the Soviet Union.

The Western statement was a complete and sweeping rejection of the Soviet note. "The pact," it said, "is not directed against any nation or group of nations but only against armed aggression."

In their Saturday meeting the foreign ministers of Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, Iceland, Italy, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, the United Kingdom and the United States secretary of state also took two other actions. An official communique reported them as follows: 1. They "formally approved" the text of the 20-year treaty.

2. They decided that an Atlantic council provided for in the treaty should be "composed of foreign ministers or other representatives

Seek Giant Fish In Ocean Depths

AUCKLAND, N.Z., March 31 — (CP) — The possibility that some gigantic species of fish as yet unknown to man lurk in the great ocean depths is among the questions which will be investigated by a Danish deep sea expedition which will tour the world between 1950 and 1952.

Dr. Aron Bruun, leader of the expedition, recently interviewed scientists from other countries during the Pacific Science Congress in New Zealand with a view to enlisting the assistance of leading experts in oceanography to take part in the expedition.

No one yet knew what types of marine life inhabited the oceans at depths of four miles and over. Dr. Bruun declared in an address in Auckland, using 45,000 feet of wire rope the Danish expedition would attempt to plumb all the great depths, including that east of Mindanao, in the Philippines, where depths of more than 30,000 feet have been recorded.

The expedition is being financed by novel means. Scientists supporting the plan have obtained from Danish friends in Britain and the United States gifts of 8,000,000 cigarettes and permission was obtained from the Danish minister of finance to sell them to raise funds. Cigarettes have been selling for as much as $2 for 20 on the black market in Denmark, but the expedition's supporters sold their supplies at from $1 to $1.20.

New Drug Only Hope For Girl With Rare Malady

ATLANTA, Ga., April 3 — (AP) — An attractive, 16-year-old girl had relaxed almost to death here today.

And there was for Gloria Wilbanks, onetime high school athlete, but one hope—a new and scantily-tested drug in the chemical hormone group.

It was 18 months ago that Gloria was stricken with the rare and mysterious disease, myasthenia gravis.

The chemicals in her body which cause muscular function began to disappear, said her doctor who asked for anonymity.

"It strikes the eyes first," he continued, "the lids begin to droop, then swallowing becomes impossible and finally it attacks the respiratory system."

All the known drugs which have been successful in mild cases, said the doctor, have been tried without much success.

"Her reaction to these," he reported, "has been just enough to keep her alive."

Last Feb. 14 Gloria was put in an iron lung. She is being fed intravenously.

The new drug has not yet arrived, said the doctor, but advised against holding out much hope for its success. The drug is known only as "atch."

But Gloria insists "I am going to get well."

Her voice is something less than a whisper and there is only the faintest suggestion of a smile. The smile muscles are relaxing, too.

The plan — which will follow the Atlantic treaty to Capitol Hill — would call for a total of about $1,260,000,000 the first year. In addition, another $600,000,000 would be set up for arms to other non-Communist countries.

Secretary Acheson contends that the treaty itself makes no commitment on the United States to furnish arms to Europe.

In spite of this, diplomats agree that the people of Western Europe confidently expect that United States arms will begin to flow to the Atlantic pact countries within a few weeks after the treaty goes into force.

Russian Reaction Awaited Diplomats here are by no means in agreement on what Russia's reaction to the new Western set-up will be. Some believe the Kremlin may content itself with words — the kind of denunciations of the pact which it has been hurling over the Moscow radio for the past three months.

The Russians may act on another front. The formal note which they delivered to the main Atlantic treaty powers last week — and which the powers jointly rejected Saturday — may have been not only a propaganda manoeuvre but also a way of legally stating their position.

This position is that the treaty is aggressively directed at Russia, is a violation of the UN charter, and is in contradiction with Russia's treaties with Britain and France.

If this is a basis of legal position for Russia, the Soviets may take at least two steps in the strictly diplomatic field; they may withdraw or threaten to withdraw from the United Nations; and they may denounce their non-aggression treaties with France and Britain.

No responsible official here appears to believe that the Soviets will risk war with the west at this time.

Cold Reply To Russia Saturday all 12 pact powers, speaking for the first time with a single voice, coldly accused Russia of misinterpreting the "nature and intent" of their projected alliance.

A formal statement issued here on the authority of the 12 foreign ministers virtually charged Russia with deliberately distorting the purposes of the treaty, Moscow, in a note Thursday, called it an aggressive move against the Soviet Union.

The Western statement was a complete and sweeping rejection of the Soviet note. "The pact," it said, "is not directed against any nation or group of nations but only against armed aggression."

In their Saturday meeting the foreign ministers of Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, Iceland, Italy, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, the United Kingdom and the United States secretary of state also took two other actions. An official communique reported them as follows: 1. They "formally approved" the text of the 20-year treaty.

Historical Scenes Accurately Painted

TORONTO, March 31 — (CP) — Generations of Canadians have learned the history of their land through the meticulously-composed paintings of John David Kelly who, at 86, is one of Canada's oldest historical painters.

Kelly did his first painting at the urging of his father, John Kelly, an Ulster farmer in Canada who taught his children a love of art and history. Since then Kelly has travelled across the country twice gathering impressions for his paintings.

Most of his work is known by Canadians as calendar painting. He is now composing his 20th major picture of Canadian history — an incident in the travels of Radisson and Groselliers, Canadian fur traders and explorers.

A perfectionist, Kelly may take as much as a year on historical paintings, checking details of dress and background through his own historical library and Dominion archives. Every detail of scene, persons and equipment must be correct.
