Bomb Tests Question For Control Board

By ELTON C. FAY WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—A new and ticklish job facing the Atomic Energy Commission is deciding whether there will be further tests of the A-bomb and whether they should be public or secret.

Experts connected with military use of atomic energy today said virtually all policy questions are in abeyance pending action by the Atomic Energy Commission, a civilian organization whose appointment was authorized by the last Congress.

That body will have overall control of military development of atomic energy, working with the Army, Navy and Manhattan District—the military term for the project—through a military liaison committee.

Among army and navy officials there is a growing belief that the tests of the A-bomb—done at least in public—has been made; that the recently announced decision by the Atomic Energy Commission to indefinitely postpone the third trial of the bomb at Bikini will amount to cancellation.

Several reasons for this belief, among them the official statement that a great mass of technical information had been obtained from the five bombs already detonated. But they also emphasize the diplomatic communication suggesting that it is unlikely further tests will be conducted until it is set up or the international situation deteriorates to the point where war becomes a definite threat.

Opines Moscow Has Abandoned Hope Of Loan

(By John A. Scall) WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—Russia's failure to answer a series of questions which has convinced some United States officials that Moscow has abandoned hope of obtaining a requested $100,000,000 loan—at least for a year.

Noting Moscow's three-month-old silence, these experts told a reporter today they regarded the subject as virtually closed. They said they believe that Moscow has abandoned hope of receiving the loan rather than discuss some of the topics the United States insists on in the loan talks.

In all three of its notes, the first sent out last January, the American Government has notified Russia of its desire to talk over general economic conditions in the Balkans.

Russia, in effect, has replied that it considers such conversations irrelevant. A possible solution to the impasse may be reached at Paris during the peace conference, officials believe, said the secretary of State.

Foreign Minister Molotov reached an understanding on trade talks in the Bratislava session. It is felt a way may be found to re-open the loan talks.

The United States particularly has objected to the Soviet's exclusive five-year treaty of economic collaboration with Romania. The Balkan negotiations to change this treaty are being held in the Danube.

Mrs. Kelly, who has a two-year-old daughter, Marcell, arrived back in Australia exactly a year after she left.

Private John Kelly, who has been in the United States for a year, is now in Australia. He is a friendly and I made many friends here, she said.

"I am glad to be home now," she said. "I had a very difficult time in the States. I was very lonely and I missed my friends very much."

"The housing shortage in America was more pronounced than in Brisbane."

"Even the food was different from ours," she said. "It was either sweet and sticky or highly flavoured. I couldn't accustom myself to it and I longed for some plain food."

"And greater than all these differences was the high cost of food and clothing."

"Only the rich can be comfortable in America," says Mrs. Kelly.

34 Additional Exports Are Listed

OTTAWA, Sept. 23 (CP)—The Trade Department Saturday made public a list of 34 additional Canadian products which now may be exported to the United Kingdom under the token shipment program inaugurated by Britain earlier this year.

These products, which now may be shipped to Britain in limited quantities, include: umbrellas; golf clubs; garden and farm tools; aluminum cooking utensils; metal staples, bolts, and nuts of all kinds; rivets of iron and steel; photographic plates; photographic paper; and clockwork toys.

Other items on the list are: rubber bathing caps; wooden spring blinds or shade rollers; steel buttons; sporting cartridges; and sporting equipment.

Details of the procedure to be followed in obtaining a token quota are obtainable from the British Consulate in Ottawa.

The list now has been increased by the addition of other products which Britain continues to classify as non-essential in terms of its austerity post-war program.

Officials here said other commodities were expected to be added from time to time.

These token shipments will enable Canadian exporters who have built up pre-war trade connections in Britain to keep at least limited supply of their products on the British market.

Wins Approval of High Official

By Jack Williams WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 23 (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada today declared its independence of control by the American Federation of Labor and its immediate approval of a top A.F.L. official.

Relations of the Canadian and American labor organizations—rated as one of the most important subjects to come before the 11th A.F.L.-C.I.O. convention—were clarified through adoption of a resolution which went through with a brief discussion and only minor opposition.

Matthew Wolf, A.F.L. vice-president, who is attending the convention as a special delegate, spoke a short time later. He attributed differences between the two groups to misunderstandings and suggested establishment of a joint A.F.L.-C.I.O. committee to further co-operation between the two bodies.

The convention spent most of the day considering officers to be elected and a trade union action by the executive since the last convention two years ago. Political action was the subject of a long discussion and the convention went on record favoring non-partisan committees organized to study legislation to further translation into legislation of policies supported by the congress.

Will Discuss N.B. Potato Crop

ANDOVER, N.B., Sept. 23 (CP)—Marketing of New Brunswick's 1946 potato crop will be discussed at a public meeting of farmers and shippers here Monday night, who Agriculture Minister, A. C. Taylor is expected to explain the progress made towards obtaining a floor price for the product.

Price of No. 1 table potatoes has declined from 32 to 31 1/2 a barrel in the past month, or below the cost of production, and shippers said it might go lower as a result of a large crop and increased foreign demand.

Table potatoes were said to have a floor price equivalent to about 32-34 per barrel, or higher than the New Brunswick selling price.

Newsprint Usage Ahead Current Supply

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP)—Newsprint usage in the United States is running ahead of current supply despite high levels of output from Canada, and has resulted in a decline of publishers' stocks to their lowest recorded levels, the American Newspaper Publishers Association reported today.

The A.N.P.A. summary of the newspaper supply released following a two-day meeting of a special committee of U. S. newspaper publishers and Canadian newspaper manufacturers at which general factors affecting future newspaper supply and indications of long-term demand were examined.

Publishers said extensive expansion in newsprint requirements here. A similar upward trend in demand in other markets dependent on Canada also was noted.

The report said Canada would supply an estimated maximum of 3,250,000 tons of newsprint to the United States in 1946. That total includes 1,588,000 tons supplied during the first half of the year and an estimated 1,700,000 tons to be supplied in the final six months.

Because of gradual improvement of Canadian production during the last several months, current Canadian supply to the United States was over 3,400,000 tons a year—the highest level in history—the report said.

It added, however, that the increase in supplies from Canada has been offset largely by a decline in U. S. newsprint production, elimination of shipments from Europe and the requirements of new users. It was estimated that for individual publishers the increase in supply does not average more than one per cent over 1945 figure.

Discussion of possible expansion of Canadian production indicated that some improvement may be possible through more intensive cooperation between mills and publishers in the matter of trims.

It also was estimated that over a period of two or three years mechanical improvements to Canadian mills could increase productive capacity by at least 350,000 tons annually if financial returns and stability of demand would justify large capital expenditures in new machinery.

Petroleum Output Shows Increase

OTTAWA, Sept. 23 (CP)—Output of refined petroleum products in Canada during the first half of 1946, compared with 5,656,582 barrels in the corresponding month of last year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

The total included 2,821,135 barrels of gasoline, 1,278,147 barrels of heavy fuel oil, 887,537 barrels of light fuel oil, 221,117 barrels of kerosene and stove oil, 170,231 barrels of tractor diesel oil, 40,282 barrels of naphtha special, and 64,743 barrels of other refinery products, such as lubricating oils, asphalt, coke, etc.
