ATTENDED Y'S MEN'S INTERNATIONAL — At a meeting of the Charlottetown Y's Men's Club last month was given by the local Club's official representative to the convention, Mr. A. J. Haslam. Nearly three hundred delegates from many countries, including China, Hongkong and Peru, were in attendance. Most of the time of the convention was devoted to considering three major projects of the Association, namely, Boy's Work, Young Men's Work, and World Outlook. Prominent speakers included Dr. Emery Lucock, of the First Presbyterian Church, Evanston, Ill., formerly of Shanghai, China, Mr. Wayne Hanson, former secretary for the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A., J. W. Barker, vice president of Sears, Roebuck and Company, Immediate Past President, James Betts and International President John L. Madden, who at the international luncheon stressed as the fundamental objective of the Association, the resolve, yet voluntary joining of the Y's Men to promote "diligently, actively and collectively" every phase of the Y. M. C. A. programs. Mr. Haslam was impressed by the keen interest shown in the movement by many prominent business men, and by the fact that Y'sdom International is one of the finest social service organizations in existence. Reg. Dunning, Ernest Nichols and Buriel Taylor were present as guests. Last night, Hazen Wigmore presided and O. K. Proby was pianist for the evening. Harold Bohaker's duties as a parent were recognized by the gift of a baby spoon.

Protestant Orphanage Review

Several months have passed since any details of the work being done in the Orphanage have appeared in the press, not because of lack of information but rather the startling world events of recent months. The general routine in the home has been skillfully followed, with the number of children in our care varying but slightly. The Adoption Committee has been very busy with the large number of problems, endeavoring always to adjust them in the best interest of the child.

Finances just now are our most serious problem; ordinary receipts have dropped considerably as compared with other years and to maintain the proper standard of living, demands an average monthly expenditure that soon exhausts available funds. In order to help this work, the City Auxiliary is holding their annual Rummage Sale on October 6th; they hope it will be well patronized both by generous contributors and purchasers. The advertising of this will appear shortly.

Please remember that a general request for funds is only sent out once during each year so we must depend on that collection to carry over to the following year, right now the Y's Men are making several large expenditures including coal are yet to be met. During the summer the main roof of the building has to be shingled on both sides and all windows re-glazed and sashes painted. These are some of the bills that await us and along with them we must be prepared for increases in cost of supplies due to rapidly rising prices of many necessities.

At the meeting of the trustees in the Orphanage on Tuesday last there was considerable discussion of ways and means to cope with the situation; it was felt that if the ever generous public were made aware of the facts they would again meet the emergency with increases in contributions sufficient to allow the child welfare work to carry on successfully.

At this same meeting it was also decided to hold our Annual Fall Collection in October this year; press notice will therefore be appearing soon. The exact date will be arranged to avoid as far as possible conflicting with other worthy causes. The future of the Orphanage hinges on the result of this collection; if it falls down the work must be decreased in like proportion, but we cannot believe that those who have so faithfully stood by us in the past will permit failure now. If each contributor would only add a few cents, the total would soon make up sufficient to meet the extra demand.

We are endeavoring to protect and preserve the lives of these children that they may be useful citizens in the world of tomorrow and many that would be one in which liberty and truth abound. Uncertainty clouds the world at present but through it, we believe right will again emerge to rule and these children for whom we labor and sacrifice much will be ready to meet the new day. We count on your help.

Great War Vets In Province Are Ready For Service

The National Veterans Survey in Prince Edward Island discloses that there are approximately 600 ex-service men willing and capable to serve Canada during the present European war according to Mr. Bruce Wonnacott Secretary of the Charlottetown Branch of the Canadian Legion.

The purpose of this survey was to have a list of returned men ready for service in Canada in an emergency in the capacity of guarding certain vulnerable places on the island such as the Car Ferry terminal at Borden, Hydro-works, oil tanks etc.

Although the present list of 600 men is being swelled from day to day there is at present only one ex-service man doing guard duty. It is reported that the National Service Committee may in the near future demand that all places of public importance be placed under guard.

On Sept. 15, the total registration of National Veterans was 63,810, an increase of approximately 5,000 from the end of August. Registration by Provinces was: British Columbia, 6,963; Alberta, 3,956; Saskatchewan, 8,206; Manitoba, 4,241; Ontario, 28,033; Quebec, 10,347; New Brunswick, 3,357; Nova Scotia, 3,277; Prince Edward Island, 437 (now Sept. 22 approximately 600).

Asked about his opinion on the war Mr. Wonnacott replied that he thought "we were in for a long war as the conflict seemed to be successfully."

At this same meeting it was also decided to hold our Annual Fall Collection in October this year; press notice will therefore be appearing soon. The exact date will be arranged to avoid as far as possible conflicting with other worthy causes. The future of the Orphanage hinges on the result of this collection; if it falls down the work must be decreased in like proportion, but we cannot believe that those who have so faithfully stood by us in the past will permit failure now. To Study For Priesthood

Mr. John Ostway of this city left yesterday for Brockville, Ontario where he enters the Jesuit College to study for the Roman Catholic priesthood. Wednesday night the young man, who has been altar boy at St. Dunstan's Basilica was waited on by the remainder of the group and presented with a gift. An address was read by Frank Buller and the veneration made by Bert Steele. Rev. Tom's Dougan, who has charge of the altar boys in a brief address congratulated the young man on his choice of vocation.

DRY WEATHER CONTINUES

Weather in Prince Edward Island was dry in Prince Edward Island. A. Burns, weather observer at the Charlottetown Experimental Station said last night. Farmers were prevented from plowing on account of the lack of moisture. At the experimental station a hole four feet deep was dug and only dry soil found. "The clay pulverized into dust at the touch. Frost had been reported from many sections of the Province, the weather observer said, but the temperature had not dropped to freezing at the Charlottetown Station. Damage from frost had been very slight, he believed, and was only experienced in small areas on low sections. Potato crops which were still green had not been damaged to any extent, it was learned.

Reception Held At Sudbury

Of interest to friends in New Glasgow and Charlottetown was a pre-nuptial supper at Sudbury, Ont., on Saturday evening last, when Marguerite Clark, George W. Clark of New Glasgow, N. S. and Bruce Riggs of Charlottetown P. E. I. were the principals in a wedding reception at the King Edward Hotel.

The bride-to-be received in a charming gown of grape-colored translucent velvet, that fell in flowing lines to the tips of her golden slippers. Her gloves of elbow-length matched her gown, while her hat, also a grape-colored translucent velvet, was in braided effect. She wore a corsage of Tallman roses and lilies-of-the-valley, while the bridesmaid-to-be, Mrs. Dan Barton, also in a flowing transparent velvet gown with black and silver accessories, wore a corsage of Johanna Hill roses and pom-pom mums.

Mrs. Clark for the occasion wore a diamond dimmer ring, a gift of the groom-to-be.

Some 15 guests surrounded the long table, centred with gladioli and mums. Toasts were proposed by Mr. J. Cliff and Mr. Ken Carleton.

The nuptial party left for Toronto where the wedding was scheduled to take place and were to proceed from there to Niagara Falls on a honeymoon. Mr. Riggs was formerly an employee of the Guardian.
