"Virgin Lips"

At The Capitol

Conditions in Central America with bandit raids on American mining and oil interests; if the fate of girls lured into this country by unscrupulous agencies on the promise of theatrical engagements, or if the good will visit of an American aviator to a Central American Republic interest you, you will enjoy "Virgin Lips" at the Capitol Theatre.

It is one of the most timely and up-to-the-minute pictures on the screen today. The theme lends itself to dramatic values and supplies plenty of thrills to keep the audience on the qui vive. There are massive sets in native places, exciting minutes in the air as aviation stunts hold the attention. In the El Diablo, where anything goes, there is red-blooded action and passionate love. The action runs the gamut of tense drama of a sort that grips the audience and refuses to let it go.

Olive Borden has the role of a stage-struck girl, lured to San Puerto and made a prisoner in the El Diablo. She is forced to accept the advances of repulsive patrons and the rebel leader, a role assumed by Richard Alexandre. John Boles delineates the fearless aviator and among other things participates with Alexandre Gill in one of the most daring airplane crashes ever brought to the screen.

The girl and the aviator meet at the El Diablo and march their wits against the rebel hordes. Each role requires skillful handling and Columbia has picked an excellent cast, including Marshall Ruth, Ernie Veo, Harry Semels, Arline Pretty and William Tooker.

The production was made under the capable direction of Elmer Clifton, who has worked every scene for all it is worth and introduced a number of human interest touches which makes the picture throbb with realism.

Annual Meeting

In either undertaking. The directors had met and had carefully studied the situation. They had been made an offer of $30,000 for the Queen Hotel and furnishings, plus extra money for the supplies on hand, by Mr. H. C. Brown, late manager of the Hotel Victoria. They were of the opinion that Mr. Brown had made a fair offer and that he had given a management to it that had been satisfactory to the hotel public and to our citizens generally. They believed that Mr. Brown would also have a good proposition in the Queen Hotel, one that should be a money maker for him and Mrs. Brown, and that, of course, every shareholder would be pleased to see accomplished. On the other hand, he was confident that the Queen Hotel, if carried on, would be a good proposition for the company. The directors were going to leave the matter entirely to the meeting; they were simply going to state the facts and let the shareholders themselves make the decision.

The meeting then resolved itself into private discussions among the shareholders, and quite a number of questions were asked. After considerable time taken up in this manner Mr. B. W. LePage, M.L.A., moved that the company sell the Queen Hotel to Mr. H. C. Brown and that the business of the company be wound up and the assets distributed.

Mr. W.S. Grant seconded the motion. He could not see how any shareholder could be dissatisfied with the way the affairs had been handled. He said that Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Brown were a valuable asset to this community and that by selling the Queen Hotel to them we would be retaining them here; they would conduct a good hotel and it would be to the benefit of citizens and travelling public alike.

The president then asked for other expressions of opinion. Mr. Thomas White said he did not see why the company should continue in the hotel business. We had gone in simply to save the situation. At the time it looked as though the hotel would be closed up. Now we had an opportunity of closing out and he thought we should take it. Mr. J. J. MacKinnon said there was a time to buy and a time to sell. He thought that this was the time to sell. He considered that the company would be well advised to get clear of the Queen Hotel, considering that the Canadian National Railways are considering the building of a large new modern hotel which would probably affect very adversely the present hotel.

Mr. Nelson Rattenbury supported Mr. LePage's motion and said that probably the fact that the present company, which was composed of leading citizens, was going out of business and selling its property, would have the effect of strengthening the agitation in favor of the C. N. R. building an hotel here.

The secretary, Col. MacKinnon and President Rogers said that as two of the largest shareholders they were strong boosters for the Canadian National Hotel. They believed it would be a wonderful thing for Charlottetown, and no effort should be spared to bring it here. It would make no difference in their feelings in that regard if the shareholders decided to continue the Queen Hotel. They would, even in that case, be just as anxious to have the Canadian National Hotel established here. That was a case of serving the community where there was a real need. We could not be expected to cope with the traffic in the future unless a new hotel were built here.

Mr. Rogers was not of the opinion, however, that the establishment of a C. N. R. Hotel at Charlottetown would mean financial loss in any great measure for the Queen Hotel. The Canadian National would bring a large number of people of greater means to this Province. There would also continue to be a great number of people to whom the higher priced hotel would not appeal. These visitors could be accommodated at the Queen Hotel and other hotels here, and all would benefit by the better traffic arrangements that would come into effect as a result of the new hotel.

The discussion as to the future of the company having been carried on for over half an hour, the president put Mr. LePage's motion to a vote regarding the selling of the Queen Hotel and the winding up of the company. The motion was carried unanimously.

Shareholder J. J. Johnston, K. C., was then called upon to explain the proper procedure now that the above voted had been taken. Mr. Johnston said that a notice of a general meeting of the shareholders for the purpose of winding up the affairs of the company must be published in the Royal Gazette for two weeks, also a notice in the local papers of the duration required by the company's by-laws; and that a two-third vote of the shares of the company would be necessary at the meeting so called. A liquidator would then be appointed.

President Rogers then explained the business of the company had been disposed of but that it would be necessary to re-elect directors to carry on until the winding up meeting was held and a liquidator was appointed. It was moved by Mr. T.B. Woodman, seconded by Mr. Nelson Rattenbury, that the old board of directors be re-elected and that the secretary be instructed to cast one ballot. This was done, and the meeting adjourned.

A meeting of the directors was held immediately after, and the following officers were appointed:

President—Mr. W. K. Rogers.
1st. Vice Pres.—Mr. S.A. MacLeod.
2nd. Vice Pres.—Mr. G. D. Wright.
Director—Mr. T. W. L. Prowse.
Sec. Treas.—Leut. Col. D. A. Mac-

ed, who would sell the assets of the company and distribute them to the shareholders.

Mr. J. A. Webster at this point said it seemed to him that the meeting should express in some tangible way its appreciation of the excellent services that the directors have given to its affairs for a long term of years. This was concurred in by Mr. G. M. Moore and others. Mr. Rogers replied that he positively would not accept any remuneration. He thanked the shareholders for the offer, and stated that, in his opinion Col. D. A. MacKinnon should receive the most credit for his part in handling the finances. He had given a large amount of time and energy to its affairs and his ability had meant a great deal towards its success.

Vice President S. A. MacLeod also thanked the shareholders for their kind words, and stated that he would not accept any salary. He was very glad to have been able to help the community in this regard, and that was sufficient reward.

Mr. G. D. Wright spoke of the very pleasant relations he had had with his fellow directors during the many years they were associated together. He also stated that he would not be in favor of any monetary compensation.

Mr. T. W. L. Prowse, who has been a director for the past few years following the death of his lamented father, the late Lemuel E. Prowse, said that he had enjoyed attending the meetings of the directors and had found the company excellently conducted. He considered that the thanks of the meeting was sufficient recompense for what he had done, and he would not consider accepting any money.

The secretary, Colonel MacKinnon, stated that nearly ten years ago he and Colonel Prowse sold the stock in the company. It was a tougher job than fighting the Germans! At one time it looked as though they could not possibly make the grade. They both went home exhausted and discouraged on Friday evening, having made upwards of twenty calls without selling a single share. Then a bright idea struck the speaker of guaranteeing the stock. Meeting his friend, Colonel Prowse, on Monday morning, he informed him of it. In the course of the next ten days they had disposed of about $20,000 worth, made the proposition to a mortgagee for the balance, and the company was started on its way. For a few years the profits were all eaten up in improvements, and it was impossible to pay dividends. "A lot of the guaranteed stock drifted back to my hands," said the Colonel, "and I had to finance it through the Bank of Nova Scotia." He explained that when he had sold the stock he did so with a feeling of moral responsibility to the shareholders, and that he was proud tonight to be able to stand before them, after having given ten years of hard work and effort to the company, to know that they were satisfied and that the affairs had been honestly and faithfully managed. It had been a great success; that was reward sufficient for him. The Colonel said he felt quite sure that no director would accept a cent of remuneration for their services, but that if the shareholders felt like giving some inexpensive souvenir, no doubt it would be a prized recollection of duty well done and appreciated.

Col. MacKinnon then explained that there had been a large number of claims made by employees for loss of clothing, etc., in the Victoria Hotel fire. He said the directors were very sympathetic towards these claims. Although they understood the company is not legally bound to pay anything, they felt that it would be a nice thing for the shareholders at this meeting to vote a sum of money to be paid to each employee as a present. Various questions were asked as to the employees who lived in the hotel and those who resided outside, and explanations were made by the former manager, Mr. Brown. Mr. J. P. Gordon then moved, seconded by Mr. L. D. Murray, that a sum sufficient be paid out of the funds of the company so that each employee resident within the hotel at the time of the fire would receive $35 and those residing outside the hotel, $15. The motion was carried.

MONTHLY MEETING S' SIDE TOWN COUNCIL

The regular monthly meeting of the Summerside Town Council, held last night, with the Mayor presiding and a full Council Board, was attended by a large number of citizens who gathered to hear a full statement of the electric light situation, from the Council's viewpoint. This statement, which was submitted by Councillor Schurman, Chairman of the Light and Power Committee, was quite a lengthy document of which the following is a synopsis:—

Last night offering any encouragement to the Maritime Electric Company, to take over the plant at Summerside and to check up the accounts of users and later to interview the Council and citizens with a view to the acquisition by them of the town's electric lighting system. This had brought about some unrest and effort on the part of several other would-be purchasers to procure the plant and system. Rumors got into circulation that the town's lighting system was a liability rather than asset and not worth anything like what it cost the citizens, whereas, beyond the shadow of a doubt, this plant, with its increased business, is actually worth more money than it cost and is a money maker. This is one reason why so many wish to purchase it. The Council, however, admit that the Maritime Electric Company has offered the citizens a better and more business-like rate for current used than they are now getting; but the Council hopes, in the near future, to make satisfactory rate adjustments without serious injury to anyone. Even with the new revised rates offered by the Maritime Company 260 users of electricity would be paying more money to that company than they are doing at the present time.

One serious matter regarding the rates, admitted by Mr. Donaldson, Vice-President of the Maritime Company, is that if the rates charged were found to be insufficient for his company to earn 8 per cent on its invested capital it would have the right to go before the Utility Board, which will be formed this summer, and demand the right to raise the rates. Now, it is estimated that the 39 miles of transmission line between Charlottetown and Summerside would cost something like $125,000.00. This, it is presumed, would be charged up to the investment account and Summerside and the people supplied with current along the route would have to pay the dividends on this large expenditure; in other words, a net return of 8 per cent, together with the cost of the Summerside plant.

Are the citizens of Summerside willing to sell their plant and tie themselves up for all time when it may be possible to get power from some of the water powers of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, or even our own province? Mr. Austin Scales has already laid an offer before the Council to deliver electricity to Summerside at 2 1-2 cents per K.W. from a dam on the Dunk River and he is going to Montreal this week to secure the services of an expert engineer so that he can give definite information in the very near future.

With reference to citizens having been warned by the Vice-President of the Maritime Company against an expenditure which the Council might have to make, the Town of Summerside has never had to go after outside assistance for financing its own problems and with our bonds selling considerably over par no one should worry if we have to instal another unit. It is regretted that there appears to be among some citizens a feeling of antagonism against the electric light plant, whereas everyone should be standing behind it.

The earnings of the new plant, which has only been in operation four years, have amounted to over $42,000, as can be substantiated by a check up of the town books. Is it any wonder that there are so many after the plant, or that the Town Council has gone slow in acting on a transaction which means so much to the citizens? The Town Council is, however, agreed that existing electric light rates are too high in some cases and too low in others, but it is hoped in the near future to have them adjusted and equalized. This question will be taken up in the very near future. In conclusion, on behalf of the past Council and present Council, thanks are extended to the Maritime Electric Company for valuable information and advice received. Tonight the Council had come to the citizens with an open mind, ready to serve them and to act in the best interests of Summerside.

President Rogers then explained the business of the company had been disposed of but that it would be necessary to re-elect directors to carry on until the winding up meeting was held and a liquidator was appointed. It was moved by Mr. T.B. Woodman, seconded by Mr. Nelson Rattenbury, that the old board of directors be re-elected and that the secretary be instructed to cast one ballot.
