

POLICE CHIEF WITHDRAWS RESIGNATION

SUMMERSIDE, Oct. 10—The Council of the town of Summerside was filled to overflowing last night by citizens of every walk of life, as it was expected that the matter of Chief of Police Kane's resignation which has been the topic of conversation for the past few days, would come before the meeting; but, after the usual routine of business had been dealt with, Mayor Manson asked that the resignation be brought up to which Mr. Neil Duran, Town Clerk, replied that the Chief had withdrawn his resignation and the matter was dropped.

After some discussion in regard to the purchase of 100 tons of gravel from the Warren Paving Co., which was authorized, at the motion of Coun. Schurman, the meeting adjourned until the 20th, when the matter of the Carnegie Library will be taken. Asked by the Guardian reporter after the meeting was over as to how Mr. Kane stood now, Mr. Duran said that he goes back on duty in the same capacity as before. It would appear from the discussion of the Councilors after the meeting that some of them would have preferred to have the matter on the police question discussed more fully.

Island Boys To Be Reunited After 52 Years

BOSTON, Oct. 11—Separated for 52 years, James F. Hogan, 83, South Street, Quincy, will leave this weekend to spend a month with his brother Tom on the latter's sheep ranch near Billings, Montana. The boys grew up as members of a family of 15 children on Prince Edward Island. The boys left home when young to "go on their own." Tom went to Montana, a long way in those days, and James came to Quincy.

The old folks up in Prince Edward Island used to hear from Tom occasionally, until fifteen years ago when his letters stopped. Finally, last week, they sent him word that a sister had died. Yesterday the letter came from Tom to James, with the invitation to come west to spend a month with him. So James is going. "I don't suppose I'll recognize him now," he said today, "although I remember him very well as he was when we were boys together at home."

Founder's Day To Be Observed By The Y.M.C.A.

October 11th, anniversary of the birthday of George Williams, founder of the Young Men's Christian Association, has been designated by the National Council of the Y. M. C. A., for the observance of Founders' Day throughout the Association movement.

The first Young Men's Christian Association was formed by Mr. Williams in London in 1844, to help young men like himself in the trades to meet the many problems of changing occupations and surroundings in the confusion of the industrial revolution. Today, in the complexity of modern industry, it is felt that the need of young men for the ideals and services started over a hundred years ago by a nineteen year old draper's clerk is greater than ever. In England, in America, in many other countries, the Young Men's Christian Association are carrying forward the work of their founder.

The Charlottetown Y. M. C. A. was organized New Year's Day, 1856. Several clergymen and laymen met in St. Paul's Church schoolroom and thus formed the second oldest Association in Canada. Rev. Wm. Snodgrass, minister of the Kirk, delivered the inaugural address on the evening of Feb. 6th, 1856. Lt. Hancock, R.N., one of the vice presidents, being in the chair.

In the year 1872 the Association decided to erect a building which they did and which was opened in the summer of 1873 and which is in use today, October, 1933, and which has the distinction of being the oldest Y. M. C. A. building erected for Association purposes alone on the North American continent.

The following were the first officers, elected Jan. 14, 1856: President, Capt. Orlebar, R.N.; Vice Presidents, Lt. Hancock, R.N. H. P. Morpeth and Jas. BesBrisay; Secretary, Robert A. Strong; Treasurer, George Beer; Librarian, Samuel Westacott.

The following professional and business men have been president for a term of one or more years: Capt. Orlebar, R.N., Hon. Joseph Hensley, Rev. David Fitzgerald, W. E. Dawson, Charles Palmer, Judge Fitzgerald, Percy Pope, Wm. Heard, David Laird, Dr. Fraser, F. W. Hales, W. C. Turner, J. D. Seaman, J. T. McKensie, Col. F. S. Moore, R. H. Jenkins, W. A. Stewart, J. K. Ross, W. A. Louson and Dr. J. A. Clark.

gine broke down. Wireless calls went out immediately to the United States coastguard as the northeast gale carried the ship swiftly towards the shoals.

Other vessels were in the vicinity, but they could do nothing to assist the trawler in the teeth of the raging hurricane. Seas were running mountain high, and breaking repeatedly over the deck of the pitching craft. Drenched by flying spray, the crew huddled for safety in the shelter of the forward deck.

In a few hours the island was sighted, and it was looming up fast to leeward when Capt. Puddester ordered the crew into action. Two nets were freed from their lashings along the starboard bulwark, two blankets were brought from below, and willing hands fell to the task of improvising a sail. Lashed together into the semblance of a jib, the makeshift was strung from the bow to the foremast top. It made a poor sail, but it caught just enough wind to give the steamer sternway, and Capt. Puddester managed to swing the craft around the island.

That was early Saturday night. For the rest of the night and all day Sunday, the Quincy continued to drift. Shifting winds brought her past dangerous shoals more than once, but always with a good margin of safety. The wind died down Sunday night, and it was comparatively calm when the General Green came alongside at 11 o'clock last night. A line was brought aboard and they started off for Halifax. But the Quincy's troubles were not yet over. Before many miles had gone by, the towline snapped, and the trawler was adrift again. Another hawser was soon placed aboard, and the rest of the voyage was completed without further mishap. The Quincy will be laid up in Halifax several days, while repairs to her machinery are effected. After that, she will resume her interrupted trip to the fishing grounds. The trawler's nets had not been set when she was overtaken by the gale.

DEATH CAME GENTLY

long in office before it was handicapped by the illness and subsequent death of the Hon. Leonard MacNeill, Minister of Public Works and Highways. Mr. Stewart took over Mr. MacNeill's duties in addition to his own, and continued under this double load of responsibility until November 28, 1932, when a change in the Cabinet was made. Hon. Mr. Sharp taking over the Public Works portfolio while Mr. Stewart assumed the duties of Provincial Secretary and Treasurer in addition to those of Premier and Attorney General.

Health Affected

The burdens of office were further increased by the fires which destroyed Falconwood Hospital and the Prince of Wales College as well as by the unfavorable financial situation which affected this Province along with the rest of Canada and the world in general. Under these difficulties, and with added departmental duties on his shoulders, Mr. Stewart laboured heroically and to an extent which undoubtedly undermined his health and caused ultimately his decease. Naturally, he received the most loyal support from his colleagues in the Cabinet, and the rank and file of the party, but it was upon him that the chief responsibility fell and he was too conscientious to forget this fact, even when threatened with a breakdown and urged strongly by his associates to take a rest. It was only after much persuasion, and when his health had been seriously impaired, that he consented to a brief respite. A year ago last spring he took a short vacation on the mainland, but the weather proving unfavorable a relapse set in which occasioned grave anxiety. Shortly afterwards he recovered sufficiently to go on a trip to Newfoundland, accompanied by Mrs. Stewart. Returning, they visited Ottawa during the opening of the Imperial Conference and arrived back in Charlottetown with Mr. Stewart's condition somewhat improved. He returned to office duties, much against the wishes of his family and friends, and last January again visited Ottawa to attend the Interprovincial Conference.

A Lover of Flowers

The late Mr. Stewart was of a hospitable but retiring disposition. Early in life he cultivated a taste for flowers, and in this hobby he specialized with such success that while at Georgetown and even after coming to Charlottetown he was a consistent prize winner at the Provincial Exhibition. He could claim, with justice, the distinction of growing the finest sweet peas in Prince Edward Island; and every summer the garden of his residence on Kent Street was a riot of colour which attracted the admiring attention of every passerby. There, either in his garden or his library, Mr. Stewart was usually to be found in his spare time; and probably his happiest hours were spent with his family in these pleasant occupations.

Last Public Appearance

His strength, however, proved unequal to the tasks which his spirit imposed upon it. His health continued to decline. He was able to be present on one occasion at the last session of the Legislature, and also to attend the opening of the new Prince of Wales College on February 16 last; but these were efforts which obviously cost him much physical strain. His short address at the College opening, in which he paid tribute to the loyal support of his associates and particularly of his chief lieutenant, Hon. Dr. MacMillan, Minister of Health and Education, was Mr. Stewart's last public appearance.

A few months ago a slight improvement was noted, but this was followed by a relapse from which the Premier failed to recover, despite all that loving care and the most skillful medical attention could do. The long battle was nearly over. Hope could no longer be entertained. The shock of parting was broken by the gradualness of the approach of the Dread Messenger, and it is consoling to know that the end came gently and serenely, and was met with true Christian resignation and fortitude.

Mr. Stewart's Public Service

An estimate of Mr. Stewart's services to the Province in the course of his political career will be the task of the historian of the future. At present it need only be pointed out that they have a twofold aspect. There was first the example which he set of conscientiousness and rectitude in the administration of public affairs. No man was ever more faithful in the discharge of his official duties, in fulfilling the promises he made, or in carrying out policies which he believed to be in the interests of the Province. He could preside with dignity on any occasion, and could participate in the most heated political controversy with courtesy and fairness. These qualities were recognized and esteemed, and secured for him many warm friends among political opponents as well as in the rank and file of his own party.

There were also concrete achievements with which Mr. Stewart's name will be associated. Of these, two outstanding ones may be cited here, namely his successful presentation of the claims of this Province before the Duncan Commission in 1926, and his equally successful efforts in calling a conference of Dominion and Provincial representatives at which Prince Edward Island received an annual additional subsidy of $40,000 in lieu of railway taxes. This was a problem on which Mr. Stewart laboured long and dil-

Rumania Recognizes Soviet Russia

(Canadian Press)

WARSAW, Oct. 10—Foreign Minister Nicholas Titulescu of Rumania said today his country, Soviet Russia, and Poland were signatories of an eight power treaty.

He revealed that the ratification of the treaty between the Soviet and Rumania was exchanged at the Soviet legation here during his present visit to the Polish capital. "I expressed the desire of the Rumanian nation," declared Titulescu, "for cordial relations with the Soviet, and I was glad to find this feeling was reciprocated by Russia."

gently, and his efforts were amply rewarded by the generous appropriation which this Province received with the consent of the other Maritime Provinces.

At Ottawa as well as in this Province Mr. Stewart's ability was known and appreciated. This was evidenced last February when the Ottawa Journal announced the likelihood of Mr. Stewart being asked to accept the appointment of chairman of the Civil Service Commission. That position has since been held open, in the hope, which then seemed justified, of the Premier's recovery.

Public Utilities

Councillor Whear stated that he had not been able to find out whether or not the Public Utilities Board intended to take any action in connection with the electric light rates. The Provincial Government was using its best efforts to bring about an investigation. Five citizens had made a complaint to the Board.

His Worship stated that the danger was that, if the complaint was not substantiated, the case might be lost.

Councillor Hennessey thought that a public meeting should be held in the Market Hall in connection with the light question. His Worship hoped that the Utilities Board would do nothing, as the citizens would reap the consequences. The complaint had been made that the charges of the light company were too large, but there was no evidence submitted. The light company would have plenty of evidence, and would win the case. The commissioners could not become investigators. The City would have to take up the case, and pay some money to have the matter investigated. It would require $1,000 to have an investigation.

Councillor Whear stated that it was perfectly ridiculous for the Mayor to get off such statements. The idea that a report could be made for $1,000 was absurd, and showed that the person who made the statement did not know what he was talking about. A report had cost Truro $10,000. A petition had been presented to the Commission. A typewritten statement from the Company had shown the Commission that the Company assets were $900,000. The Light Committee wanted to know what the Public Utilities Board proposed to do.

The principal cause of delay was the defect in the present act, and the Government had promised to amend the Public Utilities Act so that the company would have to pay the expenses of investigation. Councillor Whear read a resolution to the effect that the city clerk be authorized to write to the Public Utilities Board, and ask what action had been taken by the Board regarding complaints made by five householders. The resolution carried.

LIGHT RATE

Federal Government the amount needed in the city. The acknowledged leaders of the city must make known to the Provincial Government the amount required. He moved as an amendment that representatives of the Council confer with the Provincial Government.

His Worship stated that he had waited on the Acting Premier twice since the last Council meeting and had been informed that he had made representations to Ottawa, but that no reply had been forthcoming as yet. A man had come down from Ottawa to investigate conditions, and nothing could be done till the investigator made his report. A reply was expected very shortly.

Councillor Whear thought that the Provincial Government should not make any arrangement with the Federal Government before knowing how much the City would require.

Councillor Reardon stated that he expected that the amount required for relief this month would be larger than that of last month. The motion that the bills be paid was carried, with Councillor Whear dissenting.

A letter was read asking for exemption from taxation of property used in connection with the Church of the Most Holy Redeemer, in view of the fact that the Holy Name Club and the Y.M.C.A. were exempt from taxation. His Worship stated that the Act of Incorporation provided for the exemption of only churches and hospitals.

A letter requesting an amendment to the Electrical Inspection Act was read.

Canadian Legion Review At Forum This Evening

Tonight will be Canadian Legion Night at the Forum and a cast of players from the Legion will stage a thirty-five minute review at 10.15 P. M.

This will certainly be one of the best events of the entire Carnival and will give the people of Charlottetown a chance to see life as it was in the Great War. Those taking part are all veterans of the conflict, men who have gone through the stirring episodes of that struggle and tonight will depict in a graphic way some of the life scenes behind the lines. It will be as realistic as possible, stage and sound effects being utilized to the best advantage.

The scenes will represent an estimated a few miles behind the lines in France under shell fire, with a few of the Old Timers indulging in a little relaxation before the Big Push. There will be lots of fun and frolic and the old war songs so dear to the heart of millions will be sung again. You will live over again the stirring war days of 1914-1918 "Pack Up Your Troubles in Your Old Kit Bag," "It's a Long Way to Tipperary" and other old time favorites will be rendered in a way that will bring back all the old memories.
