Opening lead—king of clubs.

How do you guess which way to finesse for a missing queen when the finesse can be taken against either opponent?

Players who relish this type of problem are welcome to the pleasure, but most people would be just as happy if they were never faced with such situations.

It will be observed that, in the hand on exhibit, South can be sure of making four spades if he is smart enough to finesse West for the queen of spades. But since most West players I know tend to hold their cards so that declarer cannot see them, South finds himself with a genuine problem of how to deal with the trump suit.

Peculiarly enough, the best way of solving the problem of which opponent has the queen is to ignore it during the early paly. Some guess situations can best be solved by circumvention.

Three rounds of clubs are led, declarer ruffing the third one. South sees that a diamond loser in inevitable. He therefore cannot afford to lose a trump trick if the contract is to be made.

Rather than attempt to guess the location of the spade queen, which is pretty much a 50 - 50 proposition, South direct his attention elsewhere.

He cashes the A-K-Q of hearts, discarding a diamond from dummy. Next he takes the ace of diamonds, followed by a diamond to the king.

There are still five tricks o go. Declarer has A-J-9-6 of spades left and a diamond loser. He has lost two tricks to date.

He leads the ten of clubs from dummy. East discards and South trumps with the six. Now declarer gives up his diamond loser.

It is a matter of complete indifference to South which defender wins the diamond. His trump position is secure. He has A-J-9 facing K-10-8, and it is the defenders' turn to lead. The queen is bound to be trapped regardless of which opponent leads.

The effect of South's plays is that he makes no apparent effort to guess the location of the missing queen. He just lets nature take its course.

Rh Baby Reported Improving Following Blood Transfusion

TORONTO (CP)—Eight-day-old Lori Lynn Campbell was reported in "satisfactory condition" Monday as her Jehovah's Witness parents abandoned attempts to stop doctors giving her blood transfusions.

The baby, threatened by a blood disorder, was given two transfusions against the will of her parents after a family court ruling Saturday night which made her a temporary ward of the Children's Aid Society.

When the special court session opened Saturday at 5 p.m. in the Hospital for Sick Children the baby's blood tests showed 7.2 milligrams of haemoglobin in 1,000 cubic centimetres of blood. The count was down to 6.8 when the session ended at 11:30 p.m.

The normal blood count at birth is about 16 and increases to 18 by the end of the first week. A level of six is considered fatal and the transfusions were ordered after doctors testified Lori Lynn would die in 24 hours without them.

Hospital officials said Monday "the child is coming along quite nicely." Her latest blood count was 10.5.

OPPOSED TRANSFUSION

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Campbell, both 27, refused to allow transfusions because their sect interprets biblical passages as forbidding the partaking of blood or use of blood transfusions.

Their lawyer, Glen How, also a Witness, abandoned a plan to ask the Ontario Supreme Court for writ of prohibition to keep the hospital from treating the baby.

"It would do no good," he said. "After some thought I determined that, in light of the lower court's decision, the notice was abortive."

"What the parents wish now, I have no idea. This has been a terrible experience for them."

The baby, born at Newmarket last Monday, was threatened by a disorder caused by Rh negative blood in the mother and Rh positive blood in the father. Successive pregnacies build up antibodies in the mother which can destroy red blood cells in a baby.

Efforts Of C.N.R. First Aid Instructor Are Recognized

MONCTON,—Two employees of the Canadian National Railways in the Atlantic region are included in a list of seven CNR system personnel whose services to St. John Ambulance have merited official recognition.

R.E. Cunningham, regional supervisor of first aid with the railway, disclosed today that Claude Robert M. MacDonald, constable in the investigation department at Charlottetown, have been awarded priority votes of thanks by the venerable order.

The gesture is in appreciation of valuable assistance in furthering and promoting first aid training.

CNR Constable Robert M. MacDonald of Charlottetown is the local first aid instructor. "Thanks to his zealous efforts, the training program there has been highly successful and continues to play an important role in the community," Mr. Cunningham said.

A parchment certificate for each is now in the hands of the CNR regional-supervisor, who will arrange for appropriate presentation early in the new year.

The certificates are signed by Governor-General Vincent Massey, as prior to St. John Ambulance Association in Canada, and C.A. Gray, chancellor.

Beer Samples Cause Trouble

HANOVER, Ont. (CP) — Two representatives of an Ontario brewing company will appear in court here Jan. 8 for giving out free samples of their brew.

The men were arrested by Police Chief Frank W. Illingsworth who says they were handing out samples from door to door. Their car, containing more of the company's products, was seized.

It is illegal to give liquor or beer as gifts in Ontario. Chief Illingsworth said anyone receiving the "Christmas Gifts" may face a $100 fine for illegal possession. Names of the men or the company were not released.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
