

MISCELLANEOUS.

Lord Dufferin is again spoken of as likely to assume the Governor Generalship of India at an early day.

A Chicago man's nightmare turned out to be the shadow of the wife's foot on the bedroom wall, instead of an unearthly monster with fire horns.

It is said that organized drilling is going on in the west of Ireland. The report may be false, or the drilling may be of a strictly constitutional kind.

Felicia was gliding down Tremont street yesterday afternoon, with a derby hat on and carrying her hands in the pockets of her long ulster, when a small boy ran up and said, 'Say, Miss! if yer had a cigar now, you'd be all right, wouldn't yer?'—Boston paper.

A poor young man fell in love with an heiress, and the passion being returned, it only wanted the parent's consent to make them happy. At length, meeting the father he asked for the daughter's hand. 'How much money can you command?' exclaimed the millionaire, gruffly. 'Not much,' was the reply. 'What are your expectations?' 'Well, to tell you the truth, I expect, if you refuse your consent, to run away with your daughter and marry her without it.'

An American lady, who has lived in England says:—'For the street English women dress horribly, but for dinner parties and balls they are lovely. They wear usually either white or black, and skins and complexions are dazzling. But every English woman when she gets to be thirty-five or forty has a rash break out on her nose. I believe it is because they drink so much. They are always drinking wine and all that with their meals. They don't get faded and worn-looking as we American women do; but they get very stout, and their beautiful complexions get to be really 'beery.'

The Gladstone family belongs essentially to the middle class—and Mr. Gladstone himself would claim for it no other honor—but the zealous Burke connects the marriage of Sir John Gladstone with Miss Robertson to a royal descent from Henry III. of England, and Robert Bruce, King of Scotland. The alleged pedigree is thus traced—Lady Jane Beauford, who was a descendant of Henry III. married James I. of Scotland, who was a descendant of Bruce. From this alliance it is said that the step can be followed clearly down to the father of Miss Robertson. A Scotch writer upon genealogy, also referring to this matter, states that Mr. Gladstone is descended on the mother's side from the ancient Mackenzie of Kintail, through whom is introduced the blood of the Bruce, of the ancient Kings of Man, and of the Lords of the Isles and the Earls of Ross; also from the Monros of Fowls and the Robertsons of Stronan and Athole. What was of more consequence to Gladstones of recent generations, however, than royal blood, was the fact that by their own energy and honorable enterprise they carved their own fortunes, and rose to positions of public esteem and eminence.—Life of Mr. Gladstone.

The Late Attempt to Assassinate the Czar.

Further developments in the matter of the attempt on the Czar's life show that a mine, the explosion of which wrecked a baggage train, was placed under the rails, and was so arranged as to be exploded by electricity. A wire attached to machine terminated in a house a short distance from the railway track, where the conspirators were concealed awaiting the arrival of the Imperial train over the spot. For some reason, which can only be explained by the conspirators themselves, the mine was not exploded until the baggage train arrived immediately over it. The theory generally accepted of this circumstance is that the person engaged in carrying out the plot, mistook the train—a change having been made in the order in which the trains started. The plan was most ingeniously arranged, and that it failed is attributed in Court circles to the hand of Providence. The police are alert in searching for the conspirators, who are supposed to have fled at once after they became aware of the result of the explosion, and it is believed they will soon be captured. Great excitement has been raised by the event, and the friends of the Government declare that the Emperor of Russia bears a charmed life. A public Thanksgiving will be offered in the churches for the happy issue of this last attempt upon the life of the Emperor.

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used Boschee's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption, severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all Druggists to recommend it to the poor dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 40,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your Druggist about it. Sample Bottles to try sold at 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents. For sale by all Druggists.

STOCK.
MONTREAL Telegraph stock, which had sold at 88 ten days previously, had run up to par on Wednesday. The rise was said to be due to the operations of a clique, who bought up the stock with a view to changing Directorate, lessening dead heading, and putting in younger men at the head of the management.

Overwork—The Breakdown.

I met a man some time ago who used to travel on business, and almost passed his life upon the rail. He came home one evening, and walking across the dining-room he staggered like a drunken man. Uncharitable people who did not know his habits, might have thought him intoxicated. He sank into his chair and he was a prisoner in his chair all the rest of his life. He was completely paralyzed in his lower limbs. The incessant travelling on the rail had at last proved too much for his nervous system. Hence the collapse; and I have strong impression that other collapses might be traced to a similar source.
I knew of a lawyer who was in a great rush of business. He liked his fees; but like all men who succeed, he liked business for its own sake. He was unable to refuse business; and, indeed, to refuse business is the hardest trial which can happen to any professional man. His mistake was, that he did not provide himself with adequate assistance. The ill-treated brain took to softening, and then all business came to an end. I knew of a man who was enormously wealthy. In addition to the constant employment which his own vast property gave him, he was trustee for ever so many widows, orphans and charities. He worked hard at accounts until the small hours in the morning. A boy clerk at 15s. a week might have done it all for him.
But he preferred "doing his own work himself," and accordingly he had to quit this inferior existence, where such a condition of things is not possible. One of the best-known men in the country told me he was going to take a six weeks' holiday at the seaside. I was rejoiced to hear it. No man better required or deserved such a holiday. Then he told me he was going to take his new book with him to the seaside, and hoped to have it ready for publication by the time his holiday was over. I expostulated with him. I explained that he was only exchanging one kind of hard work for a still harder kind of hard work. But he took the advice of what is often a man's worst counselor—himself. His book was successful; but he never knew of the success.—London Society.

SEMINARY FOR YOUNG LADIES.

VISITOR:
The Lord Bishop of Nova Scotia
PRINCIPAL:
The Rev. John Padfield.

THIS SCHOOL offers, at very moderate cost, the advantages of a comfortable and pleasant home together with a thorough and refined education.
The course of instruction is the same as that of the best Schools in England and is founded upon the University Examinations for Women. Eight young ladies from this School passed the Local Examination of the University of King's College in June last. This is the only School in Canada that has passed pupils at a University Examination.
The number of pupils is limited, rendering the School select, and while it possesses all the educational advantages of a large public school, each pupil is enabled to receive that individual care and oversight which is so important, and which cannot be given in a large establishment.
Mr. and Mrs. Padfield are assisted by a staff of four resident governesses, besides visiting masters.
Parisienne French is taught conversationally. There are two resident French Governesses.
References given to parents of pupils.

CATARRH.

Constitutional Catarrh Remedy CURES CATARRH.

Hear what a Reverend Gentleman says of the Constitutional Remedy.

T. J. B. HARDING, Esq., Brockville, Ont.:—
"DEAR SIR—It is now two years since your 'Constitutional Catarrh Remedy' was introduced to me. I have waited this long to see if the cure would remain permanent before doing this, my duty, to you, as at first the happy effects seemed to me to be 'too good to be true.'
I was afflicted in my head for years before I suspected it to be Catarrh. In reading in your Circular I saw my case described in many particulars. The inward 'drop' from the head had become very disagreeable, and a choking sensation often preventing me from lying long, I would feel like smothering and be compelled to sit up in the bed. My health and spirits were seriously affected. When your agent came to Walkertown in August, 1876, I secured three bottles. Before I had used a quarter of the contents of one bottle I found decided relief, and when I had used two bottles and a third, I quit taking it, feeling quite clear of that ailment, and have not used any since until of late I have taken some for a cold in my head.
A sense of duty to sufferers from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, prompts me to send you this Certificate, unsolicited, with leave to make what use of it you may see proper.
Yours truly,
W. TINDALL, Methodist Minister.
