The bidding:
1 South Pass 3 East Pass
2 South Pass 6 East Pass
3 South Dble.

Opening lead—jack of clubs.
Silence is golden. There is no department of bridge where this maxim is more pertinent than in the double of a slam contract.

There is so little to be gained in doubling a slam—an extra 50 or 100 points usually—that the double should be reserved for hands where the set is certain, or, in some cases, to call for a particular lead.

West's one-word speech in today's hand permitted declarer to carry off a slam which would almost surely have been defeated had West continued to pass throughout.

South won the club lead with the ace and saw that West's double could scarcely be based on anything other than his trump holding. Declarer led a low trump and West played the ten to protect his two trump tricks. When East's nine appeared, South surmised West had started with four trumps.

Since the situation could therefore be saved only by a trump endplay, declarer temporarily abandoned further spade leads. A heart to the king and another to the ace was followed by a heart ruff.

Three top diamonds were played, declarer ruffing the third one to reduce his trump length. The K-Q of clubs were then cashed, South discarding a heart. This was now the position:

North
♥ J

South
♠ A 7 4
♥ A 10 6 2
♣ A 8

The eight of spades was led from dummy and ducked. West won with the jack but had to lead from his Q-6 up to declarer's A-7.

So the slam was made. West didn't get his extra 100 points, and South scored 1,860 points to win the rubber.

The fact West could have beaten the contract by playing the six of spades on the first trump lead is beside the point. He should have kept mum.

Alec Guinness And Deborah Kerr Head Oscar Contenders

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Alec Guinness and Deborah Kerr headed the list of Oscar contenders Monday night as the 30th annual Academy Awards nominations were announced.

Sayonara, the story of an American airman and a Japanese actress, dominated the picture with 10 nominations. It was followed by Peyton Place with nine and The Bridge on the River Kwai with eight.

It was a great night for the British. Guinness, stiff-necked officer of The Bridge on the River Kwai, is long overdue for Hollywood's top honor.

Competing with him are: Marlon Brando for Sayonara; Anthony Franciosa, A Hatful of Rain; Charles Laughton, Witness for the Prosecution; and Anthony Quinn, Wild is the Wind.

Miss Kerr, the steadfast nun of Heaven Knows, Mr. Allison, was closely pressed by Elizabeth Taylor, nominated for her role as the mad Southern belle in Rain-Tree County.

NAME LANA TURNER
Lana Turner won recognition for her performance in Peyton Place. Also nominated are previous winner Anna Magnani for Wild is the Wind, and newcomer Joanne Woodward for The Three Faces of Eve.

Nominated for best motion picture: The Bridge on the River Kwai, Peyton Place, Sayonara, Twelve Angry Men, and Witness for the Prosecution.

Other major nominations:
Best supporting actor: Red Buttons, Sayonara; Vittorio de Sica, A Farewell to Arms; Sessue Hayakawa, The Bridge on the River Kwai; Arthur Kennedy, Peyton Place; Russ Tamblyn, Peyton Place.

PEYTON PLACE AGAIN
Best supporting actress: Carolyn Jones, The Bachelor Party; Elsa Lanchester, Witness for the Prosecution; Hope Lange, Peyton Place; Miyoshi Umeki, Sayonara and Diane Varsi, Peyton Place.

Best direction: David Lean, River Kwai; Mark Robson, Peyton Place; Joshua Logan, Sayonara; Sidney Lumet, Twelve Angry Men; Billy Wilder, Witness for the Prosecution.

The awards will be presented on a telecast March 26.

Poland Proposes Atom-Free Zone

By DAVID SELLS
WARSAW (Reuters)—Poland Monday proposed a "broad and effective" control system to enforce a suggested atom-free zone in central Europe.

A six-page memorandum published here said that such a control system could help pave the way for a broader disarmament agreement between East and West.

The memorandum was handed last Friday to the envoys of the United States, Russia, Britain, France, Canada, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Belgium and Denmark.

It seeks to answer Western criticisms made when the Polish plan for an atom-free zone was first proposed at the United Nations last October by Polish Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki.
