For Tomorrow

WITH the advent of a prolonged week-end holiday there are lunar signs for a pleasant and stimulating period for diversion, enjoyment or relaxation. Plan wisely programs for making the best of these, since there are some astral indications of the unpleasant, disturbing, even sinister. There are hints of a disagreeable situation coming out into the open to be threshed out, perhaps angrily discussed. Confer with elders for mature advice.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find it a festive occasion for a prolonged celebration of their natal day. Parties, trips and travel are under excellent configurations for enjoyment and gaiety. The accent may be on romantic and affectionate engagements, with the social and cultural affairs not to be overlooked. In all, keep conservative; avoid excess of any sort.

A child born on this day may be exceptionally clever and ambitious, possibly attaining a high station in life. Early attention is enjoined against peculiar emotional stresses or indulgences.

Morning Smile

By Pigeon Post

William's friend never seemed to have the same trouble as himself in persuading his wife to have his meals ready when he got home. William asked him the secret. "It's easy," said his friend. "I take a pigeon to work with me, and when I know what time I'm going to finish I just tie a note to its leg, release it, and the meal is ready as soon as I get home."

So William bought a pigeon. After releasing it on the first day he was delighted to find his meal ready when he arrived home.

"That smells good," he said to his wife. "What is it?"

"Pigeon pie," came the reply.

Good Stuff

A man, recovering from an anaesthetic, became very romantic. His wife turned to the nurse. "I haven't heard him talk like that since our honeymoon. Where do you buy the stuff?"

Heads $1,000,000 Firm, Admits Men Tops in Business

Although 36-year-old Mary Goodram is president of a $1,000,000 plumbing and heating business in Hamilton, Ont., a leaky tap in her home would baffle her just as thoroughly as it would the average housewife. The attractive dark-haired woman has concentrated on the mathematical side of the business since she took over the presidency after the death of her father two years ago. Although she is boss of between 50 and 100 employees, predominantly male, and enjoys competition of bidding for contracts, Miss Goodram readily admits that men are usually more successful than women in highly competitive business fields. When she stepped to the helm the University of Toronto graduate had already had 15 years' experience in the firm, where she started at $12 per week.

A Warning

Do not throw water into blazing oil or grease. It will only spread the flames. Earth, flour, or sand will extinguish the fire. If these are not at hand, throw a thick rug, blanket, or curtain on the burning oil.

A Chamols Skin

Wash the chamols skins used for cleaning windows, silverware, and the like in warm water and soap, then dry slowly in the open air, but never in the sun or over heat.

Stained Hands

Most stains can be removed from the hands by rubbing vigorously with a slice of raw potato.

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. Is it proper for a young woman in a subordinate position to go out to lunch with her employer?

A. Not usually. However, if she holds a responsible position and has matters of business to discuss, there is no reason—unless her own—why she should not on occasion lunch with him. But under average circumstances it usually courts criticism if their going out together becomes habit.

Q. Should the bride-to-be acknowledge her wedding gifts in the order in which they are received?

A. This is not necessary, but it is the easiest way to take care of this important rite.

Q. Is it improper to wear a corsage at a funeral service?

A. A modest one of violets is not out of place, but it certainly should not be worn by a member of the family.

The Experts Say

By Kay Box

Spring is barely a month around the corner and the first bright day is due any time.

Pure sunshine will come pouring through the windows, showing up panes fogged with grime, horrifying the tidy homemaker.

At sight of grey-yellow grease atop the curtains and dust in the corners, she will seize a bucket and broom. House-cleaning time again.

New products guaranteed to help keep the house clean are constantly coming on the market. One of the latest is a rug-cleaner, a compound with a cellulose fibre base and resembling peanut-butter.

Salesmen will demonstrate this new cleaner by first—perish the thought—smearing a rich carpet with black shoe polish or crayon. The cleaner is immediately sprinkled over the spot which then is given a stiff brushing. Presto—no spot.

The manufacturers claim this new cleaner also will remove lipstick, gum, tar, grease, food and drink spills from rugs—and without leaving a tell-tale ring.

Housecleaning Made Easy

Whitewin. — Mixlids can be cleaned with magnesia. Spread a sheet on the floor, unroll the shade and with a soft cloth scrub the shade with magnesia and water. After treating one side turn the blind over and do the other side.

To remove a grease mark from wall paper: Mix French chalk with enough dry-cleaning fluid to make a stiff paste. Apply paste to the spot and allow to remain overnight. In the morning brush off very carefully and lightly.

If any grease remains, repeat the process. House-cleaning doesn't give the homemaker much time to prepare meals. Here is a supper quickie which is inexpensive, easy to make, and nourishing.

Salmon Souffle

Ingredients: 1 1/4-pound canned salmon; three tablespoons margarine; four tablespoons flour; one-half teaspoon salt; one-half teaspoon celery salt; one-half teaspoon paprika; one egg white; one tablespoon fine grated onion; one tablespoon lemon juice; four eggs (separated); one-quarter teaspoon cream of tartar.

Drain and flake salmon to measure one cup. Melt fat and stir in flour, salt, celery salt and paprika. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is medium thick. Remove from heat and add onion and lemon juice. Beat egg yolks and add to mixture. Fold in salmon. Beat egg whites, add cream of tartar and continue beating until stiff but not dry. Fold into salmon mixture.

Pour into a 1 1/2-quart casserole and place in pan of hot water. Bake at 350 degrees fahrenheit from 50 to 55 minutes. Serve immediately. Serves four.

Yukon's First Lady Nears 86th Birthday

WHITEHORSE, Y. T. (CP) — Mrs. George Black, only American-born woman to sit in Canada's House of Commons, will celebrate her 86th birthday on Feb. 24.

"It is always difficult for me to realize that my life has been in any way unusual," the snow-haired first lady of the Yukon said in a recent interview. "Possibly or probably, because I was taught by my parents, grand-parents and the Sisters of Notre Dame in Indiana (where I attended school for five years) and all taught me that our real duty was to meet each day to the best of our ability."

Life, said Chicago-born Mrs. Black, "has been a great experience." But she said she wouldn't like to live it over.

"I would probably make many more mistakes," she explained. For 54 years the Yukon has been Martha Black's home. As the wife of George Black, former Conservative Member of Parliament for Yukon, she became familiar with life in Ottawa.

When her husband became ill Mrs. Black ran for election in his place and was elected to the House

DOROTHY DIX'S COLUMN—

Avoid Office Gossip

Young Man Should Discourage Older Woman's Attentions

DEAR MISS DIX: Mine is an office problem. I am a young man of 24, and there is a lady of 34 in our office who is married and has three children. She seems to go out of her way to talk to me and tell me I'm cute. She has a younger sister, whom I have never met, but whose picture I have seen. She is a nice-looking girl and I would like to meet her. I am wondering if this lady is just kidding me to pass the time, or if perhaps she is trying to arrange a meeting between her sister and me. People in the office are beginning to talk about the amount of time she spends talking to me, and I am uncertain how to react.

MARTIN L.

Muriel Nissen

ANSWER: The lady sounds like bad medicine to me and I advise you to avoid her as much as possible. If she would like you to meet her sister, it would be very easy to invite you to her house some evening.

If you and the lady continue to spend so much time talking at business, be assured office gossip will grow to unpleasant proportions.

DOMINEERING BROTHER

DEAR MISS DIX: Several weeks ago I met a very nice boy from a prominent family. We had about three dates, and then he brought me home from a date about an hour later than I was supposed to be in. The delay couldn't be helped. My brother, who is four years older than I, beat me on my legs until I couldn't walk on them. He told me if I ever went with this boy again he would do it again. I am 18, this boy is 22, and my mother likes him, but to appease her precious son she won't allow me to go out with him. She will, however, let me correspond with him. He's in the service. We love each other very much; in fact, he has asked me to marry him but my family threatens to disown me if I do—all because of my brother's objections. I think I'm old enough to live my own life.

C. J. S.

ANSWER: If your brother's dislike of your boy friend is purely a personal matter, your family in very unfair to listen to him. Brother, in fact, sounds like a psychiatric case. No brother has the right to usurp a parent's privilege of punishment—even if justified. I do think your acquaintance has been of too short a duration for an early wedding, but if you continue the friendship for another year and still feel the same way about your boy friend, you would be justified in marrying him against your brother's wishes. Be sure, however, that your family's objections are not based on serious faults in the young man.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 14 and interested in a boy three years older. He has never asked me to go out with him, but has

Mrs. Guy Russell, Moore's Mills, N.B., 1951 winner at St. Stephen Fair, uses Fleischmann's Yeast exclusively.

Her Baking Wins Prizes For 27 Years

As you can see, winning prizes for home baking is an old story with Mrs. Guy Russell, of Moore's Mills, N.B. Her collection of prize-winning tags from the St. Stephen Fair goes back to 1924! She can give good reasons for her success, too. "I have baked bread as many as four times in a week," says Mrs. Russell. "But it isn't just experience or baking skill that makes you a prize winner. First you have to have the finest ingredients. For rolls and bread my choice is Fleischmann's Yeast. With Fleischmann's I'm sure of quick rising and fine results." That's just what they all say! Prize-winning cooks throughout the Maritimes depend on Fleischmann's Yeast.
