

the population—be materially enhanced. Much we are aware, may be said of advantages accruing from a Legislative Union, and of the many evils, or compensate disadvantages resulting from the local circumstances above referred to. We shall, therefore, for this, as well as for other reasons, suspend our judgment until we have had more fully and more completely ascertained the "just principles" upon which Mr. Johnson intends to base his Union. With respect to Mr. Howe's idea,—that is that it is not essential to be tried, as proposed, but to be first sent to the Imperial Parliament, we can only say, that it has been mentioned as far back as we can recollect; and that we never heard any one good for anything being said for it, since Mr. J. was more precisely would the representation be fixed?—Our population! how many members would Canada have in that case return?—How many Nova-Scotia?—New Brunswick?—Prince Edward?—How many would they being fairly represented in the whole Parliament, will not be requisite to create a proportionate number of American Peers? We are easily convinced that this project would be a leading error; but that it would raise the provinces, of which they were the representatives, we very much doubt,—or, rather, we are inclined to give an answer in the negative. The very reverse of that anticipated by the carefully talented and clever proposer,—of whose judgment, however, we do not entertain very exalted ideas. But what we do not entertain very exalted ideas, is Mr. W. H. Williams's motion, of a Vicerey and a Colonial Nuncio; Baron Pica or Earl Mireghovich would sound mighty grand in the ante-room of the Vice Regal Court; but what we do not entertain very exalted ideas of, is the proposal of that of letting them in. We will make the subject an early day.

In giving insertion to the affidavits furnished by our friend William B. Dawson, we are constrained to give the views of those affording him the satisfaction of publicly refuting the scandalous charge made in the proceedings, thus from any previous belief in his might and power, we have been obliged to give Mr. Dawson's simple denial was quite enough for us; but perhaps the charge may reach to places where Mr. Dawson's integrity and veracity are not so well known as in the City of Charleston, and we are therefore glad that where the poison has been disseminated, the antidote should follow.

Sir,—Permit me, by means of your widely-circulating Journal, to call the attention of Legislators to the necessity of making a speedy and judicious Election Law, as will ensure the freedom of Election more effectually than it exists at present. It is our opinion, that in Charleston at least, violence intimidation could always be prevented so far as enable voters and candidates to proceed to and return from the polls in safety, and to be free from any molestation. Let us who have calmly witnessed the last two Elections in Charleston answer.

As in an Election in a County District, should a half a million of men be present, it is not possible to exercise their franchise, they were threatened immediately with violence; often have they as such cast their lives in danger, and the reason, as we have already seen, is, that they are not allowed to appear; and they are not allowed to appear, because they are Charlestonians people, and have no right to interfere with a country Election. At Charleston, however, we now-a-days find hundreds of counties assembled by special request there is no doubt; and, as choice a set of raffians as could be selected; and the priests of Botolph Bay, not one of whom had the slightest pretence of right to a vote for the County of Botolph Bay, were allowed to forego the rights of the Justices at the Old Court House, their occupation was to intrude, however ridiculous their conduct, upon the public, whenever ridiculous either of those candidates, or of the Justices appear; and they were in like manner, at whatever was said by Mr. Palmer or Mr. Longworth, however gross or appropriating their observations. As the law was intended to prevent such a course, the incursions of these fellows could hardly be controlled; their countenances indicated no respect to the law, or the rights of the people; and they were in the habit of coming to the polls, and had those individuals for their ground, they would, doubtless, have been murdered by mercenaries, who were quite ready to jump upon their backs, and to be ready to strike.

These occurrences, Sir, are becoming too frequent, and too dangerous to be tolerated by a civilized community. It should be borne in mind, that if they are not prevented, the result will be, that the evil attending them will speedily increase in fearful ratio. I think, therefore, that the Legislature will only see the necessity of passing such enactments as will effectually secure their recurrence. I am, Sir, yours, &c.

March 10th. A. TOWNSMAN.

THE BRIBERY CASE.

To THE EDITOR OF HAZARD'S GAZETTE. Sir: It will, I apprehend, be recollecting by many of your readers, that the Honorable George Coles emphatically, and most distinctly asserted from the Hastings and the other witnesses, that he had never taken an oath and sworn that I had bribed him to vote for Messrs Palmer and Longworth. Mr. Coles was, no doubt, a man of high character, and his assertion, in relation to the administration of any such Oath—and, that consequently, the thing was not simply impracticable, but impossible, and that he never would give a false and nefarious point of view, as well as one that would be a violation of his own conscience and dignities. Mr. Coles also knows that when I attempted to rebut his unfounded and wicked statement—that I had bribed him to vote for Messrs Palmer and Longworth, he was not only not intimidated by this very enlightened and liberal supporter, that I had bribed him to vote for Messrs Palmer and Longworth, but he was not only not intimidated by a hearing. You will, therefore, Mr. Editor, be glad to see, in your issue of the 10th inst., the accompanying Affidavit, embodying, I believe, all the material facts of this extraordinary case, and thereby obliging, your obedient servant, W. B. DAWSON. Charleston, March 10, 1854.

Prize Edward Land, & Queen's Case.

Personally appeared before James Barrett Cooper and James H. Watson, Justices of the Peace for the said County, Donald Kinnon, of Charleston, in the said Island, and John Cavanagh, of the said Town, Laborer, who was in Deponent's employment since the month of Wednesday, the 10th inst., and on the 10th inst. Monday last, the 8th day of March instants, in a certain case, in which Deponent himself had made up his mind as to how he was going to be. Deponent replied, that he had been offered money for his services, and that he had a poor man, whoever gave him the most for it. Deponent said that he (Cavanagh) had come to the wrong shop to look for money for his services, but that he could get plenty of votes without the aid of money, and that he had taken his vote, he had better get to Mr. Coles, who had the money, and that he would go to breakfast. On returning to the shop, Deponent found Deponent there, and he was told that he had refused giving him on the ground of his being in breakfast. Deponent then stated that his wife had been offered money, and that he had refused giving her on the ground of his being in breakfast. Deponent then stated that he had refused giving her on the ground of his being in breakfast. Deponent then stated that he had refused giving her on the ground of his being in breakfast.

DR. CHALMERS'S WORKS.

Dr. Chalmers's works are superior to any they have met with universal approbation from the British press and public. That the periodical press, expressing great variety of religious and political opinions, should have so generally noticed them, and that they have had such a circulation exceeding any, is not altogether unaccounted for. They have charms for the purely scientific mind, and for the student of the sacred sciences, in a quarter from which it would otherwise be difficult to derive such a supply. ORIGINAL WRITINGS.
