

OINK!

OINK!

This week's article has to do with the high price we have to pay for the privilege of going to this hallowed institution. To wit, I wish to open your eyes to the fact that we happen to have the most policed campus in Eastern Canada. Nowhere else, in my experience, have security police been given such sweeping powers. Our mini-Gestapo under the daring leadership of Pork-oral MacAuley and Smelled, has uncovered and supervised in apprehending culprits of such heinous crimes as leaving the premises of the Wig & Piss-el with a pint of beer. No doubt, this will chasten such evil-doers.

In other Universities, the campus security is usually confined to handing out parking tickets and playing at night watchman. However, here at U.P.E.I. the administration has seen fit to supervise us with a pack of power-tripping Gestapo demi-gods.

However, I do not intend to slash at the security force as individuals. I would like to lay the blame where it belongs, on the head(s) of whoever is in charge of security. Assuredly, I could see some merit in the security force if they were also to bring to justice people who insist on bringing violence to campus. This is not done.

I really am amazed that the administration doesn't hand out rattles and pacifiers to freshmen during orientation week so that they can better become acclimatized to campus life.

These "policemen" have taken over watching over us while on campus and walking all over us if they so desire without taking any responsibility for us. Surely, with the force they have on hand (highest # of police per capita at any University in Eastern Canada) they should be able to do both.

Oh, and if you live in residence and smoke dope or have wild beer parties, don't you worry, big brother porker has a file on you.

P.S. The sergeant of Charlottetown Police, Sergeant Webster, has seen fit to inform me that there is a bylaw in effect that hitchhiking is illegal. This will be enforced in front of the Sea Treat (corner of Euston and University) and carries a $12.00 fine. So, forewarned is forearmed.

Dear Student:

It comes as quite a shock to a student to find that he will have to pay more money than he thought he would. I hate to be the bearer of such news, but that duty falls to me.

I am regretfully informing you that the Business Office has been directed by the Student Union to collect three ($3.00) dollars from each Canadian, and eight ($8.00) dollars from each Non-Canadian, at registration in January. This is to cover an increase in premiums (as well as benefits) of the Zurich Insurance coverage. This money SHOULD have been collected at registration in September but due to an oversight, was not.

A new, more comprehensive plan was negotiated over the summer. This plan provides for life insurance, accidental death and dismemberment, professional services, drugs and supplies, and hospital benefits to ALL students - Canadian and otherwise. The three dollar increase for Canadians is the result of the addition of life insurance and accidental D. & D., plus the "drugs and supplies" coverage. This coverage was not available to Non-Canadians in the past.

We now have the best insurance coverage available to students in Canada. It costs Canadians eleven dollars, and Non-Canadians nineteen dollars. Therefore, we must collect three and eight in January. It was our fault that it wasn't collected all in one chunk in September.

If you have any questions or problems (which I'm sure you will) get in touch with me through the Student Union. The system of fee rebates will remain the same.

Yours truly,

Bob Gray,

External Vice-President.
