

STRATHGARTNEY PARK IS POPULAR CAMPING AREA

With the tourist season at its height, dawn in the new Strathgartney Park is usually greeted by about a dozen groups of campers who have sought sanctuary there. On week-ends there are many more. Conveniently situated on the Borden - Charlottetown highway, it is also a haven for motorists who, arriving on late boats and unable to find lodgings, come into the park and sleep there in their cars. This area, along with one at Belfast Cove and another on the Brudenell River, were acquired by Mr. R. L. Cotton of Charlottetown and presented to the provincial government to be developed as provincial parks. A first class job has been done here. A luxuriant crop of grass now covers the raw, red gashes made by the graders in the course of making roads, camp sites and picnic areas. Picnic tables, attractively painted, are being added as required. A hydraulic ram in the crystal clear spring pumps water to convenient points. A caretaker is on hand each day - mowing grass, removing garbage and keeping the place tidy and attractive. (Photo by Margaret Mallett)

Preliminary Murder Case Hearing Here Is Adjourned

The preliminary hearing of the murder charge against Roger MacLean of Orwell was again adjourned by Magistrate Gilbert A. Gaudet last evening, without any evidence being taken. The hearing will resume Monday evening at 7:30 p.m. Mr. J.O.C. Campbell, Q.C., appeared for the accused. Two charges under the Criminal Code, two contraventions of the P.E.I. Temperance Act, plus a large number of traffic cases comprised the remainder of an unusually heavy docket. In addition Magistrate Gaudet further adjourned the hearing of cases against two Island residents, one from Covehead and the other from Clyde River, each charged with failure to stop at the scene of an accident. A rebuttal offered by Crown Prosecutor John P. Nicholson on points-of-law arguments submitted by defence counsel J. O. C. Campbell, Q. C., at an earlier hearing of these charges, was the only new matter arising. With consent of counsel, the magistrate also postponed until Monday the hearing of a charge

New C. N. R. Roadmaster For P. E. I. Takes Over Duties

Mr. George M. Richards, a native of Midgic, N. B., arrived here Thursday to take over his duties as roadmaster on Western P.E.I. sections of Canadian National Railways.

A roadmaster for 28 years, he succeeds Mr. S. S. (Sam) Hood whose retirement followed 41 years of CNR service.

Mr. Richards joined the railway in 1930 in the Moncton Division. Moving upward through various posts in that division, he was appointed assistant roadmaster in 1952 and in April of this year named temporary roadmaster of the Maritime District, working with a regional railwaying gang. In this capacity he has recently been in the Campbellton division, from where he went to Charlottetown.

Mr. Hood, widely known on the Island as a congenial and efficient railroad, began his career as a section man in July 1917. After working as section man and extra gang foreman in the Island Division, he was appointed roadmaster on the Western Section Dec. 19, 1944.

Before his retirement became effective Mr. Hood was given a party at Brackley Beach, when an address was given by Division engineer, E. C. Matthews and a purse of money from Mr. Hood's colleagues was presented by roadmaster, A. E. Lavers. A gift was also presented to Mrs. Hood by Miss Joan Strain of the Superintendent's office. About 60 fellow employees of Mr. Hood's with their wives, were on hand at the party to wish the couple many future years of happiness.

His successor in the post, Mr. Richards, is a native of Midgic in New Brunswick's Westmoreland County.

Britain Is Going Ahead With Cyprus Partnership

By JOHN EARLE / LONDON (Reuters) - Britain announced Friday night a decision to go ahead with a seven-year "partnership" plan for Cyprus but with minor modifications.

A statement from Prime Minister Macmillan's office said he had given "most careful consideration" to Greek and Turkish criticisms of the plan during visits to Athens and Ankara last week.

The original plan encountered opposition from the Greek and Turkish communities in the Mediterranean island colony.

It invited Turkey and Greece to share with Britain in administration of Cyprus for a seven-year period. The rival communities would elect their own legislatures to run communal affairs.

Friday's announcement held out promise that Archbishop Makarios, leader of the Greek Cypriot community who was exiled in 1956, may be allowed to return to Cyprus if violence ceases.

VIOLENCE CLAIMS 1,500

About 1,000 persons have been killed in 40 months of fighting - the Greek Cypriots seeking union of the island with Greece and Turks demanding partition.

Macmillan called the plan "an adventure in partnership."

Friday's statement said an order already has been approved authorizing the preparation of Cyprus electoral rolls - the first step toward election of communal legislatures.

PETERS - At the Charlottetown Hospital on Aug. 15 1958 to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Peters (nee Joan Kelly, R. N.), a daughter, Diane Marie, weight 6 lbs., 5 oz.

SELLER - At 20 Grove Street, Summerville, Mass., on August 12th, 1958, Mr. Waldron B. Seler in his 88th year, formerly of Union Road, Queens County.

entirely Mounir who operates a snack bar, and Victor, a general merchant, have been here three and five years respectively.

A brother, Charles McKarris, has resided in Charlottetown for over fifty years.

At the time he left Lebanon, Mr. McKarris said, fighting was going on almost everywhere. "It was very unsafe to travel far from one's home village," he declared.

Mr. McKarris added that everyone there is hopeful that some satisfactory solution to the nation's troubles will be worked out soon.

Mr. McKarris arrived in Halifax August 12, nineteen days out from Beirut. His wife is still in Lebanon on the home farm located about 75 miles south of the national capital.

While lobster fishing is accounting for the greatest fishing activity on Prince Edward Island, offshore and inshore fishermen continued to land fair catches of mixed fish. Souris druggers are averaging about 40,000 pounds per trip which is keeping the fish plants there operating every day.

Mackerel and herring are still quite scarce in Island waters, thus causing a shortage of bait. God and hake are also fairly scarce, but last week showed some improvement over the previous week with fishermen averaging about 1200 pounds per trip.

Following are the chief changes in the amended British plan:

1. A provision for Cypriots to have dual nationality - either Greek or Turkish in addition to their own - is deferred pending consideration of the international legal aspects.

2. The possibility is held out for an elected legislature representing the entire island as well as the two communal assemblies. Friday's statement said the two communal assemblies did not exclude and "should facilitate the development of some form of representative institution serving the interests of the island as a whole."

CHANGE SEATING PLAN

3. Representatives of the Greek and Turkish governments will not sit on the Cyprus governor's council (cabinet), as originally proposed, but will have "direct access to the governor and other facilities as they need to carry out their functions."

The original plan called for a council composed of the governor, the Greek and the Turkish government representatives, four Greek Cypriots and two Turkish Cypriots. The Greek Cypriots will have the larger representation because nearly 80 per cent of the colony's 500,000 population belong to the Greek community.

Macmillan called the plan "an adventure in partnership."

Friday's statement said an order already has been approved authorizing the preparation of Cyprus electoral rolls - the first step toward election of communal legislatures.
