First Night Of S. Patrick's Play Delights S' Side

"St. Patrick's day in the evening" was celebrated in Summerside by the annual presentation last evening of their play "Apple Blossom Time" by the St. Paul's dramatic players. Produced and directed under the personal supervision of Miss Margaret Wedge who has many past successes to her credit, the play had all the ingredients that go to make up an evening of first class entertainment.

The cast was made up of experienced actors and actresses who played every scene to the limit and at the happy ending the large audience went its way with the feeling that another St. Patrick's Day had been properly celebrated.

The proceeds of the play are for charitable purposes. Furniture loaned in the stage setting was loaned through the courtesy of R. T. Holman Ltd. and the play will be repeated this evening.

The following is the cast of characters:

Bob Matthews, Russell Kelly; Charlie Lawrence, Roger Chlow; Spud McCluskey, Urban Cameron; Mickey McGuire, Edgar Sherry; Cal Pickens, Walter Sonier; Betty Ann Stewart, Kay Murphy; Nancy Prescott, Patricia Murphy; Loretta Harris, Florence Ann Cameron; Polly Biddle, Kathleen Cameron; Malvina Kurtz, Lorraine Fineau; Mrs. Forest, Paula C'Fiver; Anabel Spriggins, Shirley Gallant.

The play was presented by special arrangement with Bakers Plays of Boston.

J. And S. Variety Store At S' Side Opens In New Location

Yesterday morning marked the opening of the new J and S Variety Store in their new building recently constructed on Summer Street.

The J and S Variety Store first opened for business in 1950 on Water Street in part of the store now occupied by the MacCausland Furniture Co. Ltd., in 1952 the firm moved to the corner of Water and Summer previously occupied by the Provincial Bank. This site was converted into a highly modernized store catering to the requirements of young people from tots to teens.

In the disastrous fire of February 6th., their entire stock and equipment was lost but within the short space of six weeks a new building was erected and the J and S Store is now once more back in business on Summer Street, not far from their previous site.

The store has a floor space of 1,200 feet and is the first of its kind to be constructed in town—a type known as a rigid arch construction. It has two fitting rooms and a commodious stock room at the rear. Counters are finished in birch and they as well as the removable shelves around the store were all built by Mr. Lester Linkletter and his staff under the supervision and they would see that this debt was cancelled. Well they have been in power for eight months but we still have to pay one fifth of that amount this year to the Federal treasury.

Mr. MacDonald made brief reference to the increase in pensions to the old age assistance, the blind and disabled. "From the talk that you hear around you would think the Federal Government alone was doing this when the facts of the case are that we in the Provincial Government pay one half this cost plus the cost of administration. When we are giving credit let us see that all who deserve credit, get it."

The Provincial Treasurer stated that from November 1 until March 31 the cost to the Provincial Government will be $150,000 and for the next year the amount budgeted for this purpose is over half a million dollars.

FISHERMAN'S INSURANCE
Another point raised by Mr. MacDonald was the fact that 2,000 fishermen in Prince Edward Island are receiving unemployment insurance amounting to nearly $50,000 per week.

"I think the merchants of this Province in these fishing areas can give you some idea of what this $200,000 a month means coming into their communities."

"Let none forget that it was a Liberal administration that was responsible for getting this legislation through and no small amount of credit is due Mr. Watson Macnaught who was then asstant to the Minister of Fisheries."

INCREASED CATCHES
In noting the increase in dragger catches 80,000 lbs. in 1950 to nine million pounds in 1957, Mr. MacDonald said it was not the intention of the Government to interfere with or injure the chances of an existing plant by starting a second plant at Souris.

He said the only objective they had was to see that there would be adequate facilities to look after all the catch and to assure the operation of at least one plant should something happen the other.

Mr. MacDonald noted that of the millions of dollars worth of fish sold each year more than 70 per cent is exported to the States. He emphasized the importance of retaining this important market, noting, "If anything should happen to the American market I do not know what would happen to the fishing industry of Canada," he added.

in all stages of the movement to market, starting first with the grower who will seriously consider whether he should sit tight or sell, and that speculative interest will continue to permeate every phase of the movement right through to the consumer.

"The future market for the present crop should be, and is, anybody's guess, but if one were to take a survey of the stocks on hand and where they are located, also the prospect of the new crop coming on our market in the next six or eight weeks, an analysis of such would show that the supply is, and should be for the next six weeks, on the whole, less than the demand, and if marketed in an orderly manner should result in a profitable deal to the grower for the remainder of the season.

"Without making any predictions it would be logical to assume that we should have a
