Price Support

With the secretary of Potato Growers Council and Minister of Agriculture from New Brunswick, your secretary met with Mr. Gardiner yesterday to further discuss the price support situation for potatoes. It was explained that this was an emergency period and that our small growers who have tried to do a good job of mixed farming were the ones who are apparently going to suffer the loss.

Those details have also been explained recently by our Provincial Government and every known effort made to give some assurance or relief. Although the door to assistance was not closed when we left, no definite understanding could be reached as to whether when, how or if any assistance could definitely be secured.

Among The Farmers

Federation Of Agriculture News

Ottawa Conference

The Dominion Provincial Conference held on Tuesday and Wednesday in Ottawa to discuss marketing boards and legislation, was most successful. About one hundred delegates representing both the producers and Government from each province attended. Four Ministers of Agriculture, six Deputy Ministers and their marketing experts were there. Mr. Gardiner and his chief marketing advisors and officials also sat in to discuss what is perhaps the two most important questions to Canadian farmers at this time; orderly marketing and price supports.

It was regretted that this was the only province where there was no representative from the Department of Agriculture. Our delegates were your Federation secretary, Mr. F. M. Nash, who sat in as an observer and Mr. J. O. C. Campbell representing the Government for representative purposes.

Producer controlled marketing boards have been operating in British Columbia for some fifteen years. The large delegations from the Western provinces, especially B.C., gave the Conference assurance that although there were many difficulties to overcome in the beginning and that each case had to be considered on its own merits, that this was the soundest arrangement in the long run.

After all those years of hard work, disappointments, court cases that went right to the Privy Council and other set-backs they have come to the point where they are able to market their products locally and on export markets, in an orderly way. It was said that even farmers who opposed even regulatory system of marketing in the beginning are now agreed that they could not, and would not go back to the old speculative hit and miss system. This is a long painful process. Its going to be the same here. Miracles in this line or complete solutions cannot be worked out in a hurry. It will take time to get everyone working together on the same plan. We will have the advantage of some assistance and experience from those other provinces in drawing up our "plans."

The Canadian Federation will, if at all possible, be making available the services of an expert with practical experience in this field to producer groups in the different provinces wanting to establish boards.

We want to emphasize that although producers must take and keep control of their marketing processes that the services of those experienced and established in the trade is essential.

Although Mr. Gardiner did not refer direct to the connection between price supports and the orderly marketing of potatoes in the Maritimes, he did intimate that given special consideration. It was agreed by most of those present that the potato marketing problem in the Maritimes was perhaps one of the most difficult of all marketing situations to regulate, however, they all agreed that it could be done when there was definite need and farmers demanded and supported the move.

The outcome of the Conference was an agreement on points of legislation required and the general principles of uniform "marketing plans" for products to be handled by a board in every province or in a group of provinces.

Your board of directors who are studying the details of our marketing and farm organizational problems can see the need for greater co-operation and understanding between all parties involved. A great deal of the bickering, hasty accusations and public statements made recently are unnecessary. Farmers must organize and stand together, but there is a time to be militant. Generally speaking a great deal more can be accomplished through constructive efforts and co-operation.

Response And Vote

At the time of writing some marketing ballots were still coming in from outlying districts. This vote will be counted on Friday and Saturday by a committee representing the Federation, the Department and the Potato Committee. The dealers Association was invited to have a scrutineer on this committee but declined because of the busy season.

Approximately four hundred districts have been heard from out of the four hundred and sixty odd originally contacted.

Exact results will be known within the next couple of days.

Reaction Sharp

During the last few days there has been and justly so, a great sheaf of correspondence accumulated in the Federation office protesting the action and attitude of official sources in the province. All that can be said at the present moment is that our executive is meeting shortly, will consider those problems and most likely make a statement to our members and the public.

Welcome Visitor

It is hoped that as many farmers as possible will get in to the meeting to hear the former president of the Scottish Farmers Union. In the old Country where farmers have been organized for a great many years, where they have the support of from 99 to 100 per cent of the farm producers, where their co-operatives and marketing boards are operating as an essential part of their economy, there is a great lesson for us.

We hope Mr. MacKie will have time to review this field briefly.

Forum Round-Ups

Most of the Farm Forum groups across the province are now planning their annual closing. Social evenings, banquets, etc. is the winding up event for many of them.

Next Monday night when a National Report of Forum activities across Canada will be given, several groups will fill out an annual questionnaire, make their suggestions and recommendations for next year's program. After that, Forum rallies will be frequent for a couple of weeks. We hope to have the new National Forum Secretary down to attend our County Federation meetings in April.

Coming Events

Within the next few days some very important legislation and announcements will be made with respect to next year's agricultural program.

Amendments to the Agricultural Prices Support Act will be introduced to the House of Commons, floor prices will be established for butter, and there may be some discussion of bacon prices after July. A new margarine act and minor amendments to our marketing act will be introduced in our provincial legislature.

Representations have been made in this province and right across Canada on those questions. The results will determine to a great extent the future prosperity of agriculture and those who depend on producers buying power. We, as producers also must use every effort in this post war period to organize ourselves and establish a marketing system by which we can protect and do things for ourselves.

Farm Prices & Market Report

The demand for potatoes shows some improvement and fairly large quantities are moving to market daily, states the market report of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, prepared by Mr. W. R. Shaw, Deputy Minister. The limit of the reifer car facilities have been utilized, but some shortages are still reported. In connection with the latter, however, it is felt that the railway is doing a good job in promoting the supply. During this month to the 21st, as compared with the same period last year, 238 more cars of potatoes were handled. During the same period 24 cars of turnips were handled last year, and 97 cars this year. This makes about 311 more reifer cars in use during this period.

"At the same time," says the report, "it is exceedingly important that pressure be kept on and the highest possible number of cars be made available. For the next month there will be heavy shipments and there are still a lot of potatoes in Prince Edward Island to move."

"We would ask dealers in potatoes if they receive cars for potato shipments not to divert it. Use it only for the purpose of shipping potatoes and for the destination, if at all possible, for which it was originally intended. Cars intended for shipping seed potatoes to United States should not be used to ship turnips to Boston or tablestock potatoes to any other points."

It is noted that there is a serious car shortage in Maine. With the spring movement of seed and tablestock this condition is more or less inevitable.

Potato prices have improved slightly but not to any appreciable extent.

It is urged that potatoes be kept moving as long as market levels are reasonably secure.

Following is the detail at various centers in the Province:

Tignish—Tablestock. Mountains 48c per bushel. Scarcity of cars. O'Leary — Tablestock 50c per bushel. No cars.

Wellington — Tablestock 48c per bushel.

Summerside — Tablestock. 48c per bushel. Turnips $1.00 per bushel.

Borden Line — Slow movement. Seed tablestock 48c per bushel. Charlottetown — Tablestock 48c per bushel. Seed, Cobblers 84c per bushel. Other varieties about the same as tablestock. Turnips $1.20-$1.25 per bushel on board car.

Vernon River — Seed, Cobblers 75c per bushel; Mountains 48c per bushel. Tablestock, 48c per bushel.

Cardigan — Tablestock, 40c-45c at the car. Seed, 45c-50c with slow movement. Cobblers 70c-75c. Turnips $1.00 at the car.

Morell — Cobblers 72c-75c per bushel at the car with other seed 50c.

Elmira — Foundation A Cobblers 70c at the car. Foundations A Katashins 50c. Cars short.

Kensington — Tablestock, all varieties 48c per bushel. Seed, Cobblers 70c. Other varieties of seed 48c.

The turnip market is somewhat variable and while prices have been sustained at a reasonable level the market has weakened some, due no doubt to considerable quantities going on the market.

Feeds

Our latest quotations on No. 1 feed oats in bulk delivered by carload is $3.08 1-2 per cwt. which would leave a retail price of $3.15-3.20. Barley is $2.98, carlot, bulk, or a retail price of $3.40. In all probability the next barley deliveries will be up to $3.05 per cwt. Millfeeds are also up another dollar. Bran is $2.80-$2.90, and will likely reach $3.00. Oatcake is not available until the last of April.

Unfortunately there is not a large supply of grain in shipping points and there is not disposition on the part of the producer in the West to move grain until road conditions improve.

The new freight rates will effect the price of grains slightly. The necessity of a revamping production programme is emphasized. A good deal of Island grain has been fed this year because of high prices of feeds and there is not a very large quantity in reserve. The mills are prepared to buy Island grain but good grain seems to be hard to get.

One or two mixing plants have definitely committed themselves to the purchase of Island grains for next year on a graded basis and are particularly interested in more barley. Instead of 10,000 acres of barley on Prince Edward Island we should have at least 25,000 to 30,000 acres along with an increased acreage of mixed grains.

The seed oats situation is also emphasized. No. 1 Commercial seed oats will retail in the vicinity of from $4.60 to $4.75 per hundred pounds. Wheat will be about $3.00 to $3.25 per bushel imported and barley around $2.50 per bushel for No. 1 seed.

Producers are warned against unclean grain, or against the seedling of feed grain even though it is cleaned, doubly cleaned, or trebly cleaned. It is still not seed and should be used only for feeding purposes. Timothy seed will be high in price, around 37c per pound, and clover seed is higher than last year's price. Some farmers are using "Ladino" clover which retails at $2.60 per pound. This seed is a small seed and some who have made a success of it value this clover very highly for both forage and pasture purposes.

Ground Limestone

Regarding ground limestone, a charge has taken place recently in the amount of the bonus; that is the subsidy on ground limestone until March 31st has been somewhat higher than that which will prevail for the next few months. This subsidy amounted to $2.00, while the subsidy for spring delivery beginning April 1st will be $1.50 per ton. This was done in order to encourage the ordering and delivering of ground limestone in the fall and winter months when it is more readily available than during the rush period in the spring.

The farmer should always buy his lime direct from the Company with which he is doing business. At the present time there are four main groups making deliveries to this Province.

The hay market remains practically the same with considerable demand, the price being from $15.00 to $16.00 delivered at the car.

The price of wool has improved considerably during the present season. The P.E.I. Sheep Breeders' Association will again be handling wool for our sheep men on a co-operative basis at Charlottetown. Transportation costs on wool will be paid and the highest market price will be secured for wool on a graded basis.

The Department's policy of assistance to sheep breeders involves the payment of approximately 50 per cent of the cost of Penthazine tablets for the treatment of internal parasites.

Some communities are organizing for the extermination of the variable fly menace and the Department has a policy whereby Warble Fly exterminator will be supplied at a substantially reduced price to community groups who undertake an extermination programme.
