MARSHA

"Marsha" by Roland Taylor was the winning child portrait at the Charlottetown Camera Club Monday.

There was an exceptionally large attendance at the meeting of the Charlottetown Camera Club on Monday evening. Among those present were six guests from Freetown and Bedeque who hope to form a camera club in that locality in the near future.

The black and white print competition "Child Portraits" with thirteen entries by eight members was won by Roland Taylor with "Marsha". Second and third places went to Bob Hambly. Mr. George Barter who judged the prints gave constructive criticism on each.

A color slide competition, "Typical Island Scenes," portrayed many and varied aspects of Prince Edward Island. Mr. Al Nicholson of the Travel Bureau in judging the slides, award ed first spot to Margaret Mallett for a farm scene by the Trout River; and second and third places to Roland Taylor for a wharf scene at Covehead Harbor and a shore scene at Montrose River.

Bob Hambly, giving a talk on films, had on display a package of every kind of roll film available in the city, and explained the purpose for which each was best adapted.

The evening closed with a pleasant social half hour with coffee and doughnuts served by Marion Dockendorff and committee.

P.E.I. Hosp. Ladies' Aid Start On New Venture

A novel method of supplementing their givings will be instituted by the Senior Ladies Aid of the Prince Edward Island Hospital when on Friday afternoon of this week they open the "Nearly New Shop" at 122 Kent Street where they will handle a variety of goods including clothing, novelties, furniture, dishes or practically anything that can be sold.

The venture although new to Charlottetown is not new in other cities. While the primary purpose will be to raise funds for the hospital, it is pointed out that another practical and worthwhile service is rendered.

It is the fact that many people with limited funds can secure good merchandise for only a token of the original or real value and still retain their self respect by having bought the goods. The ladies of the Senior Hospital Aid wish to point out that the venture is not a rummage sale. For the time being they will have their store open on Friday afternoons but if the demand is great enough they will open two days a week or if necessary every day of the week.

Several merchants of the city have made donations of paint, heating and furniture. Mr. Daniel Tweel has given the building rent free for at least six months.

The women state they are not in competition with other business throughout the city. The clothing sold will be drycleaned and in good condition. Children's clothing will be one of the major items offered.

Citizens are asked to make donations of any article which they think might sell in the store. There are no paid workers and no money is paid for any of the goods donated to the cause.

It is understood that similar efforts tried in other places have met with great success and the Hospital ladies are expecting that they will find a ready response from the citizenry of Charlottetown.

Evict Barber After Shooting

NEW YORK (AP) — A judge Monday refused to stop the Hotel Park Sheraton from evicting the operator of a barber shop where gangster Albert Anastasia was shot to death.

The hotel claims the shop served objectionable patrons.

Its operator, Albert Grasso, asked a temporary restraining order to prevent lease revocation.

State Supreme Court Justice Jacob Markowitz refused but said Grasso could use the hotel for civil damages if he could prove closing the shop caused a financial loss.

Anastasia was shot fatally by an unknown gunman as he sat in a barber chair in the shop Oct. 25.

Grasso maintained that his lease still has six years to go, and that if he had to give up the hotel shop he would suffer $500,000 damages.
