

Perseverance.

One step and then another, And the longest walk is ended; One stitch and then another, And the largest rent is mended; One brick upon another, And the highest wall is made; One flake upon another, And the deepest snow is laid. Then do not look disheartened, On the work you have to do, And say that such a mighty task You never can get through; But try endeavor, day by day, Another point to gain, And soon the mountain which you feared Will prove to be a plain!

Farm and Garden.

HOW TO PLANT RASPBERRIES.—For the best results hills of raspberries should stand four feet apart each way. The raspberry does best in a deep rich, moist, but well-drained, soil. It will not thrive in hard, dry ground. Partial shade is often beneficial. Make all the land rich and mellow as you can. If one or two shovelful of old, rotten manure can be dropped and forked in deeply, just where the hills are to be made, it will give young plants a vigorous start. If only fresh, unfermented manure is to be had, scatter it on the surface; just around the plants after setting them out, or fork and cultivate it slightly under the surface, and the rains will carry the richness down. Hot, green manure should never be placed near the roots of plants or trees. Set two or three plants in a hill according to their size. Cut them down to six or eight inches.

CHEAP HOT-BED FRAMES.—Glass is so cheap that few persons will think of using anything else for covering the frames, but there are cheaper materials that will answer very well, besides being more speedily prepared. One of the best materials for covering frames besides glass is common white muslin, coated with the following composition: Take one quart of linseed-oil, one ounce of sugar of lead and three or four ounces of rosin. Pulverize the sugar of lead in a little oil, then add to the other materials. Put all into an iron kettle and heat it until the resin is dissolved and the other ingredients are thoroughly mixed, stretch the muslin upon the frames, and apply the composition while hot. Frames prepared in this manner will last for several years, if kept under cover when not in use.—Fruit Record.

An Inaccessible Editor.

(Edinburgh Cor. Philadelphia Press.) The newspapers of Scotland are far behind us in enterprise and news; their forte is heavy leaders and long speeches. The offices are conducted in a manner which is novel to an American. Having occasion to visit the office of the Scotsman, I was met by a female dragon, who guarded the approach to the sanctum. Her brilliancy startled me from my usual composure. I have not been accustomed to see in newspaper offices women at all, but more especially one wearing diamonds in her ears and pearls around her neck, with an eyeglass tipped gracefully on her nose, out of which—the eye-glass, not the nose—she viewed me suspiciously. In a voice not sweet but strong she demanded my business.

"I want to see the editor," I answered.

"The editor is never seen," was the reply.

"Never seen!" I exclaimed.

"Never seen except by those who know him" was the answer.

"What's his name," I asked.

"His name is never given to people who don't know it," she said.

"How can I communicate with him?"

"By letter," replied the fair Cerberus. Such was my experience in the office of the Edinburgh Scotsman.

Three Scotchmen—Dr. Watson, Mr. John MacLaren, and Mr. Robert MacKenzie were walking over the Reichs Bridge, which spans the Danube, in Vienna, at a height of seventy feet, on March 29, when the two younger men tested Dr. Watson, saying that his courage would fail him had he to jump into the river. All at once Dr. Watson mounted the parapet, and, before his friends could hinder him, jumped into the river which ran seventy feet below. Despite the coldness of the water and the current Dr. Watson swam to the shore, where he was taken in custody by the police.

A German journal relates that a celebrated musical director conducted the "Funeral March" from the "Ereica" in black kids and cravat, while he wore a white tie and gray gloves during the performance of the remainder of the programme. This gave rise to a suggestion that in future he conduct the "Pastoral" symphony in knee breeches, round straw hat with colored ribbons, a shepherd's crook instead of baton; Mendelssohn's Scotch symphony in a checked plaid and bare knees; Raff's symphony, "In the summer" in a light linen jacket, &c.

A MARVELOUS STORY TOLD IN TWO LETTERS.

FROM THE SON: "36 Cedar St., New York, Oct. 29, 1882. 'Gentlemen: My father resides at Glover, Vt. He has been a great sufferer from Scurvy, and the enclosed letter will tell you what a marvelous effect

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has had in his case. I think his blood must have contained the humor for at least ten years; but it did not show, except in the form of a scrofulous sore on the wrist, until about five years ago. From a few spots which appeared at that time, it gradually spread so as to cover his entire body. I assure you he was terribly afflicted, and an object of pity, when he began using your medicine. Now, there are few men of his age who enjoy as good health as he has. I could easily name fifty persons who would testify to the facts in his case. Yours truly, W. M. PHILLIPS."

FROM THE FATHER: "It is both a pleasure and a duty for me to state to you the benefit I have derived from the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Six months ago I was completely covered with a terrible humor and scrofulous sores. The humor caused an incessant and intolerable itching, and the skin cracked so as to cause the blood to flow in many places whenever I moved. I was unable to work, and my life a burden. I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla in April last, and have used it regularly since that time. My condition began to improve at once. The sores have all healed, and I feel perfectly well in every respect—being now able to do a good day's work, although 72 years of age. Many inquire what has wrought such a cure in my case, and I tell them, as I have here tried to tell you, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. Glover, Vt., Oct. 21, 1882. YOURS gratefully, HIRSH PHILLIPS."

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Itches, Sores, Bolls, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.

PREPARED BY Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists; $1, six bottles for $5.

MRS. SOPHIA POTTER'S Bone Rheumatic Liniment

IT is a fact worth knowing that Mrs. Sophia Potter's Bone Rheumatic Liniment cannot be excelled for removing pain and soreness. It is no worthless trash, as some may suppose, simply because they have been imposed upon by others; but it is positively the "King of Pain." Sore throat cannot stand before its power.

All we ask is a trial that you may be convinced of the truth of our statement. Our experience is that one bottle tried also sells many more.
