Tyne Valley Cub Pack Holds First Father, Son Banquet

TYNE VALLEY —A successful father and son cub banquet was held recently in Tyne Valley Hall to honor the memory of the late Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Scouting movement.

The hall was decorated with the pack colors, azure blue and white. There was a display of Cub material including the Cub plants. The table was set with Scouting place mats, napkins, and place cards. Chairman of the banquet was Rev. Delmont Yeo, who offered grace.

Supper was served by the mothers of the Cubs.

Following the toast to the Queen, Dale Biggar proposed a toast to the fathers to which Carman MacNeill responded. Mrs. Thane Barlow proposed a toast to the boys to which Roderick MacNeill responded. Mrs. Alden Yeo proposed a toast to the memory of Lord Baden-Powell.

Mrs. Thane Barlow, on behalf of all present, extended a vote of thanks to the ladies to which Mrs. Carmen MacNeil replied.

Mr. Yeo introduced the guest speaker, Gorden Kerr, provincial executive commissioner who gave a very interesting talk on scouting. He was thanked by Mr. Yeo.

The two cub-leaders, Mrs. Barlow and Mrs. Yeo put on a short program with the cubs consisting of songs around a campfire, jungle dances and the grand howl. Mr. Kerr showed a very interesting film on a jamboree held in Ottawa a couple of years ago.

The following cubs attended with their fathers, Roderick MacNeil, Dale Paul and Jackie Biggar, Franklin Sheen, David MacDougall, Edgar Gallant, Geoffrey Ramsay and Bob Dawson, the latter three just being invested on Feb. 12.

At the close of the banquet a meeting of the group committee was held. The Tyne Valley Cub Pack has been in operation since last October.

DIEF BELIEVES

stand, he said. "I take a stand which I believe is right, honest and proper. There is no purpose in continuing vast expenditures for the sake of being consistent unless those things are effective.

Canada's two Bomarc bases and 64 Voodoo aircraft, if armed with nuclear warheads, would have a firepower of only five-per-cent of the U.S. bomb force. The United States has an estimated 1,200 aircraft like the Voodoos, but not more than half have nuclear warheads.

"I'll do nothing to weaken Canadian defences," said Mr. Diefenbaker. "But the lowest estimate I have seen of the deaths that would result in the first wave of a nuclear war is 18,000,000. You won't be playing politics such as Pearson is with a question that affects the lives and hopes of mankind."

WANTS NATO DECISION

Canadian Army and Air Force units in Europe under NATO will be armed with nuclear warheads if NATO decides to do so at its May meeting in Ottawa because Canadian forces abroad should have nothing less than their allies he said.

"But insofar as Canadian soil is concerned . . . we shall place ourselves in that position by agreement with the United States that we shall have readily available, in the event of an emergency or war, the arms that we need. But in the meantime we shall not have Canada used as a storage dump for nuclear weapons."

"We intend to make our policies in Canada, while maintaining the co-operation of our friends and allies."

He again quoted U.S. Defence Secretary MacNamara as saying the Bomares are being maintained because of the vast sums already invested in them. There was no commitment about them the Canadian government did not carry out. But he asked whether agreements had to be continued when the basic facts on which they were undertaken had changed.

The Conservative leader quoted Liberal leader Pearson as saying two years ago—"before he visited New York"—the Bomare was "a dubious mechanism" and Canada should not throw away her bargaining position in disarmament by acquiring nuclear warheads.

"Should he ever form a government, what would you think his policy was?" Mr. Diefenbaker asked.

SAYS RUIN FALSE

He said the Liberals now were bringing up the defence question in order to "get away from the falsehoods of last May and June when they said Canada was going to ruin."

"They preached ruin so that ultimately they might rule . . . they undermined Canada, and did it deliberately in order to destroy."

He said Mr. Pearson now favors contributory old age pensions.

"That was our policy," Mr. Diefenbaker said, "but they would not let us bring it in.

"They promise everything under the sun; I think they are now up to $75 a month. They are the same people who said $6 was enough."

The other parties in the Commons combined with the Liberals to defeat the government and prevented the Conservatives from proceeding with popular measures including another $42,000,000 acreage payment to Western wheat producers, the prime minister said.

SAYS CHINA PAYS

The Liberals belittle the sale of wheat to China, saying the deal was made by the Canadian Wheat Board and not the government. But the government extended China the credit and repayments have been ahead of schedule.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the Liberal downgrading of Canada so chiseled away foreign confidence that foreign investments started to draw away from Canada last June. The government had to take emergency measures and now has the largest foreign fund in its history.

"We carried out our promises and we told the people the truth," he said.

Mr. Diefenbaker started his speech recalling early political stories about Prince Albert. It was 38 years ago he was first nominated.

"Whatever the pundits may say at this time, as Prince Albert will go, so will go the nation," he said.

W. Prince Music Festival Is Planned By Tignish H&S

TIGNISH — The Tignish Home and School Association will sponsor a West Prince musical festival for all schools in the area late in May. This was voted on unimously at the February meeting held in the high school auditorium, and chaired by the president Valmore Arsenault.

Sister St. George, music teacher for the Tignish schools saw the great need for classes to be adjudicated in the area, as transporting children to other centres was not only tiring to the children, but almost impossible to give each child a fair showing.

With so many participants it is expected it will take two days to adjudicate the many different classes. Funds to help pay the over all expenses are being generously donated from many different sources.

Sister St. George outlined some of the program planned, and answered many questions on this new undertaking.

A news letter from Dr. Kenneth Parker was read by the secretary, Sister St. Eileen. The treasurer, Mrs. Carman Hogan, reported cash on hand of $60. A donation was given to the Tignish Sports Recreation Association to help it with its winter sports program.

David Harper, physical training instructor for the Tignish Regional High School gave the members a report on the benefits of a sports program in the schools. Through sports, Mr. Harper stated, the students are able to develop their minds and body and co-ordination. It helps them to think fast, and move right, and it helps students to live co-operatively with others, he said. He outlined the full program of all-year round sports now heading the list.

Mrs. John Hackett reported on the activities of community welfare committee carried on during the winter months at recreation programs.

Mrs. Alma McCormack reporting for the public relations committee said she was delighted to hear of the musical festival. Being closely associated with the arts, she endorsed it wholeheartedly.

Sister St. Elizabeth Clair, home economics teacher, spoke on the adult education classes she is now teaching, and the interest her class is showing in the work.

Mrs. Wilfred Boyce gave the report of the finance committee, and thanked all who helped in any way to make the last fund raising project a success.

Rev. Sister St. Rosalia, chairman of the program committee divided the members into six groups for a discussion period pertaining to promoting the welfare of children and youth, and raising the standards of home life for each child.

Secretaries for each group were: David Harper, William Handrahan, Miss Yvonne Perry, Sister St. George, Mrs. Walter Hogan, Sister St. Emma and Russell Perry.

In evaluating the questions and answers more co-operation was said needed from each parent on the entertainment carried on for youth.

His deputy leader, Real Caouette, opposes them outright and Mr. Thompson has admitted their views differ.

Other convention resolutions called for senate reform including a definite retirement age for senators. Provincial governments should select half the senate appointments.

In his speech, Mr. Thompson said the primary campaign issue is the lack of leadership in government, not nuclear arms.

The second issue is the question of putting "morality and integrity back into the conduct of our affairs."

Third is the question of getting a domestic economy leading to a "new era of growth."
