IMITATION IS THE SINCEREST FORM OF FLATTERY.

MINARD'S LINIMENT

The best proof that has extraordinary merits, and is in good repute with the public, is that it is EXTENSIVELY IMITATED. The imitations resemble the genuine article in appearance only. They lack the general excellence of Genuine.

This notice is necessary, as injurious and dangerous imitations, called WHITE LINIMENT, etc., liable to produce chronic inflammation of the skin, are often substituted for MINARD'S LINIMENT by Dealers, because they pay a larger profit.

They all Sell on the Merits and Advertising of MINARD'S.

One in particular claiming to be made by a former proprietor of MINARD'S LINIMENT, which simply is a lie.

LETTER FROM PTE. JAMES MATHESON.

BLOEMFONTEIN,
March 16th

DEAR FATHER.—I am well so far and hope this will find you and mother and the children well. We have had a hard time of it to get here. We marched and fought for 200 miles, had two battles and three or four small scraps with the enemy, and then we got them on the run and kept them running for 100 miles so they could not get into positions so as to make a stand. We chased them twelve miles the other side of Bloemfontein. They all left the town and in twenty-four hours we had trains running from Bloemfontein to De Aar. The bridge over the Orange River was smashed but they ran a scow to make connections between the trains. We had a hard time of it for we were on half rations. Think of going through rivers and streams, wet night and day and no sleep, for more than a month and a half. There were 60,000 men moving all at once; we cleaned up the Orange Free State right ahead of us and now we have got them. We expect to be stationed here for some time for I think the war is over. Of course you know more about the war than we do out here for all we hear is what the Brigade we are in knows. We are under the command of Brigadier General Smith-Dorrien. There are four regiments under him the Gordon Highlanders, Cornwall Light Infantry the Shropshire Light Infantry and the Canadians. It is pretty hard to tell one regiment from another except the Highlanders; they wear kilts with a brown front. I have got some of the Highlander's badges. The Gordon Highlanders fought alongside of us on the 18th. I got the badges from them. They are the nicest men of the British army and the best fighters, except ourselves, so Lord Roberts tells us. He addressed us after the attack made on the 27th. You know Cronje surrendered to us. We all felt bad about Riggs and Taylor and those that were wounded; but the wounded are getting along all right. Tell the boys McLean and I are fine. We never fell out of the ranks once on the march, but some of them did and we are all here now. We chased the Boers one day from two in the morning till five in the evening, over hills and through rivers up to your neck in water. We made 24 miles that day; some days we made 10 miles, some 16, and some 20 miles. We had always to get to water and it took no small river to water the men and horses.

I cannot tell you anything about the city for I have not been in it yet, but nearly all the boys have been in. Only four men and two non-com's are allowed in each day so as to prevent too many men being away at a time. There are two companies so it will be a day or so before my turn comes. I have no pants fit to visit the city in as the knees are all out of them, but we will get new one as soon as supplies get here. Then we'll get new clothes. We are getting paper and ink tomorrow and then I will write you lots of news about this country. I do not think you need answer this letter for we expect to be on our way home before you get this, at least that is the opinion of the officers of the regiment. Some of the London Volunteers are getting ready to go home now. Tell Walter I will answer his letter tomorrow.

Your loving son,
JAMES MATHESON.

CONCERT AND SOCIAL.

A grand Easter concert, social and hop took place at Alberton, in Woodman's Hall, which was beautifully decorated with bunting and green, on Monday night. The crowd was immense and the programme of superior merit:

Instrumental music.....
Mde Dutton.
Solo.....The Widow of Old Windsor
Allen Matthews.
Reading.....The Newman (Dooley)
J Foster White.
Duet.....Whispering Waves
Mrs Keefe and Miss Wickham.
Violin Selections.....
Beloni Gaudet.
Solo.....J B Gaudet.
Reading—Obituaries.....
Jas Birch, M L A.
Solo.....Sirathosoa Horse
Dr Parly.
Cornet duet.....
Messrs Benj and Allan Matthews.
Solo.....Soldiers of the Queen
Miss Wickham.
Violin selections.....
B Gaudet.
Trio.....
Mrs Gaudet and Messrs J B Gaudet and B Gaudet.

The Rev. Father Burke presided while the programme was being carried, out and every number was excellent. Then came the sale of baskets, which, in good hands, brought big prices and aggregated a large sum for the management. While refreshments were being enjoyed, some young people diverted themselves with a few nice quadrilles. The entertainment closed with "God Save the Queen."

LETTER FROM CORPORAL O'REILLY.

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa,
March 16, 1900.

Dear Father:—I would like very much to give you a long and particular description of our march from Paardeberg to here, and incidents connected with it, but it is impossible just now. There are no writing materials among us except what we commandeered confiscated on the war, and we can't buy them in the city at present. This is written on part of a paged letter pad which has to be divided between nineteen of us.

When we were through with the Boers at Paardeberg we had some much needed rest, but were still making short marches. General French, with 7,000 mounted troops, took the lead, and while he forced the Boers to keep nimble moving he left the road clear for us. We made a fresh start on a four days' march of 57 miles, meantime expecting to have some fighting to do on the way; but the mounted troops did their work so well that the rest of the force had "a walk over," though a fatiguing one. It has been proved that in a "running fight" such as General French had most of the route, one English mounted soldier is the equal of three mounted Boers. In this instance, they were pressed so hard they did not get time to make a stand at Bloemfontein, so the city surrendered without a shot being fired. Under the circumstances it was the best thing they could do, for we had 170 guns with us, and in case of opposition being offered we could blow the place to pieces in a few hours. We hear that President Steyn has moved out with his Government, but we here believe there is no hope for him now. The Free Staters say they are tired of the war and are anxious to return to their homes.

Our division is encamped just outside of Bloemfontein—of which I should like to send you a description—but only five per cent of the troops are permitted to visit it at a time, and my turn has not come yet. But from what I can see of it from camp it does not appear to be much of a place. We have no idea where we may be sent next, and we may not know before you receive this letter; but several here believe the war will soon end, in which case we hope to be directly on our way home.

In the neighborhood of Kimberley, and after we had left Belmont, the Boers captured 45 provision wagons, and it is said they got 15 more with one of Canadian mail, but there is no certainty of this yet. However, we recovered the first lot together with nearly all of the enemy's.

While marching here we were supplied with only half rations. We had hoped for a change on our arrival, but were disappointed. Everything eatable of any value was bought up, and the rest could not be obtained except at enormous prices. I have seen some of the boys give two shillings each for hard square "six to the pound crackers. When meat is being cut the men pick up the scraps to fry, and not a particle if it but is used.

I feel that this letter would be incomplete without a word of praise for Father O'Leary. He has marched with us every step of the way from Belmont, and during the fighting at Paardeberg he made himself a very slave in our interests. Between helping and consoling the wounded, carrying water to men in action and rendering other kindly services, he made us think he bore a charmed life.

I must close as some of the other eighteen are waiting their turn at our commandeered writing pad; and hoping my several friends will be satisfied with you explanations of the difficulties attending writing here, I remain
Your affectionate son,
JOSEPH O'REILLY.

14 YEARS Without Cleaning

A watch was recently left with me to be repaired, which the owner stated had not been cleaned for 14 years.

But, mark you, it needs more than cleaning now, one of the pivots having been entirely worn away for want of oil.

I would like to impress on all owners of watch (particularly fine watches) the importance of having your watch cared for at intervals not exceeding two years. I solicit your patronage, because I know that I can give you the best service obtainable.
