CONTRACT BRIDGE

NO GROUNDS FOR COMPLAINT

"GEE, PARTNER," said South at the end of the following hand, "I would have taken all thirteen tricks if the jack of trumps had dropped."

"That's right," North answered, rather sourly, "but I wish you'd taken twelve tricks without gambling for an extra twenty points!"

In effect, that was exactly what South did—although, of course, he didn't mean to gamble so recklessly.

South dealer.
Both sides vulnerable

♠ 6 5 2	♥ 9 4 3	♦ 9 7 3	♣ K Q J 5
♠ J 9 4	♥ K 6 2	♦ 3 6 2	♣ 10 9 8 4
♠ 10 7 3	♥ 5	♦ 7 4 3 2	♣ A K 8
♠ A K 8	♥ A 7 5	♦ A K Q 10 8 4	♣ A

The bidding:
South West North East
2♦ Pass 2NT Pass
3♦ Pass 4♦ Pass
4♦ Pass Pass Pass

North's diamond raise wasn't good, but when West elected to lead a club (instead of a heart), the raise and the resultant slam contract should have had a very profitable outcome.

Declarer, however, was very unhappy when he laid down the ace and king of trumps and East showed out. Now there was no earthly way of reaching the three beautiful club tricks on the table, and no way, either, of salvaging South's losers in the major suits.

The contract was down two tricks.

If South had taken the pains to think he might have found a more realistic approach to the problem of the hard-to-reach dummy. It was logical to cash one high trump, but then South should have abandoned the idea of dropping the trump jack. He should have followed up with a low trump lead—the four to dummy's seven, or the eight to the nine—fully prepared to lose a trick to the jack in the interest of creating a sure entry to dummy. Obviously, with this simple line of play South would have gained three tricks (in clubs) for the one trick he sacrificed in trumps.

YOU WILL FIND GREAT WEALTH IN THE TRADING OF FURS

VERY WELL, CHAMPLAIN, WE WILL VENTURE WITH YOU

Champlain was eager to explore the new land. He spent much time seeking the financial support of French nobles and merchants.

In 1608, his third trip to Canada, Champlain built on the site of Quebec. The founding of a great city!

YOU ARE OUR TRUE FRIEND. LIVE WITH US DURING THE WINTER

Guided by the friendly Hurons, Champlain in 1615 makes his way from Quebec up the Ottawa River to Georgian Bay. His enthusiasm for the country grows.

CHAMPLAIN MUST LEARN OF THIS LAKE YOU CALL 'ONTARIO'

Champlain's seal was shared by Etienne Brulé. His explorations and knowledge of several Indian languages were of great service to Champlain.

"THE EXCELLENCE OF THIS COUNTRY CANNOT BE TOO HIGHLY ESTIMATED OR PRAISED"

GENTLEMEN, CHAMPLAIN IS RIGHT. WE MUST HELP HIM BUILD NEW FRANCE

Champlain fought tirelessly to gain support for his struggling colony at Quebec. Finally, Cardinal Richelieu at the French Court set up the Company of New France. Champlain had succeeded!

CHAMPLAIN'S ROUTE

He explored, he built, he administered wisely. Father of New France, he was tireless in laying the foundations of the Canada we know today.

Champlain depended on the support of patrons... men like de Monts, Montmorency, de Gamin. These men understood the value of his work, and were proud to invest ships, equipment, supplies and money to help Champlain make the promise of a new land come true.

They were his partners in helping Canada grow.
