MUST PROVE HE'S ALIVE
TORONTO (AP) — Katsui Hashimoto was informed Monday that he must prove he is alive if he intends to run for governor of Tokyo in Wednesday's election.

In registering Hashimoto gave a street number in Osaka as his permanent address. Election officials in a routine check found that at Katsui Hashimoto of the Osaka address died last February.

The candidate must come up with a new permanent address—proving he is alive—before the election. He will be cast if his name will be thrown out, the official notice said.

ON DISCUSS

In discussing fisheries and new methods used he said, "we are looking for the greatest fishing development in North America." He stated fishermen from nations scattered across the Atlantic could steam for days to get here while for Islanders it was only a matter of a few hours to reach the rich fishing grounds.

The highest prices in history for lobsters were due, he said, to the "Dieffendall" which came out last year and said that devaluation of the dollar was a godsend to this province.

The Minister stated the government was giving serious consideration to providing ice-making facilities at various island points at a cost of approximately $4,000 per unit. These were becoming necessary, he stated, due to consumers being more 'quality conscious' than in the past.

QUEENS GETS

He was heckled at length by the Liberal opposition with pointed references to the "Moral milk farm" and the statement that all that was left of the investment was a picture of the ranch.

Mr. Rossier said he hopes the federal government will implement a 12-cent duty limit. "We feel this will be a great protection for our inshore fisherman and our small fleet of dragners."

Mr. Bonnell said he did not want to overwork the deputy but since he was receiving extra remuneration while holding the post he thought he should be able to take the chair for five minutes for the purpose of making a vote. Mr. Speaker declined to make the change.

Opposition leader A. W. Matheson said Tuesday's session had witnessed "a most fantastic development in the history of the Legislature." He said the Minister had the election act before it for several days, and asked why the now proposed amendments had not been put into it originally.

Asked Mr. Matheson: "Why are they put here in the last minute?" "Why was the public not made aware of the proposals and fog; showers ending in afternoon; visibility 10 miles from 10 miles to coastal mile in showers and to near zero in fog; temperatures in the 40s.

Alberton Man Injured While Launching Boat

ALBERTON — Stephen Burke of Alberton was seriously injured yesterday afternoon in an accident at Alberton. Mr. Burke was using a bulldozer to tow a lobster boat to the launching area when the boat slipped forward on the cradle and into the rear of the dozer, pinning Burke between the boat and the machine.

A large crowd at the wharf quickly pushed the boat away from the dozer. The accident victim is believed to have suffered a fractured pelvis, ruptured bladder, bruises and severe shock.

He was taken to the Western Hospital and later transferred by Rooney's ambulance to the Prince County Hospital in Summerside. Enroute he was accompanied by a member of the hospital nursing staff, Mrs. E. C. Lawler. His condition last night was reported as critical.

Mr. Burke is 45 and is chief of the Alberton fire department. He is married and has three children.

Dairy Output Boost Is Described Unwise

Agriculture Minister Andrew MacRae said in the Legislature yesterday that he feels it is "unwise at this time" for his department to encourage increased dairy production in the province.

He was taking part in the debate on the Budget Speech.

New U.A.R. Is Hailed

CAIRO (Reuters) — Cairo, Damascus and Baghdad celebrated Wednesday the creation of a new United Arab Republic uniting Egypt, Syria and Iraq in a federal union.

TWO POINTS CITED
In the midst of the celebrations, observers noted two significant aspects of the new union, which is scheduled to be in full operation in about two years following a plebiscite within five months.

During the crucial 20-month transitional period between the plebiscite and the date when all new federal bodies must be established, the federal president will wield wide powers and will be assisted only by a presidential council and a cabinet appointed by himself.

The negotiators apparently failed to reach complete agreement on whether political parties will be allowed to exist in the federal union.

Mr. MacRae said he hopes the new federal minister of agriculture will be "as considered of the problems of farmers as Hon. Alvin Hamilton was."

He pointed out that the incoming government has "about 100 members from Ontario and Quebec, representing mostly urban areas. The Liberal government does not represent the farmers of Canada. I hope the new agriculture minister will be as strong, as good and as fair as Mr. Hamilton. If the Liberal government is cooperative with us as the Conservative government was, we will be o.k."

Mr. MacRae mentioned as examples of co-operation the "Conservatives' willingness to share costs of compensating grain and potato growers in this province for crop losses.
