

Intramurals

By G.O. Dennis

In intramurals last week, the Selects softball team gained berth in the finals by defeating Verna's M&M squad 4-3 and then going on to defeat the Freshmen.

In the M&M win the Selects pounded Verna Parkman all over the ball park. Some of M&M players were disappointed. Shane "Tim Foley" Monaghan and the best dressed man on the field Bruce "Mickey Mouse" Johnson were crying after the game.

The Selects now go on to play Korakin in the best of 3 finals. Korakin beat the no name Engineers 11-1 in their playoff tilt.

Tackle football last week saw Marian Hall defeat M&M by two points on the last minute heroics of punt returner Hubert "Sockeye" MacDonald.

It was an all round horrible week for M&M as they got pounded in football, again, on Sunday 18-6 by the Selects. This game featured the debut of three new running backs of Dragon Moore, Chuckles Smith, and Crazy Legs Carroll. Moore and Smith both totalled over 100 yards in the day while Carroll went with one carry for five yards and then fumbled on the next carry and was cut from the team.

Well the intramural season is in full gear now with hockey practise beginning this week. Anyone wishing to try out for a running team just call me, Dial: H-E-A-V-E-N.

Even though the season is not over yet some nominee's for awards have been submitted to me. Steven Bishop looks like a shoe in for Chapped Lips Player of the Year. As Steven was seen kissing on the G.J.'s dance floor. Steven was trying out for the Selects but, if the GJ's symptoms persist, he will be cut before he touches the ice. The reason is that we already have a guy with siph-lips on our team, right Kirk.

We have a few more nominees for awards: Biters of the Year goes to, who else, but the Engineers. The Engineers, made up of 99 pound weaklings who have 90 percent averages but cannot play a sport worth a damn, have not won in intramural sport yet. The Engineers recently held a nuts and bolts pub and they were the only ones there with no nuts. All I have to say to the Engineers is keep on hiding in that room of yours, with the sign Males Only, and give each other head. So everybody out there, watch out for the Engineers because they are not nuts they just like having them around.

Blanchard Corner

Another softball season has passed for Blanchard Hall and still no championship flag hanging on the wall. The team won five and lost three, bowing out to Korakin 6 to 2 in the semi-finals.

Defensive standouts included Lee Walker, Brent MacDougall, and Chris Rushton. At the plate, no question Dwight MacDonald was a model of consistency; 0 for 15.

Coach Julio Calicutti called the team atrocious after their playoff loss and is rumored to be heading to a front office job with the Chicago Cubs.

So with the close of the softball season Blanchard turns its attention to hockey. News out of Blanchard reports that John Doyle has been put on waivers, George Nelson has signed a 1 year deal with Blanchard, and Stu Guddings may come out of a 5 year retirement.

The Montague Connection line is back for another season, while Dwight MacDonald will have a bigger chest protector when the season starts. And that's the way it is.

Women's Intra.murals

Softball is at the end of the season with Bernie #2 and Blanchard facing each other in the finals.

The play-off game was an easy win for Bernie #2 against Bernie #1 and #3. Some of the girls from Bernie #1 and #3 would have been better off wearing the gloves on their feet. Right Cheri De Werff?! The great plays were made by Claire McLaughlin and Helene Cline as they literally threw their bodies on the ground and made an outstanding play that clinched the game for Bernie #2 (7-4).

Broomball started Monday and again Bernadine is looking great, rather fantastic. But then again, we all know that Bernadine is the powerhouse for the intramural events. Hope to see everyone out on the ice.
