"Happy Thought"

IN ALL THE WORLD no cause of worry so widespread as inferior cooking apparatus.

WHAT WOMAN can help worrying the result of whose skill and care is damaged or destroyed by an inferior Range.

DEAL FAIRLY by your household and yourself—install Buck's "Happy Thought" Range in your kitchen and if you can't quit worrying entirely your wife will. The worry fiend holds sway supreme in many kitchens. He is a blood relation of the dyspepsia of like ilk. Banish them, buy a "Happy Thought."

The manufacturers of the "Happy Thought" are doing your culinary worry for you for all time—take advantage of it.

They have worried over and have perfected every detail of Range construction which though not always apparent on the surface, is most important in results.

Planned like an engine, fitted like a watch, as durable as the hills, the "Happy Thought" is ever in the lead, and there it will remain until perfection meets its match.

RECIPROCITY TREATIES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The President has sent to the Senate a number of treaties with Great Britain extending for a year the time for the ratification of the reciprocity treaties affecting the British West Indian possessions which were sent to the Senate last session, but failed of ratification.

He also has forwarded reciprocity treaties with Nicaragua, Ecuador, the Dominican Republic and the Government of Denmark, the last named affecting the Island of St Croix only.

The President also has forwarded the treaty with Spain, providing for the cession for the consideration of $100,000 of the four or five small islands in the Philippine islands, which were not included in the cession made in the Paris Peace Treaty and also extradition treaties with Chili and Bolivia.

The Chilean treaty was signed April 19, 1900, and the Bolivian treaty was signed April 21, 1900. Their provisions are identical throughout.

Every Form of Piles

Mr. George Thompson, a leading merchant of Blenheim, Ont., states: "I was troubled with itching piles for fifteen years, and at times they were so bad I could scarcely walk. I tried a great many remedies, but never found anything like Dr. Chase's Ointment. It cured me."

Mr. Jas. Jackson of the Laurie Spool Company, St. Alexis des Monts, Que., writes: "I was troubled for two years with that cruel disease, bleeding piles, and after using Dr. Chase's Ointment I can say I am entirely rid of it. It is a treasure to all suffering from piles."

Mr. W. D. Thornton, blacksmith, Calgary, N.W.T., states: "For fifteen years I suffered untold agony from blind, itching piles, and have been under treatment with well-known physicians. I had 15 tumors removed, but obtained no positive cure. I have suffered more than I can tell, but can now say that, thanks to Dr. Chase's Ointment, I am positively cured, and by one and a half boxes. 60c a box."

Monkey and Medicine.

From Forest and Stream.

I recently had the pleasure of learning of a remarkable instance of animals coming to the assistance of a wounded comrade, as related by Mr. Haviland, a civil engineer connected with the law department of the N. Y. C. & H. R. R. Co. While engaged in locating a railway line in Mexico, Mr. Haviland once shot and wounded a monkey which, with a number of companions, was in a tree. At the report of the gun all but the wounded animal disappeared among the branches. The wounded one, uttering cries of pain, placed its hand to its wounded side and withdrew it covered with blood and examined it. Its cries brought back its companions some of which also placed their hands to their sides and examined them. Then they departed, shortly a terward returning chewing something (probably leaves), which they applied to the wound. The stricken animal, holding the leaves in place, was then assisted by its companions in making its escape to a place of safety.

Somewhat analogous to this is an incident recorded by Mr. H. H. Keays, in notes on mammals collected in southeastern Peru, and printed in the Bulletin of the American Museum, on this subject by Mr. J. A. Allen. Mr. Keays relates of a Peruvian monkey, Alouata nigra: "I took his specimen from a band of about fifty. They were the first I had seen. They travelled by swinging from tree to tree. As the specimen fell dead, the rest of the band did not appear to be frightened by the noise of the gun. Two of them dropped down from the tree to the ground where the dead one lay, picked him up and stood him up against the tree, as though they expected him to climb it. Then they seemed to realize that he was dead, and dropping him began to chatter. Then the whole band took up the cry and scampered off through the treetops. The stomach was partly filled with green leaves."

WAKE UP, HALIFAX!

We sincerely hope that the proposal to make Halifax a great centre for the building of iron and steel ships will not end in mere talk. With our noble harbor and our strategic position for all purposes of general trade, it would be difficult to find a point more suitable for that great industry. We note that Mr. William Peterson, head of one of the large steamship firms of Newcastle on Tyne, in an interview at Montreal the other day viewed the project favorably, saying that it would employ at once two thousand unskilled laborers who might be recruited from the general shipbuilding business of the province, while the few experts might at first be engaged from abroad. Certainly the present seems the psychological moment for those interested in the trade and progress of the city to strain every nerve to secure a definite start in this direction. Delays are dangerous, and if Halifax is not sufficiently alive to her own interests some other city will get ahead of her.—The Wesleyan.
