Three Governments Insist On Aug. 31 Malaysian Date

By JAMES HAHN

SINGAPORE (Reuters)—Government leaders of Sarawak, Singapore and North Borneo say they will insist on formation of the Malaysian federation by Aug. 31 despite Indonesian objections.

Heads of government Lee Kuan Yew of Singapore and Stephen Kalong Ningkan of Sarawak and chief minister designate of North Borneo spoke Thursday night at a press conference on their way to Kuala Lumpur to place their views before Premier Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaya.

All denounced Indonesian insistence that Indonesian and Philippine observers must be present while a United Nations team surveys political feeling in Sarawak and North Borneo about the proposed federation of the two countries with Malaya and Singapore.

At Kuching, Sarawak, as he left to come here, Ningkan shouted to reporters: "To hell with Indonesia. He will not be bullied and if we are forced to fight we will fight to the last man."

The three leaders told the press conference they have a concrete proposal to put before Rahman, acknowledged architect of the federation, which would permit it to be formed Aug. 31 as originally scheduled.

WITHHOLD DETAILS

They declined to give details of the proposals.

Ningkan said a crisis had arisen because UN teams in Kuching are being held up by the non-arrival of Indonesian and Philippine observers. Indonesia has insisted on having more than four observers agreed on by the federation countries.

Stephens said: "The only reason why the Indonesians want to send more observers is to try to wreck Malaysia by delaying tactics."

Informed sources said the UN teams have received instructions to "stall" until Sunday when a compromise solution by UN Secretary - General U Thant will be presented to the federation countries.

In London, the British government said it was willing to see Indonesia, the Philippines and Malaya send four observers each to the British - controlled territories. Indonesia has demanded at least 30 observers.

Earthquake Key Reported Found

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—A British scientist has reported promising magnetic clues to predicting earthquakes — perhaps to the day, place, and how strong they will be.

"It is most probable that within the next 10 years we can be forecasting earthquakes reliably," Dr. Frank D. Stacey of Cambridge University reported here.

Earthquakes occur when great blocks of rocks suddenly slip past one another along faults or cracks in the earth.

Increased stress changes the magnetization of the rock masses, and this is the clue for predicting quakes, Stacey told the International Union of Geodesy and Geophysics.

"We now have magnetometers sensitive enough to measure the slight changes in the magnetic fields along each side of a fault," Stacey said in an interview.

Ford Of Canada To Install Belts

TORONTO (CP) — Ford Motor Company of Canada Limited has announced it will install front seat belts as standard equipment in all passenger cars starting Jan. 1.

A spokesman said the decision was taken to meet the public's increased acceptance of seat belts as a safety measure.

Ford becomes the third Canadian auto company which is either installing seat belts or planning to do so. Seat belts have been standard equipment in 1963 Studebakers and will continue in 1964 models.

General Motors of Canada Limited announced Thursday it will provide belts in its 1964 models, starting Jan. 1.

Opening lead — king of hearts.

This hand was played in the match between France and Great Britain during the European championships in 1955. It provided lots of action at both tables.

When the British held the East-West cards, the bidding went as shown. Konstam opened with a diamond and Schapior responded two hearts. Ghestem (playing with Bacherich) came in with two spades, paving the way for a sacrifice against the slam towards which his opponents seemed headed.

The British pair then bid very precisely to seven hearts, which they would have made, but Ghestem assessed the situation accurately and sacrificed with seven spades. This was doubled and defeated six tricks — 1,100 points —but was a good save against the laydown grand slam which would have cost the French 2,210 points.

At the second table, where the British now held the North-South cards, the bidding went:

Jais responded to Trezel's diamond bid with two hearts, which West raised to three after South (Dodds) overcalled in spades. North (Pavlies) bided his time, waiting to see how far the French would go before making his move.

Jais leaped to five notrump, using the grand slam force which requested his partner to bid seven hearts if he had two of the three highest trump honors. Trezel obliged by going all the way, but Pavlies now came forth with seven spades, which also went down 1,100.

So the hand turned out to be a standoff, despite the fireworks, though it did serve as an excellent example of sound defensive bidding. The two spade bid at each table paved the way for the eventual sacrifice which saved each North-South pair 1,110 points, the pair results being reached at both tables after good biding by each side.
