In Memoriam

In loving memory of Mrs. Adam Kingston who passed away on September 22, 1954.

Our hearts your memory lingers, sweetly, tender, fond and true, there is not one day dear mother that we do not think of you.

Happy hours we once enjoyed, how sweet the memory still, but death has left a loneliness that the world can never fill.

And oft our thoughts do wander, to the grave not far away, there we laid our dear loved one just one year ago today, lovingly remembered by husband and family.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank Dr. Pierce, Mrs. MacDonald and nurses of the P.L. Hospital for their kindness, those that sent flowers, treats and cards, or helped in so many ways during my recent illness. Mrs. Fulton Willis, Milton.

SEYMOUR MURPHY

At the Charlottetown Hospital on June 22, 1955, death came peacefully to Seymour Murphy of South Shore June 3, 1878, the son of Thos. E. Murphy and Mary Anne Smith. The deceased was educated in the local school and later at St. Dunstan's University. On the completion of his studies he engaged in farming with his father, an outstanding figure in his chosen field, and in 1912 married Melvine Burdett of Fairview P. E. I. He continued farming at the old home-stead until three years ago when ill health curtailed his activities and forced him into semi-retirement for that period.

The deceased, known for his wit and good humor, thriving on verbal jousts of parry and thrust, was known far and wide to thousands of acquaintances. In all affairs pertaining to the community, in sickness and in death, and in fact at all times, where his presence was required, there he could be found, adding to the occasion an aura of responsibility and respectability, a chore which he so cheerfully and generously discharged at all times.

A faithful adherent of the Roman Catholic Church, he was visited during his illness in the Hospital by Rev. A. L. Sinnott, Rev. Gregory Murphy C. S. S. R. and Rev. Monseigneur Maurice MacDonald who administered the final rites of the Church.

Left to mourn the loss of a citizen whose place will be hard to fill, are his wife and constant companion, two brothers, Wellington of Charlottetown and Alfred of Calgary Alberta; also several nieces and nephews.

His funeral, under the direction of W. J. Brown, held from his late residence on June 24, was attended by a very large number of friends and sympathizers who came to tender their final respects to a beloved friend and neighbor.

The funeral Mass at St. Martin's Church, South Shore, was sung by Fr. Doyle C. S. S. R. of the Holy Redeemer Church, Charlottetown, who also officiated at the grave. The pallbearers were Stanley Taylor, Ivor Burdett, Alex MacIsaac, Wilbert Currie, Melvin Currie, Edmund Handigan. The numerous Mass Cards, floral tributes and letters of sympathy testified to the popularity and esteem in which the deceased was held.
