THE INGLE NOOK AT HOME.

From this one nook the world is fenced away. By four low walls that bound the realm of home. Here dwells its content. Here love and peace hold sway.

Here pride and hate and malice never come. And when the purring flames dispel the night True friends are they that sit within the glow.

Kind eyes shine brighter in the flickering light, And home's own voices, hushed to cadence low.

Speak—or are silent in a hush that speaks Even as the fire upon the hearthstone sings— Of home, the haven that each mortal seeks; Of home, the goal of all our wanderings. And hope's and memory's fairest visions come To hover o'er the ingle nook at home.

—J. L. Heaton in "The Quilting Bee."

SOME QUEER CUSTOMS.

Mining Camp Dishwashing and Tidy Island Teauaking.

An old camper out once related to a horrified housekeeper his experience of dishwashing in a miners' camp. It did not take much time, though the company was numerous and the utensils of the kitchens were in constant use. The reason why it took but little time he sufficiently indicated by the statement that the cook pot was not cleaned till it became too small to hold a pudding of reasonable size. Then somebody got a hammer and knocked off the hardened accretions from its interior till it was restored nearly enough to its original capacity to render further service.

On Tidy Island, an out of the way bit of an Irish islet, and indeed to a less degree throughout Donegal, the natives are not much more dainty in their living, and their habit of letting the grounds remain indefinitely in their teapots has disastrous consequences.

"Every day and all day long," says a recent writer, "the teapot sits steaming in the embers of the hearth, and at each successive brew fresh tea is thrown in, but the old is never thrown out until the pot is choked." The result is an unusual and excessive rate of insanity. Little wonder, when a Tidy Island boy who was questioned as to his usual meals, could reply:

"Stirabout for breakfast and tay for dinner; tay, ay coarse, at taytime and stirabout for supper, wiles we have tay for breakfast instead and stirabout for our dinner, and then another sup of tay before bedtime."

However, this diet, injurious as it is to the nerves, does not seem to affect the muscles. The Tidy Islanders are a robust and vigorous race, the men averaging 6 feet in height and the women unusually tall and strong. The women indeed have need of all their physical strength, since it is they who do the bulk of the outdoor work, while the men stay at home and spin and weave.

"At Anagry Strand on a Sunday morning," says the same observer, "one may witness a strange sight. At low tide more than a mile of roundabout is saved by wading across a narrow bay. The men include in their Sunday's wardrobe shoes and stockings. The women, by courtesy and custom, wear 'martyens'—footless stockings, with a loop passing over the toe. Each good wife takes her good man upon her shoulders, and the heroes are conveyed across dry shod."—Youth's Companion.

Landing a Bulldog.

A Chicago man who had been troling for muskellunge was returning across the fields to the farmhouse where he was stopping, when he met with a remarkable adventure. He thus relates it in the Chicago Times-Herald: "I hadn't gone far when I heard a savage growl behind me, and the next minute I was clambering into the branches of a convenient tree, with a big bulldog snapping at my heels. As I swung myself up out of reach I struck frantically at the brute with my troling spoon. One of the heavy hooks caught him fairly in the nose, and in a moment he began pawing and thrashing about in a wild endeavor to get loose. It took an hour to land him. He would run out a couple of hundred feet, dive into the deep clover and snk and grov. I then I would haul him in, hand over hand, with a hitch around a convenient limb. Whenever I slackened the line, away he would go again until I brought him up with a sharp turn. It was great sport. Talk about fishing! Landing a 20 pound muskellunge is tame and uninteresting when compared with landing a 30 pound bulldog. At the end of an hour he lay down at the foot of the tree, and I couldn't induce him to fight. I tied the line tightly about a limb, jumped down out of his reach and ran for the nearest fence. But there was no necessity for hurry—the dog staid. I told a farmer's boy I met shortly afterward where he could find his dog. I guess he deserved to keep my troling outfit for recovering it."

Proving that True Honesty and True Philanthropy Still Exist.

If any man who is weak, nervous and debilitated, or who is suffering from any of the various troubles resulting from youthful follies, excesses or overwork, will take heart and write to me, I will send him confidentially and free of charge the plan pursued by which I was completely restored to perfect health and manhood, after years of suffering from Nervous Debility, Loss of Vigor and Organic Weakness.

If he nothing to sell, and therefore want no money, but as I know through my own experience how to sympathize with such sufferers, I am glad to be able to assist any fellow-beings to a cure. I am well aware of the prevalence of quackery, for I myself was deceived and imposed upon until I nearly lost faith in mankind but I rejoice to say that I am now perfectly well and happy once more and am desirous therefore to make this certain means of cure known to all. If you will write to me you can rely upon being cured and the proud satisfaction of having been of great service to one in need will be sufficient reward for my trouble. Absolute secrecy assured. Send 5c silver to cover postage and address Mr. Geo. G. Strong, North Rockwood, Mich. 135&w.

How to Gain Vital Force—The Importance of Sleep.

Dr. Augusta Brown-Girard says: A strong, healthy organization is the first essential to success in life. With every thought, effort or emotion we expend a certain amount of vital force. We are vitalized, refreshed, curing sleep. Then while asleep, or in a passive state, we are reserving what is already accumulated.

Many persons cannot sleep during the day. They should lie down in a perfectly passive state, withdrawing the mind from all outside external cares and interests. Make the mind a blank as much as possible, and in this state one may accumulate nervous strength nearly as rapidly as in sleep. Dismiss all contending thoughts and give up the whole being to be acted upon by nature's law—simply rest absolutely.

We must practice self control. Learn to stop exertion just short of fatigue. Nothing is gained by overtaxing and depleting the vitality.

A well managed, judicious practice of exercise and rest of body and mind will soon improve the most debilitated. The faculties and functions of the human organization are numerous and varied, and, to be healthy, it must be exercised equally.

We must not overtax, smoke, chew or take stimulants. Get right down to bedrock nutrition. Be very temperate in eating and drinking, taking only the most nutritious and easily digested food. Keep the mind hopeful and serene under all circumstances. Few people realize how much force is expended in frivolities.

Make two crash mittens large enough to cover the hands. Put 2 tablespoonfuls of common salt into just enough water to dissolve it, and then wet the mittens evenly. Let them dry thoroughly and keep one constantly under the pillow. Before rising in the morning and retiring at night rub the body all over thoroughly with the salted mitten until it is in a glow. Then dip a towel in cold water, wet the whole body quickly and dry with the second mitten.

This gives the best kind of a salt bath, with very little trouble and in five minutes' time, and it will pay the most busy person to take it.

It is a protection against cold, keeps up a circulation of vital energy, upon which the circulation of the blood depends. Salt is one of the best known tonics for the bath of an invalid. The friction generates a kind of electricity, and one feels exhilarated for hours after. It is also a sleep producer. Warm or cold steel, also warm or cold water, judiciously applied to the nerve centers has a very beneficial effect. But by electricity, correctly applied to the nerve centers to stimulate or depress, as desired, one may produce almost any effect.
