Happenings of The Week

During the recent visit of Premier Pierre Menes-France and Madame Menes-France to historic old Quebec the inscription on the monument to Wolfe and Montcalm at the Plains of Abraham is recalled; their courage gave them a common death history a common renown, and posterity a common monument.

The executive of the Queen Mary Needlework Guild held a meeting Friday afternoon at Mrs. R. Bell's residence. Plans were made for the winter's work and also for the annual meeting in January.

The Notre Dame Academy has such happy memories for so many people that the annual Christmas Bazaar is of especial interest. Numerous friends availed themselves of opportunity to procure exquisite gifts and there were amusements for young and old. This stately old convent was founded in 1857 and since that time has been holding its noted Bazaar.

After the dedication of the Memorial Window to the late Reverend G. Carlyle Webster in Zion Presbyterian Church last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parent entertained at luncheon at Ravenwood for Mrs. G. Carlyle Webster, Miss Margaret Webster, Mrs. H. T. Jebb and Mrs. G. G. Granger. The guests were: Rev. Harold Brown and Mrs. Brown, Rev. Ernest C. Evans, Rev. Canon J. T. Ibbott and Mrs. Ibbott, Rev. T. H. B. Somers and Mrs. Somers and Mr. and Mrs. Raoul Raymond.

Mrs. J. D. Stewart, Mrs. Donald Campbell and Mrs. William Rogers entertained Friday at a buffet luncheon at Mrs. Roger's residence in the beautiful Crestwood residential section. The occasion was to honour Miss Helen Holman, daughter of Mrs. Emma Holman, Summerville, Miss Holman, whose marriage takes place in the near future was presented with a gift, as a remembrance of this lovely party.

During the week Mrs. Noel DeBlais entertained at the tea hour at her home Crestwood Drive in honour of Miss Helen Holman.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roper had as their guests Sunday evening at their home, Mrs. G. Carlyle Webster, Miss Margaret Webster, Mrs. H. T. Jebb and Mrs. G. G. Granger.

Miss Margaret Webster, Mrs. H. T. Jebb and Mrs. G. G. Granger left Monday morning on return to Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Burns entertained at their home Tuesday evening for Mrs. Webster. Further entertaining for Mrs. Webster this week included an afternoon tea given by Mrs. C. W. Patterson. On Thursday afternoon Reverend Harold Brown and Mrs. Brown entertained at their home for Mrs. Webster.

Mrs. G. Carlyle Webster who has been the guest of Mrs. William MacMillan at the Manor left Friday morning for Toronto.

The Women's Auxiliary of Zion Church held their annual tea and Bazaar on Thursday afternoon. There was a large attendance who enjoyed the excellent display of work. The main project for the W. A. this year has been the presentation of the memorial window to the Memory of the late Reverend G. Carlyle Webster. This magnificent window is a companion piece to the stained glass window, a war memorial to the Forces of the Crown, who gave their lives. Mr. Webster has been referred to as a gallant Christian soldier and gentleman. It seems fitting that both these windows enjoy.

Mrs. Gordon Avard is in Moncton for a week.

Miss Florence Owen, Miss Iris McLellan, and Miss Marjorie Stewart have returned from a trip to Toronto. Miss Owen visited her sister, Mrs. Colin Quinn in Toronto. Miss Stewart visited her brother, Mr. Allan Stewart Q.C. in Owen Sound.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Kennedy have returned from Toronto, where they were attending the Royal Winter Fair.

Miss Linnie Aitken and Miss Alice Fraser gave a most delightful Travelogue Film-Lecture on Thursday evening at Hearts Hall. The technicolor pictures included Great Britain, France, Italy and Switzerland with highly interesting detailed commentary.

Mrs. Guy Dalling and Mrs. Tess Garrett entertained Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at Mrs. Garrett's residence, Upper Prince Street. Five tables of bridge were in play. The living-room decorations included a large vase of pink, yellow and red carnations, and a bowl of Pink Delight roses.

Mrs. J. P. Beer and Mrs. L. H. Poole of Montague, entertained Monday evening at the Charlotte-town Hotel at dinner and bridge.

Not only was there pleasure expressed in seeing the beautiful Maritime Homes and Gardens, but there was admiration for the way in which Mr. Gordon Warren presented this subject at his Film Lecture at St. James Church Hall, Tuesday

Newly Weds in S' Side

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Greenaway are seen with their attendants following their wedding in St. Mary's Anglican Church in Summerville recently. The bride is the former Claudia Barwise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Barwise, of Summerville. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Greenaway, of Sarnia, Ontario. ## LET'S EAT

Vegetable Dinners Can Be Satisfying

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN

"Many people say they do not feel satisfied when they eat a vegetable dinner," said the chef. "Why is that? They certainly get plenty of bulky food to fill the stomach."

"Bulk isn't enough, Chef. And if the vegetables are drowned in the cooking by old-fashioned boiling methods, the body, in its instinctive need for vitamins and minerals, registers 'hunger' no matter how full the stomach may be."

Cream of Cheese and Onion Soup: Combine 1 1/2 c. fine-chopped onion, 1/2 c. water, 1/4 tsp. pepper, 1 tsp. salt and 1/4 tsp. sugar. Simmer 25 min. Meantime, heat 3 c. whole milk; add 1/2 c. grated sharp American cheese mixed with 2 tbs. flour and 2 tbs. butter or margarine. Cook and stir occasionally over a low heat, until the cheese melts. Add onion and liquid. Pour into 2 beaten egg yolks; stir 1 min. over a low heat. Garnish with minced parsley.

Corn Croquettes: Mash the contents 1 (No. 2) can corn kernels. Add 1 c. fine enriched bread crumbs, 1/2 c. chopped onion, any kind of soy peanuts, 2 tbs. enriched flour, 1 beaten egg, 1 tsp. salt, 1/2 tsp. pepper and 1/4 tsp. monosodium glutamate. Let stand 10 min. Form into balls containing 1 tbs. each. Roll in flour, then in an egg white beaten with 2 tbs. water. Coat with fine dry bread crumbs.

TRICK OF THE CHEF
Season cream of cheese and onion soup with a dash of nutmeg.

ELLEN'S DIARY

by an Island Farmer's Wife

James himself, obviously well pleased with the turn of events that had brought it about, "couldn't believe it!" when seated about the fire tonight we talked of another field-concern of the farmer now being speedily brought to a close. "Only a week, Ellen—and the plowing done! Just think of it. They poor fellows, have done well. They must be weary of the sound of the tractor, and tired out from keeping at it all day and into the night too!" he smiled. "The weather was with them all the way."

"It was the Lord's doing," our helper, whose ancestry goes back we suspect to the convenancing Scots, commented, soberly. "He gave the light winds and the sunshine—and the strength and purpose for the work. What is man alone when you think of it!" And now his mood changed. "Nothing but a speck—a little old bent mark on the face of the earth," he chuckled teasingly to James.

"But that's true!" he nodded, continuing. "And what do they do—the poor puny creatures? They splutter and worry and work and wear themselves out trying to gather up a bit of gear. And what does it amount to at the last? A bit of space in a graveyard—a place for two by six. Everyone high and low, rich and poor, worker and drone—that's what they come to—one day." There was a silence.

Miss Margaret Campbell, whose marriage to Mr. Kevin Kilbride in St. Dunstan's Basilica, has been widely entertained during the past week. On Sunday evening Miss Campbell and her fiancé were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Maddigan at a dinner party.

On Tuesday afternoon Miss Margaret Campbell was waited on by the Board of Directors and staff of

"Yes" James agreed, "but hasn't every one some special mission to fulfill before he comes to that? The Lord doesn't put people in the world for no purpose—just to sit around and let others wait on them. Folks have to work for a living. And sometimes 'the smiled' they have to splutter and fuss to earn that bread and butter."

"And little a farmer can do if the weather's against him," our helper offered. "Just wait with patience until it clears—or rains, or how-ever he would have it."

"And make good use of that spell of waiting! And keep one eye out for the first show of blue sky!" James chuckled. "And in everything give thanks," he added.

"Tonight, the field-work will be completed. The farmers will turn then to follow that schedule which takes care of the season of stabling. And the farmwife? She will continue her round, which daily is made up of the 'simple little things' of life. . . . In our scrapbook we found this inspiration of verse, it was taken from a 1952 number of that interesting and helpful magazine: The W. I. News, the contributor, Mrs. Edmund Reeves, Lower Freetown.

"We sometimes get impatient doing simple little things, Like stitching buttons, washing gloves—the trifling tasks life brings. We think we're wasting precious time, and grumble terribly, Because we think we're fitted for a higher destiny. But God did not despise the doing of the tiny things—He made the mountains and the seas, the whirling worlds on high. And yet He deigned to make the ant, the bee and butterfly, the spider and the snowflake and the smallest bird that sings. So surely, we with grace and care can do—the little things."

Many Reasons For a Young Babys' Crying

CRYING is about the only way your baby can let you know something is wrong. And, believe it or not, you can usually tell what the trouble is by the way he cries. When a baby is happy and comfortable, he won't cry at all. When he does let loose, however, every wail may mean something, even though it might indicate only that the little tyke is displeased with something.

Different Types
Different types of crying mean different things. You parents might do well to learn what they usually signify.
For example, if your baby is hungry, he'll probably let you know by a prolonged violent cry. It's likely to be more fretful than sharp. The only way to stop this type of crying is by feeding him.

Might Be Earache
Another continuous cry, usually of a higher pitch and very piercing, indicates severe pain. The most common cause of this is earache.
Food won't silence the baby when something is hurting him. If a pin is sticking him, or he's bothered by an itch, or maybe wet diapers, he'll let you know with an obstinate cry. It will be less violent and less piercing, however, than his warning or severe pain.

Paroxysmal Crying
Colic produces a violent, but paroxysmal cry. He'll pause for a moment, then begin again.
An extremely violent cry that starts suddenly, without a whimper, usually means the baby has hurt himself in a fall or in some other measure. You can usually soothe his injuries in a hurry and he will stop crying.

When He's Sleepy
You can tell your baby is sleepy if he rubs his eyes and emits a mild, fretful cry.
An almost inaudible cry most often signifies great exhaustion, and a hoarse cry is a pretty good sign of laryngitis.
There are other cries, too, which indicate a disease or other illness. But you had better not try to diagnose these yourself.
There is one good thing about a lull, crying baby. It means he has excellent lungs.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
P. J. L.: My wife has very bad cramps in her ankles and legs which wake her up during the night. Have you anything to suggest?
Answer: Cramps in the legs may be due to a variety of causes. When they occur at night, they may be due to fatigue, or to the fact that the legs are cold. Sometimes a deficiency of calcium or vitamin B may also cause cramps. In other cases, the cramps may be due to disturbances in the blood vessels, such as a spasm or a hardening of the blood vessels.
The use of calcium or vitamin B, or measures to improve the circulation are often of help. Quinine has been found helpful in some cases.

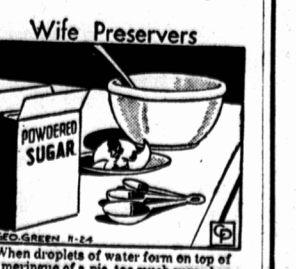

Your wife is in need of a careful study by her physician to find the exact cause for her trouble, so proper treatment may be prescribed.

BEEF PICKLE
Chop fine:
1 qt. raw cabbage
1 qt. cooked beets
Add:
2 cups white sugar
1 tbs. salt
1 tsp. pepper
1 cup grated horse radish.
Cover with heated vinegar and bottle. If fresh horseradish is not available, use 1 level the condensed horseradish.

On Friday morning, November 12, at 11 o'clock, Trinity United Church was the scene of an autumn wedding when Paula, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Burden, was united in marriage to John David, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ivan Nicholson, Alberton.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. Frank MacLean.
The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a street-length dress of azure blue German velvet, with a fitted bodice, and a Queen Anne collar and a matching blue velvet headress with veil. She carried a nosegay of white mums.

The bridesmaids were Miss Katherine MacDonald and Miss Jean MacDougall, who wore street-length dresses of coal German velvet, fashioned on princess lines with short jackets and matching head-dresses. They carried nosegays of yellow mums.

The flower girls were Heather Jane Burden, sister of the bride, and Judith VanAlstine. They wore blue velvet dresses, bandeaux of a floral arrangement and carried nosegays of white baby mums.
The groom was attended by Mr. Sydney Campbell, and the guests were ushered into the church by Mr. Jim MacNeill, Mr. Willard Irlam, Mr. David MacKay and Mr. John Squibb.

The soloist was Miss Maida Rogerson who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "I'll Walk Beside You." Organ.

Morning Smile
Williams: How did Harper happen to lose control of his car at the railroad crossing?
Hunt: He's the kind of a man who always drops everything when the whistle blows.
