VIOLETS.

Among what Time has left me petals pale,
A bunch of scentless violets; long ago
I plucked them dewy, wore them 'mid the glow
One harvest afternoon; their graces frail
Had fled forever ere an evening tale
Of sweet first-love o'erwhelmed me, even so
I kept them dearest of the flowers that blow,
And yet their keeping was of no avail.
E'en as I gaze, the breath of life is given
To joy long dead, first felt in twilight hours,
And tingling memories wake the living past;
So may it be when dawn shall rise in heaven,
Life's faded treasures bloom like morning flowers,
And drooping hope be garlanded at last.

—W. WOODWARD.

A BIRD-HUNTING PIG.

He Was as Reliable as Any Pointer Dog in the Field.

We call pigs stupid creatures. This is not fair. They are really as intelligent as the majority of domestic animals, but the lives we allow them are too short and their opportunities too few for them to show their abilities to advantage. The pig of which I have more particularly to tell was by no means a handsome specimen, but what she wanted in beauty she made up in talent.

As a baby pig she belonged to a person named Toomer, and she was reared with a family of young pointer puppies. She took kindly to her playfellows, and when they became old enough to follow the keeper in his walks she too would come trotting and grunting after. When Mr. Toomer began to train his young charges for their work of finding and pointing out game there was danger that piggy might make mischief. Put the keeper would not leave her shut up at home. He had, he said, broken many dogs as obstinate as pigs, and could surely break a pig that was so much more tractable than the rest of her kind. So he taught her to "back," that is, to stand perfectly still whenever a dog had found game and was pointing at it. To teach her this he used both rewards and punishments; when she did wrong he pelted her with tiny stones, for he could not catch her and chastise her as he did naughty puppies, and when she behaved herself well he had always barley meal pudding in his pocket for her.

But this was not all. He discovered that piggy, like many other pigs, had a keen sense of smell. She learned to scent the game, and point at it for herself; but not quite like a dog. A pointer dog when he has found game stands generally with one of his forepaws held up till his master comes to him. Piggy, as soon as she was sure that she had found a partridge or a hare or a rabbit, would drop on her knees and so remain for five minutes if necessary. Unfortunately before her schoolmaster had time to teach her any further accomplishments he died. His widow sent piggy to a man with whom she lived for three years. But, alas, piggy did not escape the common doom of pigs. In the end she was shut in a sty, fattened, and made into bacon, as all her ancestors had been before her.—Chicago Times.

About Women.

Mrs. Amelie Rives Chanler, who is now in Europe, is planning a trip to the Holy Land.

The daughters of the Prince of Wales have taken to cycling and run into each other just as every-day wheelers do.

Empress Eugenie is not going to Scotland this year, so she has declined Queen Victoria's offer of Abergeldie Castle.

So far Miss Anna Gould has been engaged to three princes, one count, one banker, and one actor. Money makes the gossips gabble.

The wife of J. M. Barrie, the novelist, was a London actress, but it is said she was always, as she is now, a most quiet, modest and well-bred lady.

Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe is still allowed a revenue from "Uncle Tom's Cabin" from her publishers, although the copyright expired some time ago.

Bernhardt has been photographed over a thousand times. Her first picture was taken in 1867 and she is shown in crinoline and with an innocent, childish face.

A Viennese journalist has made a collection of aphorisms on love, women and marriage uttered at the German parliamentary sessions. Bismarck is quoted as saying that "it is an extraordinary advantage to a man's career if he can make his journey through life without any feminine baggage."

To Protect Wild Animals.

A committee of English sportsmen and naturalists has been formed for the purpose of devising some scheme for the protection of South African mammals, chiefly giraffe, zebra, gland, gnu, koodoo and other antelopes, several of which, owing to indiscriminate slaughter, are on the verge of extinction. To attain this desirable end it is proposed to inclose a suitable tract of country of about 100,000 acres by a wire fencing, strengthened by a strong live fence of thorn on the outside.

A New Incubator.

The latest thing in the chicken business is the electric incubator, which is now very neatly perfected. The capacity of such a machine is practically unlimited, and the experiments have shown that electricity is very much better adapted to hatching purposes than steam or hot air. The percentage claimed for it is far greater than has ever been accomplished before, and the chicks come into the world in much healthier condition. The electric incubator has evidently come to stay.

Electric Lighting in Alaska.

A system of electric lighting is being put in at Juneau, one of the best known of Alaskan settlements, but a place nevertheless of only 2,000 inhabitants. When completed this will be the first central electric light plant in the territory. Electricity, however, is not altogether new in Alaska. It has been used for some time in a limited way in the mines. Water power is abundant everywhere and the current is generated on the streams and carried to the mines by cables.

Hungarian Opals.

Most of the finest opals come from Hungary, but the principal vein has been exhausted lately, so that the gem in its finest variety is exceedingly rare. The clear bright opals with the luminous fire come from Mexico. Any opal, and particularly the Mexican stone, becomes dull by washing the hands with the ring on, and all lose their brilliant play of color. The stones are not durable like diamonds, nor will they stand the same wear.

Two Faithful Servants.

In London there are two faithful servants who have probably beaten the record of domestic service. They are sisters, one of whom is sixty and the other six years younger. They have been in the same family for the better part of half a century, the one having served for forty years and the other for thirty-five.

WHO DR. McCORMICK IS.

Montreal has something to say respecting the well known Richmond Physician.

MONTREAL, Oct. 29.—Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, Que., whose remarkable cure of Bright's Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, has been set forth in his letter, recently published, is a graduate of McGill College, this city. He is well known, not only to the medical profession in Montreal, but throughout the entire province, as a careful and reputable physician, and his testimony to the worth of Dodd's Kidney Pills is accepted by physicians generally as a guarantee of the efficacy of the remedy. Such a communication, coming from so eminent a graduate of McGill, will have the effect of making Dodd's Kidney Pills universally popular in Quebec.

A CONFESSION.

Thousands Poisoned.

Many are Dying Weekly.

Past Attacks of "Grippe" Have Left the Seeds of Death

Ordinary Prescriptions Fail to Cleanse the System.

Paine's Celery Compound is Curing the Poisoned Victims.

The ablest medical men in the world say that all who have been attacked by "Grippe," and who have not thoroughly recovered, have the seeds of disease in their bodies working surely toward death. A deadly poison is implanted in all the nerves of the body. We see around us nervous and trembling men and women we see the melancholic, despondent and sleepless who are weary of life, and we note with alarm the haggard apperance of hundreds whose expression of face indicates coming insanity.

For such unfortunate individuals wise and prudent physicians have recommended Paine's Celery Compound as the safest surest and most efficacious medicine for eradicting all traces of poison and impurities from the system.

Past experience has fully proved the superiority of Paine's Celery Compound over every other form of medicine. It quickly purifies the blood, braces the nervous system, gives tone and vigor health and great bodily strength.

The following letter of testimony from Mrs. Mary E. Lampman, of Woodstock, Ont., is assuring, comforting and consoling for every sufferer:—

"After serious consideration, I think it my duty to acknowledge the great good that I have derived from Paine's Celery Compound. No living mortal can imagne the suffering that I endured for four months. The demon "La Grippe" got a fast hold on me; I became nervous, and was so prostrated that I could not sleep night or day.

"Life became a burden and I was reduced to a mere skeleton. My appetite was very poor; and I was so extremely nervous that I could not bear to have any person in the room with me.

"One Sabbath afternoon I read one of your papers, "Our Album," and found that Paine's Celery Compound had cured many people. I thought I would try a bottle, and bought one that afternoon, and commenced to take it according to directions. The relief was almost instant. I continued the use of the Compound, with the result that I can now sleep well al night and feel well when morning comes. My appetite is good; I am gaining in flesh and feel like a new person.

"I cannot find words to express my gratitude for your great Paine's Celery Compound, and for the wonderful cure it has brought about. I am 73 years of age, and can now walk five miles without feeling very tired. I am telling my friends and neighbors, who are sleepless and nervous and suffering as I was, about your medicine. Wishing you unbounded success and hoping this may be read by some one who is afflicted and anxious for relief."

"DON'T SHOOT—I'LL COME DOWN."

"'Scurious like," said the tree toad,
"I've twittered for rain all day;
And I got up soon,
And I hollered till noon:
But the sun hit blazed away,
Till I jest clumb down in a crawfish hole,
Weary at heart and sick at soul.

"Dozed away for an hour,
And I tackled the thing again;
And I sung, and sung,
Till I knowed my lung
Was jest about to give in;
And then, thinks I, ef it don't rain now,
There's nothin' in singin' anyhow,

"Once in a while some farmer
Would come a-drivin' past;
And he'd hear me cry,
And stop and sigh.
Till I jest laid back at last,
And I hollered rain till I thought my throat
Would bust wide open at ever' note!

"But I fetched her! Oh, I fetched her!
'Cause a little while ago,
As I kind o' set,
With one eye shet,
And a singin' soft and low,
A voice drapped down on my fevered brain,
Saying, 'Ef you'll jest hush, I'll rain'"

JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY.

WORE SMUGGLED GARTERS.

Richly Jeweled Bands Brought Ashore in Spite of Government Officers.

On the promise of seeing something new, if not startling, I accompanied an acquaintance to meet an incoming steamer from Europe. My acquaintance had informed me that his cousin was bringing over goods of very great value, and I expected that considerable trouble would be consumed in examining and appraising the articles. The "cousin" was an attractive young lady and looked rosy and healthy as she tripped down the long plank. She had had a delightful voyage, etc., and had been good enough to bring only two trunks. These were found, an inspector made a hasty examination of the contents, saw that they were only ordinary wearing apparel, chalked the back and we started off. We went up town and made for a good restaurant. The interesting small talk of travelers filled in the time until we three were seated at a table and the order given for luncheon. The lady sat next to the wall.

"I suppose everything is all right, Julie?" asked my friend.

"Yes, indeed," she replied, smiling triumphantly.

"I promised to show this gentleman something," he said. "There's no danger that anybody will catch on, so if you've no objection——"

He paused. She blushed furiously and replied: "Well, I don't know that I care, but it's unusual."

Then she reached down toward the floor on the side next the wall, and of course I don't know exactly what she did, but when her hand appeared again it was closed over something. She held it toward me saying: "Open both hands and be careful." I did as she told me and she laid upon my palms a garter that fairly blazed with diamonds. I took one look and whispered "Smuggled?" She nodded vigorously, while her companion smiled approval, and remarked: "I shall keep that interesting piece of ribbon. It saves me several thousand dollars in duties."

"There's another like it," said the fair cousin, "but I guess I won't take that off." The other, of course, was on the side not next to the wall. "You have to get a cab now for your curiosity," she added, "for that article was worn for use as well as profit, and if I walk—well, it might come down, and that wouldn't be pleasant."—Atlanta Constitution.

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
