Why you take Cold and Cough.

Generally caused by exposure to cold, wet feet, sitting in a draught, coming from hot and crowded places, in thin dress, or wearing damp clothes, stockings, or any other cause tending to check suddenly the perspiration. The result produces inflammation of the lining membrane of the lungs or throat, and this causes phlegm or matter, which nature tries to throw off by expectoration. JAGS OF UMTASSA.

Meeting a South-African King Who Get $100 a Year.

I have just profited by a holiday to pay a visit to the Chief Umtassa, or rather the King Umtassa, as the official dispatches call him. The country belongs to him, and the chartered company gives him a yearly present of $100, and this $100 present was just due. It is almost impossible to get a glimpse of Umtassa, partly because he is such a very important person—in his own eyes—but chiefly because his life has only three phases—going to drink, drinking and being very drunk indeed.

We were shown into a "reception hut," into which we crawled almost upon our hands and knees, and we seated ourselves on mats, prepared to wait an indefinite time—for the chic of a native chief, like that of a smart dentist, is to keep one waiting as long as possible. After about half an hour we began to clamor, and then we left the hut and began to wander about the kraal—a proceeding which the natives greatly objected to—and before we had gone far an induna came to say that Umtassa was coming and had sent a present of Kaffir beer. So we scrambled back and sat outside the stuffy hut and waited.

At last a sort of procession came winding down among the rocks, some of the natives wearing a snuff-box and a cat-skin, others draped in a blanket a la Julius Caesar, but none of them carrying any sort of weapon, with the exception of a big native who carried Umtassa's knobkerrie and his battle-axe. After this usher of the Black Rod came Umtassa draped in blue and white toga, with a blue and white cap on his head.

Much to our surprise he turned out to be a very imposing looking personage. In spite of his excessive dirt, he decidedly possessed what is called le grand air, which I take to be produced by a complete satisfaction of one's surroundings and not a little contempt for the rest of the world. Well, our friend Umtassa gave each of us a very grimy hand to shake and really one might have planted a mealie field under each of his nails. He then sat down on his mat with all his people grouped around him, and his induna told our interpreter that he might speak. Thereupon a good deal of business was transacted.—From South Africa.

INDUSTRY AND HEALTH.

Schemes for Promoting Both in Backward Oriental Lands.

The Amser of Kabul has ordered a survey for a steam tramway five miles long to bring building stone to the City of Kabul.

The Chhattis-garh States in British India are to be opened up by a system of modern roads, for which the States will pay.

A grand water supply scheme for the City of Mysore involves the pumping of water from the Cauvery into high towers, from where it will run through pipes for a distance of seven or eight miles into the city.

The potentates of the East are beginning to appreciate the advantages of modern industrial works in their midst. The foundation stone was recently laid at Lucknow for iron works, which are being started by a company of wealthy Oudh taluqdars.

Questions of sanitary and other improvements are occupying the attention of the authorities of Kashmir, where cholera and similar ills pay periodical visits. The British Resident is royally supported by the native rulers in this beneficent work.

Projects are on foot for opening up the Kashmir Valley by railway. Two possible routes have been surveyed, one by way of the Jhylum Valley and the other by way of Abbottabad. The length of line by these routes would be from 180 to 200 miles.

Hurrying a Slow Lover.

Washington is not such a slow city, after all, in some respects. Kate Field's Washington gives a case in point. A new feature in woman's rights has just been developed there by a valiant girl, who, taking the law in her own hands, has written a peremptory note to a dallying lover. At last accounts of interested friends it looked as though the novelty was going to produce the desired result of an openly-announced engagement. For some time past the man has been paying marked attention to the intrepid young woman, but rigidly refrained from committing himself to anything that could be construed into a proposal. After giving the matter thoughtful attention she resolved to try the efficacy of pen to see whether or not it would prove in her case mightier than the sword. Accordingly, scorning subterfuge, she dashed at once into the real reason of correspondence, stating frankly that her feelings had been trifled with long enough. The limit of patience having been reached, the young man would please report in person to discuss the affair with her mother the following morning at 10 o'clock. Consternation and despair naturally following the receipt of this McStinger epistle, the man hastily concluded to do what poor Jack Bunsby could not summon courage to do—"cut and run." A short, polite note to this effect was forthwith dispatched; but as the fates would have it, some trivial circumstance delayed the departure until a later train than the one intended, and in boarding a street-car the leading lady and her wished-for support met face to face.

Whittier and the Flowers.

It may interest the admirers of Whittier to learn that a Maine investigator who searched his poems stanza by stanza found forty-nine flowers mentioned by him. They are the azalea, aster, amaranth, asphodel, briar rose, buttercup, crocus, clethra flower, cardinal flower, daffodil, dogwood, eglantine, fern, gentian, goldenrod, harebell, heliotrope, honeysuckle, heatherbell, jasmine, locust, lily, life everlasting, lotus blossom, lilac, Mayflower, mignonette, myrtle, magnolia blossom, nightshade, orange blossom, orchis, pansy, pink, passion flower, palm, primrose, poppy, rose, rexia, sumach, sweet clover, starmist, star flower, sunflower, snowball, tulip, violet, wind flower.

That Pattering Noise.

"Isn't it raining?" said Mrs. Hicks, as she and her husband sat in the parlor of their little seaside cottage the other night.

"Oh, no! It's bright starlight."

"But what is that pattering I hear at the windows?"

"That, my dear, is the mosquitoes banging their noses against the wire screens."—Harper's.

Deservedly Popular.

Our readers have no doubt read with interest the despatches almost weekly appearing in this and other Canadian journals regarding cures of a most startling nature made by Dodd's Kidney Pills. These pills have proven themselves to be a certain cure for all diseases of the kidneys and blood, such as backache, rheumatism, Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, etc.

Enquiry amongst local druggists elicits the facts that they have a very large sale and are an infallible cure for kidney disorders.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are manufactured by Dr. L. A. Smith & Co., Toronto, and are sold everywhere, or by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or 6 boxes for $2.50. .....

He Was Convinced.

A man in Nova Scotia was in doubt as to the genuineness of the reported cure of Mrs. Bernard Maguire and ex-Councillor Lingley, of Petersville, Queen's Co., by a course of Hawker's Nerve and Stomach Tonic and Hawker's Liver Pills. He wrote to Squire Lingley, and that gentle man promptly assured him that the testimonials were genuine. .....

A STURDY CANADIAN YOUTH!

MADE SO BY THE WISDOM OF HIS PARENTS.

It will Interest all Fathers and Mothers to Know how Young George L. Gervan Was Made Strong.

Canada has need of strong, healthy and vigorous boys. In a few years the youths of our dear country will be called upon to battle in business, politics and professions. Success in these varied callings will very much depend upon physical strength and vigor, as well as clear brains. The physically weak and diseased can never cope with the strong and robust, all other things being equal.

Parents are directly responsible to God and our country for the health and well-being of their sons.

A noteworthy example of parental wisdom, and one deserving of notice by every newspaper in the land, is kindly furnished us for publication.

Mr. J. H. Gervan, of 261 Albert Street, Ottawa, Ont., is the father of the sturdy lad whose portrait appears above. Young George suffered with inflammatory rheumatism from his seventh year. A year ago he became very ill, and could not bear to stand on his feet. Mr. Gervan, anxious about his son's condition, decided to procure Paine's Celery Compound, about which he had heard so much as a curative agent for rheumatism. The anxious father was not disappointed in his expectations. His son is now cured, and goes out in all kinds of weather, and all wonder and rejoice at the wonderful deliverance from a terrible disease.

Mr. Gervan is now a firm believer in Paine's Celery Compound, and recommends it at every opportunity. He writes as follows:—

"I wrote you some time ago in reference to the case of my boy George, aged 15 years, who has suffered for the past seven or eight years with inflammatory rheumatism. A year ago last May, he could not bear to stand on his feet; and having heard so much about your Paine's Celery Compound, I decided to try it. During last summer my boy used sixteen bottles, and continued it occasionally during the winter. I am happy to say that during the past seven or eight months he has been free from pain and at work, going out in all sorts of weather.

I may add, I have had salt rheum myself for nine years in my hands. Every winter it has been bad; in fact, often I have been unable to write. I used several bottles of Paine's Celery Compound in the summer of 1892, and last winter I was almost free from the trouble. I may also say that the bottle is often passed around at the table at meals. When I hear any person complaining now, I advise them to take your great remedy.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Only a short time remains in which to visit the world's fair. It has been a far greater success financially than had been anticipated in the early summer. So far as the show itself is concerned, all visitors agree in describing it as marvellous; and when its variety, volume and significance are considered, even this term seems inadequate. When one pauses to think that but a few years ago the very site of the city of Chicago was a wilderness, and that to-day there are gathered within her borders the representatives and the products of the skill of all nations of the earth, a conception of the rate at which the world is progressing dawns upon and almost bewilders the mind. There have been many provincial visitors to the Fair, and many more will register there before its close. The city of Chicago is in itself a wonder world to the visitor, in its vastness and variety. In careful study of its people and the climatic effects, nothing is more noticeable than the prevalence of catarrh. It is a peculiarity resulting from the climate, and is noted by the medical authorities. Unfortunately this annoying and debilitating disease is not confined to Chicago. There are numerous cases of catarrh in the Lower Provinces. It is therefore of the greatest importance that a remedy which has proved its ability to cure the most obstinate cases should be brought into general use. This remedy is Hawker's Catarrh Cure, the most effective in curative power of any before the public to-day. The Hawker Medicine Co. can furnish testimonials and references regarding Hawker's Catarrh Cure that no reader of this paper will for a moment question. Capt. S. F. Belyea, of Greenwich, King's Co., N. B., under date of Oct. 6th, writes to the company that an aggravated form of catarrh had in his case closed the nasal passages so that he could scarcely breathe, had induced serious deafness and caused him great pain and trouble. He tried many remedies, but all failed until he got Hawker's Catarrh Cure, three 25 cent packages of which affected a cure. "I can honestly say," writes Capt. Belyea, "that I am practically well, and I take great pleasure in recommending Hawker's Catarrh Cure to those who may be suffering from this very troublesome disease." .....

CAPTAIN JOHN R. HIRE, of schooner Lillian, says: "I was suffering with inflammation of the chest, brought on by exposure at sea. Took a good supply of Puttner's Emulsion, which perfectly cured me. It has given me a new set of lungs. .....
