WHEN the church singer wants information he says to himself, "H'm! I will enquire about it." WOMEN can stand tight shoes, tight gloves, and tight waists, but they very properly draw the line at tight husbands. WORK is progressing rapidly on the new Post Office Building, and appearances indicate occupancy before New Year. LADIES' WOOL SQUARES, Scarfs, Fur Caps and Mitts—a good assortment to select from—at James Patou & Co's, Market Square. A TOUCAN woman of Harrisburg, Pa., utilized her wile bustle the other day as a cage for a flying squirrel that she caught while in the country and wanted to carry home. THE bold young man who tried to kiss the pretty widow says that the power of the widow's smile has been greatly overestimated. A LEADING Philadelphia soap man says:—"I have confined my advertising entirely to newspapers. The man who does not read a newspaper does not use soap." MR. G. W. PRESCOTT, the Canadian agent of G. G. Green, Woodbury, New Jersey, arrived here on Friday evening from the east, and is staying at the Rankin. An illustration of true wifely unselfishness comes from Wisconsin, where a woman, after making a nice little sum of money by picking blackberries instead of buying a new dress, bought her husband a fiddle. THE only Steam Sewing Machine and Gun Repairing Shop in the Dominion, and the only place where you can get every part of a Sewing Machine or a Gun made is at Brown's, at the Athenaeum, Ch'town. THE Montreal Gazette's London (C. B.) correspondent writes at length concerning Canada's art contribution to the Colonel Exhibition, and says:—"Everyone who has been to the gallery has come away talking of Mr. Robert Harris' (Montreal) 'Meeting of Trustees in a Back Settlement School.' The pleading expression on the teacher's face and the stern and half-repentant attitudes of the trustees are admirably put on canvas, and the whole effect is so dramatic as to appeal forcibly to the eye. The scene, too, is one of some novelty to Englishmen, and hence its popularity with visitors."

TERRIBLE RAILWAY DISASTER

Twenty Persons Cremated. A PASSENGER'S STORY.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29. Mr. Pether, an Englishman, who survived the accident of the limited train on the Milwaukee & St. Paul road, in describing the disaster says:—"The train must have been running at a high rate of speed. The first sound was an indescribable crash, then I heard a wailing and wailing, a combined appeal and despair of many voices. Before I could dress, a light from the burning coach next ahead of us flashed into the vestibule of our sleeper. When I alighted the day coach was ablaze in every part. I was out of my car just in time to see a woman, her body half within and half without a burning coach, handing a child to a man, enjoining him as she did so to save the child for his dear father's sake. Two men struggled to pull the woman through the window but her limbs were securely fixed in the wreck, and I saw the poor creature burned to a crisp. Meanwhile we caught glimpses of others through the breaks of the blazing wreck, and heard moans but we were powerless to help the victims, for the heat was so fierce that no one could stand within a hundred feet of the line of fire. MILWAUKEE, Oct. 29. Conductor Leard, of the ill-fated train that was wrecked and destroyed at Rio, though badly hurt and confined to his bed was better to-day. He remembers and can describe seventeen people who were cremated in the coach, and knows there were more in the car, so that it is evident that the fatalities must have been at least twenty, and probably more.
