

The Temperance Victory in Prince County.

BY J. J. M'D.

Hark! to the glad news
That comes o'er the telegraph wire;
Borne o'er the Island with lightning speed
By the flying electric fire.
Glad news to the temperance men,
In cottage, hovel, and hall,
Intemperance has received a blow
That heralds its sure downfall.

Prince County deserves the praise
Of striking the first deep blow
At the hydra-head of this monster great—
Man's vowed and most terrible foe.
And with courage and valor great—
A virtue that never fails
To win the battle—she drives him forth
From her meadows and pleasant vales.

Too long has the tyrant reigned
O'er our lovely and fertile land;
And the funeral banners of vice and death
Waved high with triumphant hand!
Too long in the iron chains
Of misery, want, and crime,
He has held our people along with those
Of every land and clime.

But the glorious work performed
By true Christians everywhere
In the temperance cause bears fruit, and they
Are driving him back to his lair
In the depths of the bottomless pit,
Where the foul fiend had his birth.
God grant, ere many years shall pass,
He'll be banished away from earth.

God grant that the time may come,
And that we may live to see,
In the place of misery, want, and sin,
Happiness, prosperity
And women, with happy hearts,
Will welcome the glad glad hour,
When those that they hold most dear on earth
Will be saved from the demon's power.

Prince County, accept the praise
Which our beautiful Isle bestows,
For thy noble work, and; as years roll on,
Rich blessing will on you flow.
May the rest of our island follow thee,
With the vigor that thou hast attacked
The Fiend of Drink, and at once adopt
The Canada Temperance Act.

The Plague.

The origin of the plague which is now making such terrible ravages in Russia is clearly traced in the Astrakhan correspondence of the Golos. The epidemic appeared in the Cossack village of Vityan Stanitz soon after the return of two Cossack regiments from the war in Asia Minor, and was very likely brought over with their old clothes and rags. It is well known that there were many cases of typhus in these regiments during the war, but it has also been ascertained that during their return homeward no one was attacked by the disease. Prior to their homeward march the Cossacks' clothes and other effects were disinfected and well smoked; but probably the men did not expose all their rags and booty to that process, and thus many articles remained infected. The report regarding the appearance of typhus was received by the Cossack authorities toward the end of November. An army surgeon was at once dispatched to Vetyanka. He returned with the news that there was no typhus but that there were slight attacks of ague and febricula. Several days passed by, when suddenly news was brought of frightful mortality in Stanitz. From fifteen to twenty persons died every day among a population of 900. By December 10 the mortality had increased. There died, among the rest, the doctor of Astrakhan regiment; the priest met with the same fate, his wife and children running away from fear; several of the local chiefs were also attacked. The Cossack population were seized with a panic; they ceased to approach the sick, and feared to bury the dead. It is reported that the dead bodies lay for days in the streets, with a slight covering thrown over them. At last the inhabitants reached the conclusion that the disease was not typhus but the plague.

Life-long discomfort and sudden death often come to children through the inattention or carelessness of parents. A child should never be allowed to go to sleep with cold feet; the thing to be last attended to is to see that the feet are dry and warm. Neglect of this has often resulted in dangerous attacks of croup, diphtheria, or a fatal sore throat. Always on coming from school, on entering the house from a visit or errand in rainy, muggy, or thaw weather, the child should remove its shoes, and the mother should herself ascertain whether the stockings are the least damp. If they are they should be taken off, the feet held before the fire, and rubbed with the hands until perfectly dry, and another pair of stockings and another pair of shoes put on. The reserve shoes and stockings should be kept where they are dry, so as to be ready for use on a minute's notice.

A young lady hesitating for a word in describing the character of a rejected suitor, said, "He is not a tyrant, not exactly domineering, but—" "Dogmatic," suggested her friend. "No, he has not dignity enough for that; I think pupmatic would convey my meaning admirably.

A Chicago girl lost her overshoe while travelling through Virginia last year, and now some newspapers are writing up long articles about the discovery of a subterranean cave in that State.

The Greatest Medical Discovery since the Creation of Man, or since the Commencement of the Christian Era.

There never has been a time when the healing of so many different diseases has been caused by outward application as the present. It is an undisputed fact that over half of the entire population of the globe resort to the use of ordinary plasters.

DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTERS are acknowledged by all who have used them, to act quicker than any other plaster they ever before tried, and that one of these plasters will do more real service than a hundred of the ordinary kind. All other plasters are slow of action, and require to be worn continually to effect a cure; but with these it is entirely different; the instant one is applied the patient will feel its effect.

Physicians in all ages have thoroughly tested and well know the effect of Capsicum; and it has always been more or less used as a medical agent for an outward application; but it is only of very recent date that its advantages in a porous plaster have been discovered. Being, however, convinced of the wonderful cures effected by Dr. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTERS, and their superiority over all other plasters, they now actually prescribe them, in their practice, for such diseases as rheumatism, pain in the side and back, and all such cases as have required the use of plasters or liniments. After you have tried other plasters and liniments, and they have failed, and you want a certain cure, ask your druggist for Dr. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER. You can hardly believe your own convictions of its wonderful effects. Although powerful and quick in its action, you can rely on its safety for the most delicate person to wear, as it is free from lead and other poisonous material commonly used in the manufacture of ordinary plasters. One trial is a sufficient guarantee of its merits, and one plaster will sell hundreds to your friends.

Ask your druggist for DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER, and take no other; on receipt of 25 cents for one, $1 for five, or $2 for a dozen, they will be mailed, post paid, to any address in the United States or Canada.

all the Bookstores on the Island.

Col. Duvar is happy in having selected for the theme of his drama, one of the most romantic incidents of a romantic and soldierly time. The scene is laid in Spain, amid all the accessories of grave and gay, love and chivalry, poetry and song, with room for the display of
many types of character,—knights and ladies,
priests and soldiers, courtiers and peasants,
cooks and clowns. Many lyrics in the author's best style are interspersed in the dialogue,
which is, in general, quaint and sparkling.
