Happenings of The Week

The Hon. Brooke Claxton, Minister of National Defence, and Mrs. Claxton, will be the patrons of the Cavalry Ball of the 6th Duke of Connaught's Royal Canadian Hussars which is being revived after a lapse of ten years. One of the social highlights of pre-war years, the ball will take place on Friday night, April 14th, in the Regimental Armory on St. Matthews street, Montreal.

At the head table with Mr. and Mrs. Claxton will be the General Officer Commanding, Quebec Command, Maj.-Gen. R. O. G. Morton and Mrs. Morton, Brig. E. M. Smith, D.S.O., E.D., Officer Commanding the 20th Armoured Brigade of which the 6th is a part; Col. Thomas Querin, former Officer Commanding and now honorary colonel, and Mrs. Querin; Col. Maurice deRome, Chief of Staff, Quebec Command, and Mrs. deRome; Lt.-Col. K. M. Case, Officer Commanding the regiment, and Mrs. Case; and Maj. Richard Crooks, president of the mess committee. Former officers commanding and patrons at the head table will include: Col. R. D. Harkness, D.S.O., M.C.; Lt.-Col. J. Darley Lemoyne, E.D.; Lt.-Col. O'Connor Fenton, E.D.; Lt.-Col. E. B. Q. Buchanan, K.C., E.D.; Lt.-Col. John Long, E.D.; and Lt.-Col. C. C. Brooks, O.B.E., M.C.

The most disappointed person in London was Britain's 19-year-old Princess Margaret, shut in her room at Buckingham Palace with influenza on one of the gala days of the year. Unable to attend the state opening of parliament because she is under 21, she had been looking forward to the celebrations to welcome President Vincent Auriol of France on a state visit. She was not even allowed to watch the Royal procession return from parliament down the Mall, which had been decorated in white and blue bunting for the ceremony. This is the sort of occasion the princess revels in, and she had a fine new dress for the glittering state banquet held in Buckingham Palace after the ceremonial drive through part of London.

Viscount Alexander, Governor-General of Canada, arrived in London this week aboard an R. C. A. F. plane for a 10-day unofficial visit to Britain. The Governor-General took part as regimental colonel-in-chief in the ceremony of presenting Shamrocks to the Irish Guards St. Patrick's Day. He also attended celebrations marking the regiment's 50th anniversary. The Governor-General is accompanied by Lady Alexander. They will stay with Lady Alexander's mother, Lady Lucan, at her home in Portman Square, London.

Mrs. Noel DeBlois left by plane on Thursday morning for Boston, Mass., where she will visit her daughter, Miss Audrey DeBlois. Later she will go to Montreal where she will be the guest of her daughter Beryl, now Mrs. Clark Fraser and Dr. Fraser.

After an absence of eleven years, Mr. Fred Moyle, Toronto, is visiting this Province. He is the guest of his father, Mr. Thomas Moyle, Bedeque, and of his brother, Dr. Henry Moyle, Summerside.

Mrs. Joseph L. Davison, Kensington, left last week on a holiday to Montreal and Toronto. Mrs. Davison, who expects to be away about six weeks will visit in United States before returning home.

The continued illness of Mrs. Frank Shea, St. Louis, who has been a patient in the Western Hospital, Alberton, for the past three months is deeply regretted.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil M. Jenkins of Vancouver, B.C., arrived in the City Wednesday night by plane for a short visit with Mrs. J. D. Jenkins and Mr. Jenkins who is ill in the P. E. I. Hospital.

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. Should the hostess try to finish eating before her guests?
A. No; the hostess should always eat slowly, so that she does not finish before her guests do.
Q. Is there any difference between the pronunciation of "fiancee" (fiancée) and "fiance" (fiancee)?
A. No. Both words are pronounced fo-an-ee, as in fee, first as in ah, final as in say, accent final syllable.

Letter-Writing

Bad Correspondents Can Be Major Social Offenders

Letter-writing appears to be one of the things that we either underdo or overdo. We are afflicted with either total pen-paralysis, or else we slop over reams of fine white paper and write things which we never should have written.

Morning Smile

Wise As Ever

A policeman on his beat came upon a small man knocking on a wall with a twenty-five cent piece. The constable watched for a while and then approached, asking, "What are you doing there?"

Cotton Suit for Sun and Surf

Need an extra bathing suit for your full quota of summer sun? This one costs next to nothing because you make it yourself from less than two yards of cotton. The top is form fitting, stitched by machine with elastic thread in the bobbin. The straps and band at the bottom match the dark stripe of the cotton. Directions for making this BATHING SUIT (size 12-14), are available to you if you will send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needle Dept. of this paper and ask for Leaflet No. E-2165.

How Can I!!!

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I do a good job of cleaning the cushions and floor of the automobile?
A. Try using the vacuum cleaner attachments. If the garage is outside the car can be driven under one of the windows of the home, near an electric outlet.
Q. Is it true that olive oil, salt, cheese, and soap should all be kept in a cool place?
A. Yes; all of these should be kept in a cool, dark, and dry place.
Q. Should one leave a bowl or vase of cut flowers standing in the sick room over night?
A. No; they will consume some of the fresh air that belongs to the patient.

Lenten Meditations

CONSOLATION AND CHALLENGE
(The London-Times)

The figure of Christ as presented in the Gospels is of one who enters the life of his time by two quite different paths, now offering relief from sorrow and now disturbing men's complacency by some heroic challenge.

Two sayings will bring out the contrast. One is: "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." The other runs: "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me."

It can scarcely be doubted that for the majority of people down the ages, religion has been valued primarily as a source of consolation amid the strain of life. Such passages of scripture as "The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want," and "Let not your heart be troubled," exercise a gracious ministry amid the distress and uncertainty which no advance in civilization is able wholly to exorcise.

Some of those who turn this way to religion for its consolation may rightly be accused of seeking evasion and "cheap grace," but there must be few who do not crave at times for an understanding sympathy which can release them from their lonely need.

But there is always room for those whose approach to Christ is more heroic. The prospect of bearing his cross does not repel them; it attracts. They respond with eagerness to his requirement of unconditional obedience.

Perhaps this generation stands at a point in history at which Christ must be apprehended under both forms, as consolation and as challenge. It had only just begun to recover from the shattering experiences of war when it was called upon at one and the same time to face grave external perils and to consent to profound inward changes.

The world at such a juncture needs both comfort for its innumerable breaking hearts and resolution to steel for flesh effort its wavering wills.

This combination of a sympathy which binds up the wounded spirit and a summons to tireless endeavour is something which can be found in no principle, but only in person. The relationship of love is one in which needs are anticipated with swift insight, but also the utmost is required that honour can ask or loyalty offer. The spell which Christ casts upon the ages derives from this quality in him. His is a love which is as uncompromising in its claims as it is limitless in its compassion.

Prof. John Lee was born and educated in England. He is a holder of the coveted "Fellowship" of the Royal College of Organists, the Licentiate ship of the Royal Academy of Music and Trinity College (London) and is a member of the Royal Society of Teachers.

Before the outbreak of the Second World War, he was already launched on a successful career, being well known in the North of England as a teacher, lecturer, choral conductor, organ fecilitas and adjudicator. His first work "Ten Preludes for Organ" was published in 1930. In 1941 Mr. Lee joined the Royal Air Force, where he served five years in administrative and later in the Educational branch. During these war years, his spare time was spent giving concerts and lecturing to R. A. F. personnel. Demobilized early in 1946, with the rank of Flight Lieutenant, he came to Canada with his wife and family in October of the same year. John Lee was professor and Director of Music at St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish; and organist at the cathedral there, also Music Consultant for their radio station.

His influence of musical activities, however, has extended far beyond Antigonish. During the summers of 1947 and 1948 he lectured and gave organ recitals in Toronto. In the fall of 1948 he presented a series of organ recitals over trans-Canada and French networks and a series of broadcast talks on music to all schools in the Maritime Provinces.

In the Spring of 1948 he was appointed Chairman of Advisory Committee on music to Adult Division of Nova Scotia Provincial Department of Education.

In the summer of 1949 he was appointed to the faculty of Gregorian Institute of America, and lectured in Minnesota, Cleveland and Boston.

Shortly after returning to Canada, he was appointed Director of Music at Saint Vincent's Church, Los Angeles, one of the city's largest and most beautiful, and one of the most important in the Western U. S. He took up his appointment at St. Vincent's in September 1949. Other activities in Los Angeles, have included those of guest lecturer at the University of Southern California, Organ Recitals, Teaching, including faculty member of Southern California School of Music and the Arts. He has also lectured and given piano recitals to school children in Los Angeles. Prof. Lee is making a special trip to Eastern Canada, to adjudicate the three major Music Festivals at Charlottetown, Moncton and Fredericton. Prof. Lee will be co-adjudicator with Prof. Filmer Hubble A. C. C. O. at the forth coming Music Festival in Charlottetown May 1st to May 6th.
