

THE ENTERTAINMENT IN ST MARY'S HALL

The entertainment organized by the Tignish Literary and Debating Association came off last Friday evening. As was anticipated the performances taken all together were most satisfactory...

At 8 o'clock, the curtain rose and for over two hours the audience was regaled with good acting, beautiful scenery, excellent music and witty sayings. It goes without saying that the young men who procured this entertainment are recognized as deserving good patronage...

The sceneries which have been obtained at great expenses were magnificent, and much praise must be given to the artist, Mr. W. C. Wiflock, Ch. Town, who so faithfully executed the work. Though we abhor flattery still we cannot let this occasion pass without making special mention of "Teddy" [A. H. Hackett] whose witty sayings, good acting and fine impersonations kept the house in hilarity...

Major's [J. Hackett] coolness and presence of mind were the admiration of all; while the heavy role which Alphonus (Mr. J. A. Brennan) had to support was executed in excellent manner. The musical parts were well rendered. Miss Hackett, Miss Conroy, Mr. H. Dalton and Master Benj. Perry taking turns respectively at the piano.

Mr. Johnston gave a fine violin solo. Several selections on the Phonograph were creditably executed by Miss R. Conroy. Taking the whole it was a grand success and we hope that the club will ere long furnish us with another such enjoyable evening.

The people who were so unfortunate as to be absent from the hall last Friday evening will have the opportunity to assist to the play on April 6, Easter Monday, as the club, by special request, has decided to have a grand entertainment on the above mentioned date. The same drama "More sinned against than sinning" will be played; but a general change in the musical programme will take place. We hope the managers will make it a point to bring "Teddy" often before the footlights.

CHEZ LES MORTS

Un bon "habitant" arriva à la porte du Paradis. Il frappa: Pan! pan! St Pierre, son trousseau de clefs à la main, ouvre le guichet. —Qui est là? —C'est moi, Jean-Baptiste.

—Que veux-tu? —Grand St Pierre, avec votre permission, j'aimerais à entrer dans le Paradis de Notre Seigneur.

—Qu'as-tu fait pour cela? —J'ai élevé quinze enfants, je me suis conduit en bon citoyen et j'ai toujours fait "mes devoirs".

—Tu es Canayen à ce que je vois. —Comme vous le dites. Grand St Pierre, natif de Grand Métis.

—Arrive-tu directement de ta paroisse? —Non, j'arrive des "Etats".

—Ah! tu arrives des Etats cela change la question. Jean Baptiste mon ami j'en suis fâché pour toi mais ce n'est pas ici ton Paradis. Il y en a, paraît-il, un nouveau, tout petit, spécial pour une nouvelle église que je ne connais pas bien et qu'on appelle je crois, "l'église américaine". Vas-y et demande St Patrick, le patron de l'Irlande; c'est lui qui a la clef et il te renseignera mieux que moi.

—Merci bien, Grand St Pierre.

Le guichet refermé, Jean Baptiste se dirige vers le paradis américain.

A la porte, il frappe: Pan! Pan!

St Patrick, sa clef à la main, ouvre le guichet.

—What do you want? —Grand St Patrick, avec votre permission, j'aimerais à entrer dans le paradis américain.

—What do you say??? —Grand St Patrick, avec votre...

Talk "United States." I do not understand French.

—Je ne peux pas. St Patrick, j'ai toujours fait mes devoirs en français.

—You do not talk English? then you are not an American and there is no room here for you, get out!

Le guichet refermé, Jean Baptiste très embarrassé retourne au paradis de Notre Seigneur.

—Comment, dit St Pierre, c'est encore toi, Jean Baptiste, pourquoi n'est-tu pas dans le paradis américain? Il n'y manque pas de place cependant, car il passe bien peu d'âmes par ici pour y aller.

—Je vais vous dire, Grand St Pierre. St Patrick ne veut pas m'ouvrir parce que je ne parle pas "United States"; donc si vous n'avez point de paradis "Canayen", Grand St Pierre ouvrez moi la porte du vôtre.

Le cas était embarrassant. St Pierre alla consulter Dieu le fils, qui répondit:

—Ouvre la Grande porte à Jean Baptiste. Il a été bon père de famille, bon citoyen, bon chrétien, et il n'est pas nécessaire de parler anglais pour aller dans le Royaume des Cieux.

BONNE CAPTURE

Halifax, 16.—Chales Stein, jeune Newyorkais, accusé d'avoir commis plusieurs vols considérables, dans la grande cité américaine a été arrêté samedi après-midi en cette ville juste au moment où il allait s'embarquer à bord du steamer Scotsman de la ligne Dominion, pour Liverpool.

On trouva sur sa personne des billets, des traites et des valeurs de toutes espèces au montant de $15,000.

Depuis huit jours le surintendant de police O'Brien de New-York avait donné l'aveil de la fuite du criminel et avait les agents de sûreté des différents villes de faire la chasse au voleur. L'arrestation de Stein a été opérée par le détective Power ainsi que dit plus haut. Il appert que Stein a réussi à dévaliser plusieurs maisons financières importantes de New-York où il occupait un bureau de courtier, rue State. Il vint à Halifax, mercredi dernier en compagnie de deux juifs russes probablement des complices et logea dans une maison de pension du nord de la ville. Après son arrestation, ces deux êtres suspects ont disparu.

Charles Stein est âgé de 25 ans environ. Il a escamoté $1,400 à la maison C. B. Richard et Co, le 5 mars courant; une somme à peu près égale à Knaut, Nachod & Kuhn, de New York; commis plusieurs faux au moyen desquels il a pu réaliser le montant trouvé en sa possession.

Les détectives ont appris que Stein a changé beaucoup d'argent américain pour des valeurs canadiennes. Les autorités de Halifax et de Montréal ont été averties de se tenir sur leurs gardes.

Le détective Price de New-York est attendu ici avec tous les documents nécessaires à l'extradition du prisonnier.

TERRENEUVE DESIRE L'UNION AVEC LE CANADA

M. P. T. McGrath, rédacteur de l'Evening Journal, de St Jean de Terrebonne, l'organe du parti favorable à l'entrée de la colonie dans la confédération est passé en ville cette, samedi en route pour Ottawa.

Parlant de la colonie de Terrebonne, M. McGrath a dit que les affaires y avaient pris un essor considérable depuis les derniers douze mois.

Les importations ont augmenté, parce que la population, ayant plus de ressources, a acheté beaucoup. A la fin de décembre, le revenu de la colonie pour le dernier semestre de l'année, s'est élevé à $800,000, tandis que les dépenses n'ont été que de $650,000.

Les banques canadiennes ont rendu des services considérables aux hommes d'affaires de St Jean, depuis quelles y ont établi des succursales.

Parlant du procès des directeurs de la Commercial and Union Bank, M. McGrath a exprimé l'opinion qu'il n'aurait jamais lieu, à cause de certaines complications qui sont survenues d'abord, tous les juges de la colonie sont actionnaires de la banque en question et ont manifesté le désir de se récusent.

L'hon. Jos Chamberlain a été consulté à ce sujet, et il a exprimé l'opinion que les juges de Terrebonne ne pouvaient pas siéger dans cette affaire.

D'un autre côté, un juge anglais ne peut se charger de la cause que par une autorisation spéciale de la législature de Terrebonne. D'autre part, il sera très difficile d'obtenir un jury impartial, car il est bien peu de personnes dans la colonie qui n'ait point perdu d'argent dans la faillite de la banque.

Quand au projet d'union avec le Canada, M. McGrath croit que ce sera bientôt un fait accompli. Il est d'opinion que d'ici à un an, Terrebonne devra choisir entre l'alternative de devenir partie de la confédération canadienne ou celle d'être une colonie gouvernée exclusivement par les autorités impériales.

M. McGrath a parlé ensuite avec beaucoup d'enthousiasme des ressources de son pays.

Il est accompagné dans son voyage, par M. H. M. Ross, de St. Jean.

SUPPLICES COREENS

Une lettre du Japon, donne les détails suivants sur la ré-cente révolution qui a éclaté en Corée.

Dans la nuit du 10 février, le roi ayant été informé qu'un complot avait été ourdi pour le déposer de son trône et lui enlever la vie, alla demander protection à l'ambassade russe. D'après les ordres des Russes, les autorités de la police de Seoul opérèrent l'arrestation des membres du cabinet coréen. Trois ministres, Kim Hong Chip, Yu Kin et Hun Kim Yun Sik étaient en consultation dans un bureau du cabinet lorsque la police est venue les arrêter sur l'ordre du roi. Ils furent immédiatement conduits dans des cellules, puis enfermés pendant une demi heure environ, après quoi la police revint et leur remit l'ordre qui les démettait de leurs fonctions.

Ils furent ensuite trainés de leurs cellules à l'entrée du bureau de police où on leur attachait les mains derrière le dos et sans aucune forme de procès, à l'aide de sabres, on commença à leur hacher le cou. La tête de Chum fut presque séparée du corps, Chip avait une profonde blessure partant du cou et descendant plusieurs pouces dans l'épaule; quand à Sik, il fut presque complètement décapité.

Eussent, selon l'ancienne et horrible coutume des Coreens, les corps furent mutilés et Bun, le directeur général de la police, ordonna à ses hommes d'attacher des cordes aux mains et aux pieds des victimes et de les trainer dans les rues en ayant bien soin de passer devant les résidences de ces malheureux, ce qui fut exécuté. Les corps furent ensuite battus à coups de pierres et de briques puis, à l'exception des têtes, furent abandonnés à la populace.

Les têtes furent exposées au bout de longues perches et le public qui, quelques mois au paravant, s'était incliné devant elles, se précipita sur les cadavres et dévora la chair qu'il déchirait à belles dents.

Le législateur Naudiskar était borgne. Dans le code de ses lois, il avait ordonné la peine du talion, c'est à dire qu'il pour ce, dent pour dent. Un sujet qui ne goutait pas cette égisation vint creuser à son oeil qui restait au pauvre législateur et ainsi l'averga Aussitôt la peine du talion fut infligée: on creva l'oeil au coupable. Toute-fois ce uci, après avoir subi sa peine, vint trouver le législateur, et lui dit:

"Ta loi est défectueuse, puisqu'il ne m'en coute qu'un oeil pour te priver de la vue." Naudiskar comprenant alors lui répondit: "J'y vois maintenant plus clair, quoique privé de mes deux yeux." Et la peine du talion fut abolie.

X....., qui se pique de littérature, travaille depuis quelques années à un drame qu'il destine au théâtre de sa ville natale. Hier, il rencontre un ami qui lui demande avec intérêt: —A propos, ou en est donc votre drame.

—Oh! mon cher, il est presque achevé, répond X..... J'ai déjà trouvé es noms de tous mes personnages; il ne me reste plus qu'à les faire agir.
