SPORTS FRONT

By GUS FLYNN

(With Sports Editor Pius Callaghan having a bout with a bad cold, we felt we should take over his column for one or two days until he is feeling better.)

SOMEDAYS it doesn't pay to get out of bed, because there just isn't a safe way of predicting the reaction of readers.

Monday's Guardian carried an interview story with Hamilton's great quarterback Bernie Faloney, that apparently has been misinterpreted by at least some of our readers. The story, written by you know who, reported that Bernie is a great fan of the new dance craze the "twist"; in fact he does a pretty good version of the twist.

It also reported that Bernie figures that it is his own business that he does the twist and should be of no concern to the management of his ball club.

This apparently has been interpreted by some people as a rebellion against constituted authority, which of course it isn't by any stretch of the imagination. Some people seem to fear that an assertion such as this coming from a celebrity of Faloney's standing might have an adverse effect on the thinking of still impressionable young minds. We think this fear is totally unfounded, but to put such people at ease, a comment may be helpful.

BERNIE MEANT no disrespect to the management of the Tiger-Cats in asserting his right to private pastimes. He knows he has obligations as a Hamilton player and fulfills these obligations right down to the fine print in his contract. However, he feels that the management would be outside its field if they instructed him to desist, which by the way they haven't; it was merely an academic question for speculative purposes only.

If our story left the impression that Bernie is an advocate of such tactics as rebelling against proper authority and put him in a bad light with our readers, it is regretable and the fault of this writer for not stating in clearer more understandable term's Bernie's stand.

VINCENT COURT of Bedford, "Timmy 1962" dropped the puck to officially get the Oiler-Royal game underway at the Sports Arena last night which the Royals took by a 9-1 score. "Timmy" was accompanied to the game by Bernie Faloney, quarterback of the Hamilton football club who is currently on a cross-country tour to promote the Easter seal campaign. Facing off are Alfie Flanagan (left) of the Royals and Billy Hughes (right) of the Oilers. "Timmy", wearing a western style hat given him by the Oilers gets ready to drop the puck.

Royals Crush Oilers 9-1; Eustace Reeves Pots 3

Upwards of 2,700 hockey fans jammed the Sports Arena last night to watch Sandy's Royals roll to a convincing 9-1 victory over visiting Saint John Oilers in the third game of a best of five series for the N.B.-P.E.I. Senior hockey championship.

Vincent Court of Bedford the Island Timmy for 1962, dropped the puck to officially get the game underway. He was accompanied by quarterback Bernie Faloney, top football player in Canada last year.

Dr. Dick Snow, defenceman with the Oilers, presented a cheque in aid of the Easter Seals campaign to Timmy on behalf of the Oilers and the same gesture was made by the Royals whose captain Kip Ready, made the presentation.

The youngster also got the puck that was used on the faceoff along with a hockey stick and a western hat from the Oilers.

Defenceman Eustace Reeves, playing one of the best games of the season both offensively and defensively, was top marksman for the Royals. Reeves potted three goals, two of them unassisted. The rugged rearguard also set up the first goal of the game which was scored by Angie Carroll.

The Oilers, who travelled to Charlottetown with the series deadlocked at 1-all, were never in the game, and after 20 minutes of play were trailing 2-0. The Royals upped the score to 7-0 before getting an answer from the N.B. visitors.

Angie Carroll scored two goals with singles going to Alf Flanagan, Billy Mulligan, Buck Whitlock and Gerald Cruwys.

Billy Hughes, who played with different teams in the Island League before being transferred to New Brunswick, scored the lone marker for the oilers.

BILLY HUGHES SCORES

The goal came at the 8.23 mark of the third period to make the score read 7-1. Delphis Legacy picked up the puck on the Royals' side of the red line, carried it all the way in before letting go a shot at Roper which the Royal cager kicked out. Hughes was right there to knock in the rebound.

The game was less than seven minutes old when Angie Carroll skated in over the Saint John blue line and let go with a waist high shot that caught the upper lefthand corner of the opposing net. The second goal of the period came with just 61 seconds remaining in the frame. Reeves let go with a waist blazer that deflected off defenceman Dick Snow and went into the cage. Saint John goalie Charlie McTavish was partially screened on the play and didn't have a chance to make the save.

GETS OWN REBOUND

Reeves made it 3-0 after nine minutes had gone by in the sandwich session with the Oilers shorthanded at the time. The Royal blueline cop triggered a hard shot from about ten feet inside the Saint John blueline but the shot was about three feet off the net. The puck bounced back off the back boards and Reeves was right there to score on his own rebound off the boards.

The fourth Parkdale goal scored by Alfie Flanagan was the nicest of the night. The crew cut youngster who toils on a line with Angie Carroll and Kip Ready and who already has four goals in the series going into last night's game, picked up the puck behind his own net and skated all the way through the Saint John team to beat McTavish.

Mulligan knocked in Stu McLure's rebound on the next goal to make the score read 5-0 before the period ended.

The third period was only 56 seconds old when Angie Carroll scored his second of the night. Angie flipped the puck over the McTavish after he had gone down to make a save on Flanagan.

Reeves rounded out his hat trick with an ankle-high shot from just inside the Saint John blueline before Hughes scored the only goal for Saint John.

Crafty Buck Whitlock, scored on a slick backhander that McTavish didn't have much of a chance on and then Cruwys closed out the scoring.

Prior to the start of the game Danny McCormack, president of the Island Senior Hockey League presented the MCA trophy, emblematic of league supremacy, to captain Kip Ready of the Royals. Howard Waite was also on hand to present the Waite Pharmacy trophy to Billy Mulligan of the Penguins. The trophy awarded to the player best combining sportsmanship and playing ability.

3 Rinks Tied For Lead; Burke Foursome Splits

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — Manitoba, Saskatchewan and lightly-regarded New Brunswick pulled into a three-rink first-place tie in the Canadian curling championship Monday with two consecutive victories each as co-favorite Alberta dropped an 8-7 cliff-hanger loss to Ontario.

Ontario's victory, engineered by a brilliant last rock by skip Bayne Secord that gave Ontario two, sent the defending champion Edmonton rink skipped by 260-pound Hector Gervais into a fourth-place tie with Ontario, Northern Ontario and British Columbia. Each has a 1-1 won-lost record after two draws in the 10-game round-robin tournament.

Ontario, which lost 7-6 to Manitoba after an extra end in the first round, appeared to be headed for another extra-end game until Secord, who has been blowing hot and cild, came up with his big pressure rock.

The day's play before a 1,600 crowd in the afternoon and 2,767 Monday night, was marked by a warning to Gervais by the umpires after he apparently slid over the hog line on some of his deliveries in the opening round, which Alberta won 10-9 over British Columbia. Before the second round got under way, umpires talked to all skips and reminded them of the rule prohibiting any sliding beyond the line.

N.B. TAKES SECOND

New Brunswick, skipped by Harold Mabey Sr., from Moncton, stayed in the running with a clear-cut 17-8 victory over Prince Edward Island after a tremendous first-round comeback when it spotted Quebec an 8-0 lead after five ends to go on and win 11-9.

Prince Edward Island lost its opening game 9-7 to Saskatchewan.

Manitoba had little trouble in its second game, winning 10-6 over Nova Scotia and the Richardson family rink from Saskatchewan easily disposed of Northern Ontario 14-4 in Monday's draw. The rink, Canadian and world champions in 1959 and 1960, has been called by some observers as the one to beat.

Nova Scotia had a bye in the first round and Quebec sat out the second.

Ontario, which will meet Newfoundland in today's third round, scheduled for 9:30 a.m., and Saskatchewan in the fourth round at 3 p.m., played in two of the toughest opening-day games.

WIN STREAK BROKEN

It's loss to the Manitoba rink skipped by Norm Houck marked the first in 26 games.

In other first-round games, Saskatchewan defeated a determined Prince Edward Island foursome 9-7 and Northern Ontario scored four in each of the 10th and 12th ends to beat Newfoundland 13-7.

New Brunswick and Quebec blanked the first and it appeared to the 1,600 crowd that the Mabey rink was due for a sound beating after Quebec led 8-1 after six. But skip Bill Armstrong's game went sour on him after that point and the Saint John rink scored eight in the next four ends.

Quebec counted a single in the 11th to make it a 9-9 game and New Brunswick followed with a pair in the 12th to win.

Newfoundland led 5-3 after six ends but could score only two singles in the final six as Northern Ontario blasted the George Giannou quartet from the St. John's Curling Club with foureends in the 10th and 12th.

Prince Edward Island made it interesting for the two-time Canadian champion Ernie Richardson rink from Regina. The easterners were behind 8-3 after the ninth. They counted two on the 10th, yielded one on the 11th and finished off with a two-rock 12th.

Stan Musial Is Eager To Start Last Lap

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) This is the end of an era in the National League—Stan Musial's last year as a big league ball player.

The Man arrived three days early, eager to start the last lap. He sat in front of his locker in the St. Louis Cardinals' plush new clubhouse talking about his feelings.

"I'll be 42 this winter," he said. "This probably is the last time around for me. It looks that way."

Musial stopped and looked up with a grin.

"I don't want to be the oldest man who ever played ball," he added.

"It is going to be hard leaving. The best thing about baseball is playing. I am very fortunate to be able to play so long. I'll be sorry to leave. This will be my 20th full year with the Cardinals.

"I love to play. I couldn't stop like Joe DiMaggio did when I went past my peak. Joe had that physical ailment to his heel that made him quit. I'm all right physically. To me it's still fun. I still get a kick out of it.

"Really it's more fun now than it was earlier. The first eight or 10 years you are working so hard, struggling to make good, you don't realize what it means to be a big league ball player.

"I think I played ball in the best era. Playing conditions have been improved, salaries have gone up, air travel came in. We have new cities, the long ball has taken over from the pitchers.

"It was great to be around when we had the first franchise moves in half a century. When the Negro players first came in. When the first playoffs were held. All of those things have been for the best in baseball.

"As long as I can do a fairly good job. As long as I think I can help the ball club, I want to play. But it looks like the last time around."

Musial holds three National League marks for most total bases, most long hits (extra bases) and most doubles.

"Records never bothered me," he said. "Everything else was incidental to that 3,000th base hit in Chicago in 1958. That was the big thrill of my career.

Ramblers Crush Victorias 7-1

NORTH SYDNEY, N.S. (CP) — Amherst Ramblers clobbered Sydney Victorias 7-1 before a record crowd of 3,493 here Monday night to take a 1-0 lead in in the best-of-three Nova Scotia Senior hockey final.

Although the Nova Scotia Senior League winners were out-shot 42-15 by the Cape Breton club, Ramblers showed far too much experience for Victorias. Jean Guy Morrissette's play in Ramblers' net was a factor but many of North Sydney's shots were weak.

Ramblers started piling it on in the first period, building up a 4-0 lead. They made it 6-1 in the second and scored the only goal of the third period.

Second game is scheduled for Amherst Wednesday night. The third, if necessary, will be played at Amerst Thursday.

Doug Polley and Alain Caron each scored twice for Amherst, with singles scored by Gerry Boss, Shermie White and Germaine Munger.

Stan McInnis scored the lone Northside goal.

Sandy's Royals, Oilers Clash Again Tonight

The Oilers, who were trounced 9-1 before a bumper crowd last night, vow it will be different tonight. They beat the Royals 5-4 in Saint John last Saturday night after bowing to the Royals 4-2 in the opener.

The story late last night was the Oilers were flying in veteran Nick Nicolle and defenceman Bill Gorham to strengthen their lineup for this do-or-die contest tonight.

Manager Sandy Frizzell sees it a different way however and already has his eyes set on the winner of the Amherst-North Sydney series for the Maritime title.

SAYS LYNN PATRICK

Loss Of Vacant Lot Is Greatest Sport Tragedy

VANCOUVER (CP) — The loss of the vacant lot is the greatest tragedy in Canadian sport, says Lynn Patrick, general manager of the National Hockey League's Boston Bruins.

If Patrick had his way, he would spend part of the $5,000,000 federal grant to the National Fitness Council on vacant lots where youngsters could chose their own games away from the supervisory hand of indulgent parents.

During his formative years in Victoria, Patrick was part of a sandlot gang that has never been duplicated in Canadian sport.

There was Patrick's younger brother, Muzz, Art Chapman, former coach of the Vancouver Canucks of the Western Hockey League and onetime National Hockey League star, his brother, Chuck, and Doug Peden.

DIDN'T SMOKE

"Sports to us was everything," Lynn said in an interview during a visit to Vancouver.

"We didn't smoke or sneak a beer because it would slow us down. There was nothing else to do, no bowling alleys, teen-age dances, or little league. If we didn't have a ball to throw, we'd wrestle or box, just to be competing."

Lynn went on to become an all-star right-winger and later coach with the New York Rangers, then coach and general manager of the Bruins, keeping alive the family hockey tradition that encompassed Muzz and their father, Lester.

The Chapmans led two Victoria basketball squads to several Canadian championships before moving up as professionals with the Vancouver Hornets.

Peden, now sports editor of the Victoria Times, also played pro basketball and excelled at rugby and tennis.

He didn't take up baseball until he was 23 but made it as player right up to double A and became a playing manager in the Pittsburgh Pirates' organization.

Doug also learned how to ride a bike from his brother, Torchy, and the pair made a small fortune in the six-day professional bike races at Madison Square Garden in New York.

"It was only coincidence that we grew up at the same time in the same town," Lynn said. "But we were drawn to each other out of mutual respect and a desire to outdo each other.

"When Muzz was on his way to winning the Canadian heavyweight championship, he could't find any sparring partners so Art, Doug and I took turns at getting our brains beat out by him."

When Lynn and his buddies weren't playing roller hockey, one-a-cat and such on Victoria's vacant lots and dead - end streets, they were watching.

"People say to me that TV coverage of major sports should lead our kids to a desire to become athletes," he said.

"But the trouble is the kids watch their heroes in their living rooms. We watched ours at the field and the whole atmosphere, the sweat, the crowd, just got under our skin like an itch.

"This just isn't happening now. Lord knows the Bruins can show you that. We're scouring the country for kids and we can't find them. Kids know about sports but they don't know about playing games."
