

Central Christian Church Meeting

The annual general business meeting of the Central Christian Church was held last night in the Church hall with a fine group in attendance. Mr. M.C. Stewart presided and called upon the various department chairmen to bring their reports. Various organizations making reports were: The Ladies Aid, Women's Missionary Society, The Gratia Club, The Akata Club, The Young People's Society, and the Choir. Reports were also made by the Trustees Board, Elders and Deacons, Sunday School, Maintenance, Cradle Roll and the Pastor.

All departments have shown a marked increase through the year. The Treasurer's report was read and accepted with substantial increase in giving being noted.

The Clerk's report contained the following note: "During the year we were called upon as a Church to mourn the loss of one of our members in the person of the late Mrs. M. G. Stewart in 1951. The membership record we find that Brother Chandler united with the congregation in July 1897 and was appointed to head a committee to secure a meeting place for the new congregation. During these early years he was an active and earnest worker with both time and means. As a member of the building committee he saw the completion of the main building in 1900 and also the annex in 1925. A charter member of the Trustee Board he served in that capacity since that time. To the Chandler family the Board extends sincere sympathy."

A comprehensive report was presented by the Pastor giving account of his stewardship during the year. A call was extended to Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar to continue their labor with this congregation for the following year.

A delightful lunch was arranged by the Ladies Aid and Gratia Club and served by the Akata Club members.

The new year of activity is being anticipated.

Drop Move To Switch Canadian Army From British To U. S. Arms

By Douglas How

OTTAWA, Jan. 16 (CP)—The major post-war decision to switch the Canadian army from British to American-type arms has been pretty well written off in the wake of the Churchill visit to North America.

A complexity of causes has killed this plan which caused controversy both inside and outside parliament because it threatened to divorce the army from the British arms it used in two world wars.

Officials say the key decision has not finally been made. But signs are that the decision will be kept on using the British Lee-Enfield rifle and the .303 bullet rather than switching to the .300 American Garand even though some thousands of Garands have already been imported.

No Common Rifle

The Churchill visit has established that the Britons and the Americans aren't going to adopt a common rifle and that the best for standardization is the long-range hope that some common rifle of the future can be evolved by all the Atlantic Pact powers. But it would be years before it is in use.

Allies Ignore New Threat By Reds At Truce Talks

MUNSA, Korea, Jan. 17 (Thursday) (AP)—United Nations' truce negotiators brushed aside a Communist threat Wednesday "to fight to the end" in Korea if the Allies dare to turn over 20,000 Chinese Communist prisoners to Chiang Kai-Shek's army on Formosa.

The U.N. denied any such intent but raised another issue. Gen. Ridgway's headquarters in Tokyo announced it intends to press charges that the Reds "have violated and are continuing to violate" every provision of the Geneva convention dealing with prisoner-of-war camps.

The armistice negotiations were scheduled to reconvene at 11 a.m. today (9 p.m. EST Wednesday).

The Formosa threat was hurled by Chinese Col. Tsai Cheng-Wen, senior staff officer in the prisoner exchange.

Tsai said: "If anybody dares to hand over any personnel of the Chinese Peoples' volunteers... to the deadly enemy of the Chinese people, Chiang Kai-Shek, the Chinese people will fight to the end."

An Allied briefing officer denied the Allies had any intention of delivering Chinese prisoners to Chiang's Nationalists.

The officer, Lieut. Walter Ellis, said if any Chinese chose to go to Formosa instead of back to Red China under voluntary repatriation, they would be handed over to a neutral international organization for final disposition.
