STOCK QUOTATIONS

Morning Stock Letter

(Received over Pittfield and Co's Private Wire)

NEW YORK, April 9—The French have submitted a peace plan for Europe. It is expected that Germany will oppose it. News from Ethiopia continues conflicting. Domestically the most favorable news is the report of General Motors sales, for month of March which was the highest for any month since May 1928. We believe this stock will do better. California Packing is scheduled to have a dividend meeting today. We would look for another irregular firm market today with better prices for utilities, including American Water Works, North American, Elec Bond Share also the rails including New York Central, Southern Pacific and Northern Pacific. Also Chrysler and the rubber stocks.

MONTREAL, April 9—Hudson Bay mining and Smelting reports for 1935 a net profit of $4,771,383 against $3,645,012 in the preceding year. Deduction of depreciation, etc. left a balance for the common stock of $3,215,187 equal to $1.17 a share.

THE GARDEN PLANTS FOR THE ROCKERY

When you have the rocks to your satisfaction there are many plants to cover them. Spargelia moss is evergreen, and with its minute white flowers, in the spring, makes a delightful carpet. Against this the violet aubretia should be planted. Saxifrage white and red, demand a corner; while dwarf phlox candy-tuft, and rock, roses are all easy growers.

The question of planting is important in the cultivation of these Alpine plants, and lay-out should receive careful consideration. A few dwarf shrubs should always be included. If planted in a prominent position, they add surprisingly to the character of the garden. If the rockery is small, a better effect is gained by planting a few groups of various kinds than many single plant. As with so many other hobbies, it is a matter of taste. If you are not impatient it is a good plan to start your rockery with the slower-growing Alpines, although it is equally good advice to have a few free-growing plants, such as aubretia and alysium, which can be discarded or transferred to another part of the garden when the rarer specimens have established themselves.

Japan's Challenge To World Power

TORONTO, April 9—(C.P.)—Vancouver has a front seat in "tomorrow's greatest theatre of conflict," G. G. McGeer, Mayor of Vancouver, and member of Parliament for Vancouver-Burrard, declared today in addressing the illuminating engineering society.

SIGMA GREENE-STABELL and NOW CLARK GOLD MINES LIMITED

LAMAQUE READ-AUTHIER

"BOB" CLARK was famed as the discoverer of many important and producing mines. Sigma, Lamaque, Greene-Stabell and part of the present Read-Authier holdings were his discoveries. He then turned his attention to the northwestern mining area of Ontario. His favoured selection, based on a thorough investigation of the area, was the property now being developed by Clark Gold Mines. A moderately capitalized company (2,000,000 shares) was formed with but 25% of the stock issued for properties, all of which is pooled.

Work has proceeded steadily on the property, following the disclosures of important surface veins. Following through surface work, a three-compartment shaft is now being sunk and is already below the 125-ft. level. The main high-grade surface vein was cut in the shaft at 78 feet. Ore from this vein already milled and shipped to the Mint at Ottawa averaged better than $20.00 per ton. The plans of the engineer in charge call for the installation of a 50-ton mill as early as possible this year.

Lately many of the large established and most conservative mining corporations have become active in this area.

We believe this mining field will make important "mining news" during the coming season and that Clark Gold Mines, in its advanced stage of development, will be in the forefront of this news.

A limited number of shares of Clark Gold Mines Limited is available at the offering price of 40 cents per share. The coupons below are for your convenience and we suggest you act promptly.

E. M. McLean & Co., Limited are offering this stock on behalf of Clark Gold Mines, Limited, and the proceeds from the sale will go into the treasury of the company, less the allowed selling commission.

BLACK TWIST CHEWING

THE NEW AND IMPROVED STRAIN OF SPINACH LEAVED SPINACH HAS BECOME A FAVORITE WITH THE HOME GARDENER.

One of the first spring operations in the vegetable garden is sowing the seeds of spinach. This fast-growing, hardy edible can be put into the ground as soon as the soil drains enough so that it can be worked, and will be ready for the table with the earliest radishes and the leaf lettuce.

But a "crop of spinach doesn't pay," say a few housewives. Let them grow a crop of the new spinach and find out for themselves. The new thick-leaved varieties are so far superior from the ordinary run of the garden types which are found on the market, that they are almost entirely new vegetables.

Like many other vegetables, spinach must be given the attention which only the amateur with a small garden can give it. The old-time method of broadcasting seed as if sowing a lawn and letting the plants shift for them selves never gave the best results and is even worse for the heavier leaved types than it was for the old-time skimpier types.

For best results plant in rows, thin to 6 inches apart and each spinach plant will produce a large rosette of leaves. By this method the plant can be made to do triple duty by cutting the leaves and letting it grow more, instead of pulling it up bodily as is usually the custom, thus limiting each plant to a single crop.

Take the soil as mellow and rich as possible for spinach. It is a short season crop and all short season crops must make speedy growth to produce best results. Warm sandy soil which has been well supplied with plant food is ideal for a good stand. Cultivation speeds the growth.

Spinach seed can be sown just as soon as the soil is in condition, regardless of late frosts. It can even be sown in the fall and allowed to come up in the spring as soon as germinating weather arrives. Get the seed in early, thin the plants carefully, cultivate, and fertilize with 4 pounds of complete plant food for every 100 square feet of area, and you will have a surprising yield of real greens.

Make sure you buy one of the new types. Some are more heat resistant than others. If you have light warm soil or a southern slope to your garden where it gets the full force of the sun the better heat-resistant types will be best for you.
