Carnival Plans Drawing To Close

SUMMERSIDE Plans for this year's week-long Lobster Carnival which opens here on Monday, July 11 and continues through to July 16, are near completion except for a few loose ends, it was learned at a Carnival meeting here last night.

There have been a number of new developments since the previous meeting two weeks ago. Prior to last evening it was believed that, despite requests by the town, that there would be no navy ships in port during the week-long celebrations. It was learned during the meeting, via a telephone call from Mayor George Key Jr. that three small RCN training vessels, including two now in port, would visit here again during the week. The ships are HMCS Mallard, Cormorant and Loon.

The chairman of the parade committee, Eugene LeBlanc, informed the meeting that this year's parade would include 22 floats, eight bands, including the HMCS Stadacona band, and five majorette groups.

Other bands include the Presbyterian Highland Pipe Band from here, the Canadian Forces Band from the local station, Kensington Band, Burke's and Lovatt's Pipe Band as well as the Queen Charlotte High School Band of Charlottetown.

Lieutenant Governor W. J. MacDonald will review the parade from a reviewing stand situated in front of the Legion home on Notre Dame street.

It was also learned that the local legion home will not enter a float in the parade this year but that the home will have an entry in the Miss P.E.I. contest which will be accompanied by two flag bearers in the opening day parade.

The chairman of the Scottish day committee, John Hopkirk, stated that the feature entertainer on that day will be Catherine MacKinnon.

Margaret Ann Craig, chairman of the Miss P.E.I. contest committee, said she expected between 11 and 13 entries in this year's event but added that only one entry has been confirmed to date.

Pierre Delanoe In Georgetown

A lifetime of experience in theatres on both sides of the Atlantic Ocean has been brought to Georgetown by set designer Pierre Delanoe, a native of Paris who now makes his home in Montreal.

A sculptor as well as a designer, he has made sculptures for several churches in the Montreal area and for the Capuchin Monastery near Quebec City. A wide experience in display design gained as a free lance artist was put to use by the C.N.R. and Canadian Pacific Airlines before he joined the staff of the CBC.

Mr. Delanoe has come to The Island to plan and prepare the sets for the summer productions of "Under the Yum Yum Tree" and "The Marriage Go Round" which will be staged in Kings Theatre, Georgetown, opening Friday night.

MR. DELANOE is added to the Georgetown scene by the presence of stage manager Eric Scott who was born in Rawalpindi, India. He went to school in Vancouver and then studied painting and set design at Montreal. He has worked in television and repertory theatres and on one job did everything from special effects to picking up an actress and taking her home with him every night.

Queens MP Expresses Concern

OTTAWA — The Atlantic Development Board should give more attention to trade with foreign countries, Hon. J. Angus Maclean, MP for Queens, said in the Commons Tuesday.

Speaking on second reading of a bill to amend the Atlantic Development Board Act, Mr. Maclean said that those who live in the Maritime provinces have expressed some concern that not enough attention was paid to opportunities for new developments with outward looking possibilities for trade with other countries.

He pointed out that the Atlantic Provinces have historically been a seafaring region and their greatest prosperity was in
