Hurricane Carrie Was Biggest Blow In His World Voyage

NEW YORK. — Jean Gau, a long-distance sailor, has just arrived in Cheepshead Bay after a four-year voyage around the world alone in his thirty-foot ketch. This is the fourth long, lone cruise for the 55-year-old French-American chef. He left New York in 1953, touched at Puerto Rico, went through the Panama Canal and then followed the classic trade-wind route westward to the Galapagos Islands, Tahiti, Samoa, New Guinea, Christmas Island in the Indian Ocean, Capetown and Ascension Island in the South Atlantic. From there Skipper Gau swung north to the Mediterranean to visit his hometown of Valras, France. Heading westward again, he cleared Gibraltar on July 2 and luffed up to the dock of the Sheepshead Bay Yacht Club in Brooklyn on Thursday. "What, the world? Very enjoyable," Mr. Gau said. He is a slender, aquiline-nosed, vivacious fellow in rough sailor's clothes. "Oh, you mean the voyage? No trouble, no sickness, no accidents, only a few gales. The worst storm was Hurricane Carrie, which struck me on Sept. 19 about 360 miles south of Montauk. I just furled all sails, lashed the helm down, rigged a can so it dripped oil upside to keep the seas from breaking aboard. "Then I closed myself in the cabin and listened to the radio and slept and ate and read and and Mrs. G.G. Hughes reminded the members that a box of clothing is to be packed within the month. She also stated that it is hoped to arrange a window display of the articles before shipping. Money was voted for the use of the Hungarian girl students attending Prince of Wales College. Following the business Mrs. Vernon Bulger, R.N., was introduced. She gave a most interesting and informative talk on Civil Defence during which she outlined the reasons for civil defence, and various ways in which the women of the communities could prepare themselves and their homes in the event of a civil or atomic disaster.

The Seventh Annual Fall Convention of the Maritime Conference of Young Peoples' Unions of the United Church of Canada is scheduled to be held in St. Matthew's Church, Halifax, beginning Saturday, October 12, and continuing through the Thanksgiving Weekend. A great deal of hard work on the part of committee members promises to bring forth an interesting and informative three days for all those attending. Highlight of the Convention will be a banquet, on Saturday evening, celebrating the 25th anniversary of the Maritime conference. A special table will be set aside to accommodate all Past Presidents of the organization. Special guest will be

Walter Morris, Jr., of Comber, Ontario, President of the National Council of Young Peoples' Unions. Other activities will include a Bible Baseball game on Saturday afternoon; a religious drama on Sunday afternoon, with a buffet supper that evening; and the installation of a new slate of officers, on Monday morning.

On Sunday evening, members of the Conference will lead in worship at the regular church service in St. Matthew's Church, when the choir will be made-up of members of the various Unions in Halifax.

Rev. John B. Corston, D. D. Professor of New Testament Literature at Pine Hill Divinity Hall, will be special speaker for the Convention, and will address the group on Saturday and Sunday evenings, and Monday morning, on the theme "Focus on Essentials." It is expected that between five and six hundred young people will be attending the Convention. Those from outside city will be billeted with United Church friends in Halifax. David MacDonald, Charlottetown, P.E.I., this year's Conference President, will be Chairman of all meetings.

NUTRITIONISTS MEET

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Council on Nutrition, made up of dietitians and home economists representing all levels of government, met Monday. The council, set up in 1937, advises the federal health department on nutrition and its role in Canada's health program.

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker Tuesday became entitled to enter the House of Commons. In between engagements on a busy morning, he got sworn in as member of Parliament for Prince Albert, Sask. He also sandwiched in a haircut at the Commons barber shop.

KING SIZE MONARCH CAKE MIXES with LOCKED-IN FRESHNESS and FLAVOUR!

Look for this all-new Monarch package. In it you'll find a totally new idea in cake mixes from Monarch's famed research division. In fact this mix is so deliciously different... so much better in every way... that we say until you've tried this new mix you haven't baked your best cake!

1 What's different? Ordinary cake mix flavour tends to fade and dry out. But in new Monarch, flavour is sealed in tiny crystals. When you mix and bake you release the full freshness and flavour... giving you the kind of fresh homemade goodness you want in your cake.

2 See how tall it is! The new Monarch cake is king size... completely fills a standard 8-inch tin. The fact that this new cake exactly fills the pan makes a big difference in baking results. It rises evenly... browns evenly... with a uniform crust and texture throughout.

3 Big luscious layer cakes too! In fact, in any shape... for any occasion... you can bake a new Monarch cake so moist and light you'll be proud to serve it! And it stays fresh! Try a new Monarch cake soon! Your grocer now has 4 kinds—each with freshness and flavour locked in!
