Wharf Work Speeds As Weather Improves

Progress on the Department of Transport wharf has increased considerably with the coming of dry and warmer weather. The weather dried out the fill for the central area of the wharf, making it possible for the heavy machines to move about the site without fear of bogging down in the mud.

DREDGING COMPLETED
One phase of the project, the dredging, has been completed. This work saw hundreds of cubic yards of mud and debris removed by two dredges. These machines frequently encountered heavy tangled masses of timbers and piling from old wharves that previously occupied the site during their operations.

It was the encounter with this type of obstruction that earlier caused some delay in driving the new steel "T" and tubular piling, which will form the foundation for the new wharf.

When these obstructions were first encountered, it was found to be more than the small company dredge, owned by the Northern Construction Company, could handle. To assist in clearing the harbor floor, a huge dredge was obtained from J.P. Porter and Sons. This floating piece of machinery is reported to be one of the biggest operating on the east coast and is capable of overcoming any obstacle.

DREDGES MOVED OUT
With the dredging completed, the smaller dredge is being shipped to the Port of Montreal for overhaul, and the Porter dredge has returned to its main-land base.

With the clearing of the tangled debris work is going ahead with the driving of steel piling along the west side and the encasing of some of the piles in concrete.

Boston Yacht 'Arbella' To Circumnavigate N.S.

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN
By portaging the Isthmus of Chignecto, Asa E. Phillips, Jr., a Boston attorney is circumnavigating the province of Nova Scotia in his 36 foot yacht "Arbella" — and last Summerside yesterday morning after arriving Monday night from Shediac. He is accompanied by his wife, 3 children and two crew members. However, Mr. Phillips is unable to carry out his original plan to go around Nova Scotia in the opposite direction by cruising down along the south shore, around Cape Breton and then portaging to the Bay of Fundy from Northumberland Strait, due to damage to the craft's propeller in a collision which delayed the proposed trip.

Mr. Phillips, who has sailed before in waters surrounding the Maritime Provinces, feels that the majority of yachtsmen from the New England States are as much of the maritime scenery. He pointed out that most of them sail along the south coast of Nova Scotia in an easterly direction, perhaps cruise around Cape Breton into the Northumberland Strait and then retrace the Prince Edward Island Hospital Monday, Mrs. Daniel MacPhail, Hunter River.
