PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

The Curran Bridge Scandal.

OTTAWA, June 20.

Yesterday the House of Commons was occupied with the Curran Bridge discussion. In a powerful speech Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper recited his story of the case, and contended that Hon. Mr. Haggart had before and after the discovery of the frauds performed all that could be required of a minister in his position.

Mr. McCarthy followed, strongly supporting the want of confidence motion. He was folowed by Hon. Mr. Foster. The vote was taken at a quarter past three this morning with the following result in a thin house: for Mr. Davies' amendment, 65; against, 102, majority for the Government, 36.

DRAFT HORSES.

A letter received by a gentleman here contains the following paragraph:

"The steadily improving tone noted lately in the draft horse market still continues and the prospects are that an advance of quite 35 to 40 per cent. from the lowest point will be firmly established before the end of the year. In view of this substantial advance our breeders should awaken to the immediate necessity of mating every good sound draft mare, whether pure bred or grade, to the best Clydesdale stallion within reach. Long before the produce of 1895 is old enough for work we are bound to see draft horses very high in price again, and in order to receive the benefit we should resume our breeding operations at once."

This news will be pleasing and this advice ought to be heeded by our farmers. The practice of mating draft and trotting stock is calculated to lower the standard of our horses.

Muncey that he always was." The deceased was the father of Mr. T. C. Muncey, of the Anglo-American Telegraph Company.
