Canada. Resolutions were passed expressing loyalty to the Crown and to the leaders of the party, both federal and provincial. It was resolved that Y.P.C.'s suggest to the Progressive Conservative Association that both federal and provincial candidates be nominated before the end of 1952, instead of waiting until an election is officially called. It was resolved that all candidates, whether federal or provincial under the P.C. banner, will adhere strictly to the Election Act and that the Y.P.C.'s of Prince Edward Island will not support any candidate that does not take such a pledge. It was resolved that the government of this province establish a committee to study the exodus of young men and women from this province to other provinces and to take steps to remedy the situation.

Presbyterian Y. P. S. Rally At Alberton
 A rally for members of the Presbyterian Young People's Society of West Prince was held in Alberton Monday evening, beginning with supper which was served in the Sunday School room at half past five. Following supper a sing song was led by Rev. G. B. Cunningham. The rally was presided over by Rev. Mr. Cunningham. The meeting opened with prayer. Then followed the roll call and minutes of last year's rally. Election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows: President, Miss Millicent Stewart of Tyne Valley; vice-president, Mr. Gordon Campbell of Alberton; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Sutherland Bell of Mill River. Various young people's projects were discussed. They included missionary projects of which the raising of $200.00 for Hiroshima is the principal one. Kelt Camp, drama festival, and the new study book. Rev. Mr. Cunningham gave a brief talk on leadership training. The rally then adjourned to the main body of the church to join a large congregation assembled from several congregations of West Prince to hear a missionary address by Rev. F. C. Knox, who has been a missionary in India for the past twelve years. Rev. Mr. Knox gave a most interesting description of his work and showed lantern slides to illustrate it. He also had with him a most interesting display of articles from India. The evening was brought to a close with a social hour during which refreshments were served to those who had come from a distance.

 establish floor prices for eggs, poultry, hogs, and beef cattle, that will operate for the benefit of producers rather than for the benefit of the packing industry. 5. Supported the existing marketing board and favored boards for other agricultural and fisheries products. 6. On election reform, called for the abolition of the candidates deposit fee; complete elimination of illegal expenses such as bribery and liquor from elections; lowering the voting age to eighteen years; and for having party affiliation of the candidates shown on the election ballots. 7. Urged setting up a government owned insurance company to provide insurance at cost for all cars in the province. 8. Asked that the Government be requested to undertake with the co-operation of the teachers, to put into primary schools the teaching of scientific temperance. Support was also expressed that stricter penalties should be imposed on those who break the laws in relation to the consumption of alcoholic beverages particularly with respect to careless and drunken driving. 9. Supported the nationalization of the liquor industry with the profits to be used for education, hospitalization, etc. During the afternoon reports were heard from various committees concerning the activities of the past year in regard to organization, council meetings, etc. The financial statement showed a deficit of about $15000 resulting mostly from advertising expenses; it was felt, however that regular contributions from party members in the next few weeks would quickly pay off this debt. Later in the evening a collection amounted to $45.55 which would reduce the debt by that amount. It was unanimously agreed that when all outstanding bills have been taken care of, that a start would then be made on the building up of a fund to pay candidates deposit fees in the next federal election.

 17 years and of the events which led finally to the victory of his party in New Brunswick. Directing his remarks for the most part to the young men and women of the Progressive Conservative Party in Prince Edward Island he said that the receipt for winning elections is work — hard work. "You must have confidence," he said, "in your party, confidence in the cause for which you are working and remember that money does not win elections. If there is money used against you in the fight, you must counteract that power by hard work." He said that the Progressive Conservative Party includes in its ranks "men of the highest calibre and that it is the party that has done the most for this great Canada of ours."

"Winning the election in New Brunswick," he said, "has given us a great responsibility, a grave responsibility has come upon us and we must see to it that we direct that responsibility for the good of the people of the province." Present also last evening was Mr. Lloyd Nickerson, president of the Y.P.C.'s for New Brunswick who conveyed greetings from the premier of his province and from the sister association in his province. "The success of the Y.P.C.'s here is due to the fact that they are fighting for an ideal," he said. He believed that the help given by his group to the senior group of the party had been responsible in terms of supporting the Communist Party.

Party Leader Speaks
 Mr. R. R. Bell congratulated the young men and women on the splendid meeting which they had held during the afternoon and paid tribute to the very business like way in which they had carried out their deliberations. He said it augurs well for the Progressive Conservative Party to see the young people talking such an interest. "The people in Prince Edward Island do not take enough interest in the government of this province nor as a matter of fact of the Government of the Dominion of Canada." He believed that the Y.P.C.'s would in time remedy that and stated that he would at all times welcome anyone at his office who would come in and offer any constructive ideas regarding the good government of this province. "We need the strongest government possible in this country," he concluded, "and so a great deal depends on who will win the next federal election. It means much to these Maritime Provinces in particular, these provinces which were in the forefront at the time of Confederation and which are now at the tail end, due to Liberal Party policies."

She outlined the C.C.F. attitude in its fight for a national health program for Canadians, and said in regard to this important program the C.C.F. are not idealistic but rather are objective and realistic. She said further, that it was her experience with women from P.E.I. that when they were entrusted to do a job they did it in a most competent and thorough manner. Mme. Casgrain stated emphatically that the political thinking of Canada had been changed through the direct existence of the C.C.F. She recalled earlier days in the House of Commons when her husband was speaker of the House when she frequently heard officials of the old parties condemn the C.C.F. as being too idealistic, and scoff whenever the C.C.F. advocated the implementation of old age pensions, family allowances, and unemployment insurance. She said that frequently other parties would vote down a C.C.F. motion which would, as if by magic, appear the next year or so, as part of the policies of the parties who had a short time previously condemned the same ideas when suggested by the C.C.F. In this way, she said, the C.C.F., although a minority group, have really formulated and been responsible for the enactment of most of the present day progressive legislation. Mrs. Casgrain said that a change from Liberal to Conservative government would really change nothing, except the men in administrative positions. She said this sort of a change was not the solution and would be very dangerous, because, in the resulting search for improvement there was a strong possibility that many might go to the ex-

Sees Planning Needed To Avert Economic Crisis
OUTLOOK, Sask., Oct. 29 — (CP) — M. J. Caldwell C. C. F. leader, said today that unless the West makes adequate preparation for the industrial re-awakening of Japan, Germany and other countries "we shall be confronted with the most severe commercial crisis since the early 1930's". Mr. Caldwell spoke at a C. C. F. nominating convention here for the Rosewood-Biggar constituency in an address prepared for delivery, he said: "If we do not have the foresight to plan the expansion of world commerce, but instead resort to restrictive practices in an effort to keep Japanese, German and other goods out of circulation, then we shall have a repetition of the economic chaos which has been responsible in the past for precipitating depressions and national conflicts." He said that two courses are necessary to meet the threat of increased competition from German and Japanese goods. "The first is to see that the increase in production is used to improve the living standards of the world's people only by this posive approach can new markets be created and world trade expanded. "The second objective must be to encourage in every way the development of economies which are complementary to one another." The Commonwealth Colombo Plan, the United States Point-Four Program and the United Nations Technical Assistance Program provided adequate administrative machinery to implement the first course. He said that Canada, instead of giving vigorous leadership in this field, "has been content to tag along at the apron strings" of the U. S. Canada's major contribution—$35,000,000 annually in Colombo Plan aid for the last two years—was "totally inadequate." The U. S. also fell far short of its responsibility but compared with Canada's gifts, those of the U. S. "have been models of imaginative generosity." To achieve the second objective, the free world must "endeavor by international economic co-operation, to encourage the production in each nation of that which each nation is best fitted to produce."

LONDON — (CP) — As a reserve transmitter in case of emergency, the British Broadcasting Corporation is setting up a medium power television installation at Alexandra Palace for the coronation next June. Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan in his address to the Y.P.C.'s said, "We see in you the great hope of the party in the coming election. Over a million young voters will cast their first ballot when the election comes around and we trust that they will vote right, and the right way to vote is for the Progressive Conservative Party." He expressed the hope that they would act as good ambassadors of the party at all times. Mr. W. Chester S. MacDonald, the newly elected president of the Y.P.C.'s for Prince Edward Island stated that the future of Canada lies in the youth of today. They must take an interest in politics. He went on "The tide is turning but the youth of today are in a state of indecision and I believe that this party can give them what they are looking for."

He asked for the support of all the delegates and workers in order to make the coming year a most successful one in the life of the party.

Thorson-Crue Wedding
 The marriage ceremony of Miss Leitha Ramona, daughter of Lt.-Col. and Mrs. Leigh R. Crue of Summerside and Leonard Carlyle Thorson, son of Mrs. Thorson and the late Mr. G. Thorson of Preceville, Saskatchewan, was solemnized by Rev. John Sheen of Elmsdale at "The Four Winds," the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Myrick, Tignish, on Saturday afternoon, October 26th at 2:30 o'clock. The couple was unattended. The bride was charming in her floor-length gown of traditional ivory satin with white chantilly lace panelling, lace bodice, and long sleeves tapering to a point over the wrists. A crown of pleated finger-tip veil of the same material. She carried an arm bouquet of Starlite roses and baby's breath. Following the double ring ceremony, the couple left on a short honeymoon trip through the Maritimes before leaving by plane on Tuesday evening for Winnipeg, Manitoba where Constable Thorson of the R. C. M. P. has been posted. En route they will visit in Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and Preceville, Saskatchewan. For travelling, Mrs. Thorson was attired in a dress of rust corduroy and sand top coat with brown accessories. Her corsage was Starlite roses. The bride, who is a graduate nurse of Montreal General Hospital, was tendered a miscellaneous shower by the staff, also Mrs. W. E. Jenkins and Miss Reta MacLennan were joint hostesses at the former's home in Summerside when many lovely gifts were received. A United Nations estimate puts the population of North America at 213,000,000; South America 107,000,000.
